POINTS OF EXCELLENCE IN THE NEW CROWN OIL STOVE.

It is nickel-plated. All cast-iron. No heat to escape by radiation, as in sheet iron stoves.
It has cone caps to cover the tubes when not in use, to prevent evaporation. A roller wick raiser is used, whereby the wick must move perfectly straight and even. Has side damper in the top to throw all the heat to one side of the stove if desired. A large tank in Nos. 14 and 15, holding nearly two gallons of oil. Has a back shelf for keeping dishes hot. Covers are eight inch, same as in No. 8 Cook stove. Partition Plates in the 13, 14 and 15, so that one or more lights can be used if required. It has also a new device by which the heat is carried away from the oil tank.

A Severe Fire Test.

A column of flame eight feet high burning for one hour and forty minutes under a ceiling lathed with the New Jersey Patent Stiffened Wire Lathing.

On July 15th Messrs. C. W. & H. W. Middleton of this city, agents for the sale of the New Jersey Wire Cloth Company's Patent Stiffened Wire Lathing, had constructed on the grounds of the Barr Pumping Engine Works at Germantown Junction, a brick building fifteen feet long and ten feet wide, divided by a solid brick partition into two separate rooms, each room having a separate doorway, and constructed the same in every particular with one exception; the South room was lathed and plastered the old way—with wood laths—while the North room had been lathed with the Patent Stiffened Wire Lathing. The purpose for which this building had been constructed, was to demonstrate the astonishing fire preventive qualities of the wire lathing, compared with the old fashioned wood lathing. The plastering was alike in every respect in both rooms, the mortar having been prepared and put on by J. W. & C. H. Reeves, of this city. An inspection of the structure, previous to the fire, clearly demonstrated the mechanical superiority of the wire lathing for building purposes, over its competitor, outside of its almost invulnerable qualities in repelling fire. Upon looking at the upper or top side of the plaster from the roof, it was at once discovered that the process of keying was entirely different; for while the wood lath had the plaster well and thoroughly keyed to it, the keys failed to convey that idea of durability which its wire rival expressed; the latter seemingly consisted of a mass of woven wires and plaster so thoroughly combined and impacted that it gave the idea of a well laid artificial stone pavement instead of what it was intended to represent. At five minutes past three o'clock on the afternoon of July 25th the fires were simultaneously started in each room; the fuel used was the same in each case and consisted of shavings and light pine timber, sawed and split for the purpose. In just three minutes the plaster on the wood lathing began to fall, in five minutes the flames burst through the roof and in twenty minutes the roof itself was a total wreck. In the compartment lathed with the stiffened wire, new fuel was added from time to time, without any apparent effect either upon the plaster or lathing. The fire was intensely hot and the sides of the structure began to crack and bulge, but at a quarter to five o'clock when the spectators left the scene, the fire was still burning, and a rigid examination of the roof failed to disclose the slightest fracture in the plaster. The timbers were not charred, nor was any discoloration to be seen except one spot about an inch in length, and yet the plaster and wire were so hot that drops of water were immediately converted into steam when thrown upon them. Thus the superior fire preventive, and non conducting qualities of wire lathing were demonstrated beyond question to an assemblage of over two hundred architects, builders and newspaper men. Comment from us is not necessary, our duty being merely to chronicle facts, which can be verified by any of those who witnessed the exhibition. Yet we cannot refrain from wondering at the stupidity of fire laws that permit the old time lathing to be used, in the face of the fact that even at this early day the fire losses in the United States for 1888, are already estimated at over one hundred and fifty million dollars.

A Railroad Catechism.

Scribner's Magazine, which is now publishing the most admirable series of illustrated articles descriptive of railroads in general that have ever appeared in print, issues on a neat card twenty questions and their answers as follows:

1. How many miles of railway in the United States? A. 150,000 miles; about half the mileage of the world.
2. How much have they cost? A. $9,000,000,000.
3. How many people are employed by them? A. More than 1,000,000.
4. What is the fastest time made by a train? A. 92 miles in 93 minutes; one mile being made in 46 seconds, on the Phila. and Reading R. R.
5. What is the cost of a high class eight-wheel passenger locomotive? A. About $8,500.
6. What is the longest mileage operated by a single system? A. Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe system, about 8,000 miles.

AMONG the most lofty artificial structures extant the Washington monument ranks first, its height being 555 feet and the tower of the Philadelphia City Hall is 535 feet high or 15 feet higher than the Egyptian pyramids. Church spires in this country are not remarkable for their height, but the twin spires of St. Patrick's Cathedral when completed will have an altitude of 330 feet, overtopping Trinity 44 feet and the statue of Liberty exactly one foot. The highest office building in New York is the Washington, Broadway, the apex of whose iron tower is 235 feet, while the flag floats at an elevation of 315 feet above the pavement.—Iron Age.

Proprietor of Phila. "Record."

PHILADELPHIA, MONDAY, JULY 30, 1888.

ON August 1st, the office of this journal will be removed to 17 North Tenth street, above Market street.

As a sample of unmitigated imbecility and councilmanic stultification we cite the case of the council of Wrightsville, York Co., Pa. It advertised for proposals to erect a fire engine house, Messrs. Bachman & Forey of Columbia, Pa., who bid $5,700 were the lowest by several hundred dollars. By a tie vote council refused to accept the bid and have determined to hold a special election to settle the question of awarding the contract by a vote of the people. We would earnestly recommend Bachman & Forey to test the legality of the question, for its high time that this monkeying with business men was stopped suddenly.

THE general complaint in real estate circles is that every thing is in a very slow and dull state. The feeling among architects is that the season, which has not come up to their expectations is about over, a number are taking advantage of this slack business and are enjoying themselves at the various resorts. While the work of this year has not been so satisfactory as was anticipated, yet our city is far ahead of either New York or Boston, and it has been stated to us by a competent authority that less than a half a dozen large buildings have been erected in the latter city since August of last year. While we cannot expect always to have a season like that of '87, it is only fair to presume that Philadelphia, as far as her building interests are concerned, will continue in her present position as leader in the march of a great nation's improvement.

A NEW skin game has been inaugurated by the Treasury Department at Washington, D. C. We trust that Supervising Architect Will A. Freret, is in no way responsible for it. Builders and contractors who desire to bid upon public work will be required hereafter in order to obtain plans and specifications, to send a Post Office money order for a stipulated amount drawn to the order of the Treasurer of the United States. This too in the face of the fact that the government printing office costs the people of the country hundreds of thousands of dollars yearly.

SHOWERS' Legal Directory and Merchants' Guide for 1888, contains a practical digest of the collection laws of the States and Territories of the United States and Canada, with legal forms adapted to each; with instructions for taking depositions &c. It is invaluable to the eastern merchant because he is able to see at a glance just what his status is as to his delinquent debtors, besides which he is able, in case he concludes to sue out his claim, to make selection of a reputable and trustworthy attorney, residing in the town or vicinity of the debtor, as the book gives the names of over 6000 responsible attorneys in as many towns. It also contains a list of Banks and Bankers with name of Bank, Cashier and paid up capital. It has been carefully compiled and is a useful and reliable acquisition to the counting room. It is published by the National Law & Collection Association, northeast corner Fifth and Walnut streets.

THE exhibition recently given in this city, by the New Jersey Wire Cloth Company, demonstrating the fire preventive qualities of wire lathing, practically places the responsibility for the yearly heavy fire losses in this country on our system of building inspection. As long as old methods, methods that were adopted because there were none better at the time of their adoption, are allowed to be continued in the face of the most conclusive testimony that they are largely and in many instances solely responsible for a very large percentage of our fires, there can be no hope of any considerable reduction of our yearly fire loss. The question is a serious one not only from a financial standpoint but because of the apathy and indifference of architects, builders, underwriters and owners, who while deploring the serious consequences of fire, still adhere to old ways because of the want of rigid laws to define in detail these minor matters appertaining to the construction of a building. There is no dodging the question for it enters into the safety and prosperity of every man woman and child in the whole country. Our advances are tending to beauty, size and grandure, but in many respects, and more particularly in our dwellings, safety against fire seems to be almost entirely ignored.

PITMAN GROVE CAMP MEETING.

PITMAN GROVE, Gloucester Co., N. J., is rapidly developing as a summer resort into quite a town. Along the line of the West Jersey Railroad and also along the turnpike outside of the camp meeting grounds, a number of new cottages are in course of erection and many more are contemplated, as the sale of building lots this year has already been quite heavy. Inside the limits, improvements are by no means neglected for they seem to be going on all over the grounds. Cottage owners and more particularly those whose families summer within the sacred precincts and their vicinity, express both taste and pride in both the external and internal fittings of their cottages. Of course the place inside and outside of the camp grounds is popular only with the respectable order loving people—not necessarily religious—who prefer the quiet restful influences of country life in summer with the assurance besides protection, and privacy, of that neighborly sentiment or sympathy which is one of the cardinal virtues of the Methodist church. On Wednesday next, camp meeting commences at the Grove, and a greater attendance than that of previous years is expected. The gathering is growing heavier yearly and to no one is the society indebted for its increasing popularity, more than to Judge James M. Cassidy of Camden.

The Energy of a Thunder-storm

In a lecture on "Protection of Buildings from Lightning," published in the Journal of the Society of Arts, Prof. Oliver J. Lodge says, speaking of thunder-storm energy: "Given the whole area of cloud facing the earth, and its height when on the point of discharging at every point, and you have the number of cubic miles of strained dielectric, and an approximation to the energy of the storm at the rate of 70,000,000 foot tons per cubic mile."

Summary of Last Issue.

The number of permits reported in our issue of July 16th, was 94, representing 212 improvements. The transfers of property numbered 261, amounting to $1,271,900 of which $1,075,775.50 was the cash consideration, and $126,125 the mortgage consideration a further charge of $7,566 is to be added for ground rents, which on a basis of six per cent. amounts to $126,100. The sales at auction aggregating $17,500, with no incumbrance. The Real Estate Exchange only holding sale.

Deafening Floors.

Various expedients have been used and suggestions given for "deafening" floors, as it is called. We have all heard, says the Building News, of mortar mixed with chopped hay or straw—a kind of pugging laid on rough boards, carried by fillets fixed to the sides of the joists. This sort of pugging has stood well for centuries, and is found to answer well as a deafening material. Among other substances used are dry lime rubbish, sand, lime, hair and dry ashes, sawdust, and even cockle shells and cork chipping have been found in the floors of old houses. Any of these materials in layers of 1½ to 2 inches will suffice to deaden sound. Recent suggestions have been thrown out in our journal by correspondents. One of these is to use thick felt laid below the floor boards. A French journal throws out another suggestion, attributed to General Loyre, who proposes, instead of loading the floor with plaster, to fill in the space between the boarding and plasterine of the ceiling with shavings which have been rendered incombustible by dipping them in a tub of thick whitewash. As it is known that soft substances inclosing air spaces form an excellent non-conducting material to sound, it is thought that the shavings so treated will be found of great service, and it is said they are so incombustible as to add considerably to the fire-resisting properties of the building. Where it is desired to disinfect the space between the floor and ceiling the shavings may be saturated with chloride of zinc, or the latter may be added to the lime wash. The shavings have at least the merit of being light, which some of the materials we have named are not, and if they can be rendered non-combustible—a very essential condition—we do not doubt but that this kind of deafening, so cheap and easily procured, will be largely used. Slag wool made in the form of tiles or bricks is a good material to prevent the transmission of sound, and any fibrous material formed into cellular slabs answers the purpose.

Lot-Buyers.

Architects and others had better correspond with the following lot buyers, as many of them contemplate building.

David Aaron of Chester, lot in Chester, $120.

William Calhoun of Ridley, nine lots at Norwood, $1400.

Recent Decisions

IN RELATION TO MATTERS CONCERNING REAL ESTATE AND COMMERCIAL LAW.
Decided by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania.

CONTRACT TO SELL LAND.—In an executory contract for the sale of land the absence of words of inheritance will not prevent the passing of a fee simple in equity, where it appears to have been the intention of the contract to convey a fee.

DEED.—Where a deed after conveying certain land containing the following clause: "Except a small part which lies upon the west or tract line * * * which is under lease * * * which land and privilege is reserved until the expiration of said lease," it was under the circumstances, immaterial whether the clause be construed a reservation or an exception—if the former, their being no words of inheritance, the land was reserved during the lifetime of the grantor only; if the latter, it was only until the expiration of the term of the lease. Green's Appeal, McCreasy's Estate, May 7, 1888.

DEVISE.—A devise of land to one, his heirs and assigns forever, "he or they paying thereout the sum of $3,000 without interest, in the following payments, viz: $500, each and every year to my executor—proper deeds and possession to be given to him as soon as he attains the age of twenty-one years," taking effect when the devisee is sixteen years old, does not put upon him the duty to begin making payments until he is twenty-one years old.

The same rule applies to a devise to one who is of full age, deeds and possession to be given when another person attains his majority. Rhoad's Appeal, April 2, 1888.

MECHANICS' LIEN.—A Mechanics' lien for materials furnished by sub-contractor cannot be efiled when only items charged as furnished within six months are only soap stone hearths, to supply the place of defective hearths of similar size previously furnished, and a small portable stove which is in no sense any part of the building, but as much adapted for use in one place as in another. Woman's Homeopathic Assn. of Pa. v. Harrison, April 16, 1888.

An instrument in writing "I do hereby agree that I shall have the land which he is in possession of now, for the labor he done for me over age, and this shall be his receipt for all my rights and claims against the land"—dated, signed and delivered—is a receipt for the purchase money and an executory contract for the sale of the land in fee.

The description of the land as that "which he is in possession of now" is sufficient to satisfy the requirements of the Statute of Frauds. Phillips v. Swank, April 23, 1888.

To entitle a plaintiff to specific performance of a parol contract for the sale of land he must show a contract complete in its terms and such partial performance by the parties, including a taking possession in pursuance of the contract, as to make it unjust and inequitable to rescind it. Rens v. Moss, April 23, 1888.

DOVER.—Upon proceedings in partition, land of a decedent was sold subject to a dower charge in favor of his widow. Subsequently the widow purchased the land and afterwards made an assignment for the benefit of creditors. The assignee conveyed the land to a purchaser, their deed containing the clause "subject to the dower of * * * the widow, to remain charged upon the premises." Held, that the widow's interest was charged upon the land in the hands of the purchaser from her assignees.

In the above case, the land being sold under a mortgage executed by the purchaser, arrearages of interest due the widow were properly paid out of the proceeds.

When the first lien after a fixed charge on land is devised by a sheriff's sale, the interest due on the fixed charge at the time of the sale is payable out of the proceeds. Clase's Appeal, April 30, 1888.

All above cases can be found in 11 Cent. Rep.

F. R. SHATTUCK, Attorney-at-Law,
58 South Third street.

Miscellaneous.

At St. Paul, Minnesota, the contract has been let for the Peoples Church, it will be 102x103 feet and will cost with lot $90,000.

The Cecil County, Maryland, school commissioners—headquarters at Elkland, same county—will want school furniture for six new school houses, contracts for which have been let.

At Baltimore, Md., permits have been granted for an M. E. Stone Church, to be erected corner of Baltimore and Washington streets. Also to St. Paul's Roman Catholic Church, for a three story brick building on Caroline street.

At Washington, D. C., permits have been granted to J. S. Cooper, for a brick dwelling at 3019 Stoddard street, to cost $6,500—Also to Thomas Martin, for three brick dwellings at 828-30-32 Four and Half street, southwest, to cost $3,800.

At St. Louis, Mo., the school board will erect a brick school house at Goodfellow and Maple avenues, to cost $15,000. B. Stocke, builder. Also at Chaining and School avenues, a brick school house to cost $19,000. B. Stocke, builder. Also on Caggett avenue, a frame school house to cost $6,000. Mr. J. Britt, builder.

Architects' Notes.

Wilson Eyre, Jr., and W. E. Jackson have been removed to 927 Chestnut street.

Roberts & Son of Asbury Park, N. J., have completed the plans for the Asbury Park Nat. Bank. Bids are to be in by the 31st of July.

J. H. Windrem, 132 south Third street, on new buildings on piers Nos. 1 and 2 North Wharves. Also a large bank and office building in Washington, D. C.

Addison Hutton has furnished the plans for the alteration and addition of Edward T. Steel's house at 1334 Walnut street. Henry Taylor has the contract.

What the "Building" has to say of the book just published, entitled, "Important to all Interested in Good Roofs."

MESSRS. MERCHANT & Co. have just issued the third edition of a little pamphlet entitled "Important to all Interested in Good Roofs." Its purpose is to give facts as to the manufacture and relative values of roofing plates, and about the laying of a good roof. The facts given in this little book are well worth the careful attention of architects and builders, and deserve careful perusal. As it is well known to most of our readers, Messrs. Merchant & Co. have devoted a great deal of thought and care to the improvement of their brands of roofing tins, and have spent during the last five years a large amount of money in advertising these goods and bringing them before the building public. They have shown great energy and perseverance in pushing their business, but to our minds it has been based on grounds of merit, rather than personal favor, evidently accepting the old motto, "Be sure you are right, then go ahead."

Recent Decisions

IN RELATION TO MATTERS CONCERNING REAL ESTATE AND COMMERCIAL LAW.

Decided by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania.

DEVISE.—A Devise, of land to one, his heirs and assigns forever "he or they paying thereout the sum of $3,000 without interest, in the following payments, viz : $500 each and every year to my executor—proper deeds and possession to be given to him as soon as he attains the age of twenty-one years," taking effect when the devisee is sixteen years old, does not put upon him the duty to begin making payments until he is twenty-one years old.

The same rule applies to a devise to one who is of full age, deeds and possession to be given when another person attains his majority.

Rhods v. Heffner, April 2 1888.
DOWER.—Upon proceedings in partition land of a decedent was sold subject to a dower charge in favor of his widow. Subsequently the widow purchased the land, and afterwards made an assignment for the benefit of creditors.

The assignees conveyed the land to a purchaser, their deed containing the clause "subject to the dower of * * * the widow * * * to remain charged upon the premises.

Held that the widow's dower interest was charged upon the land in the hands of the purchaser from her assignees.

In the above case the land being sold under a mortgage executed by the purchaser, arrearages of interest due the widow were properly paid out of the proceeds. When the first lien after a fixed charge on land is devested by a sheriff's sale, the interest due on the fixed charge at the time of the sale is payable out of the proceeds. Close's Appeal, April 30, 1888.

LANDLORD AND TENANT.—Where a building with a brick floor was let for a roller skating rink, with a covenant in the lease that all improvements "shall be the property of the lessor" it was held, that a wooden floor laid by the lessee was an improvement within the meaning of the covenant, and was not subject to execution upon a judgment against the lessee. Harris v. Kelly, April 23, 1888.

All above cases can be found in 12 Cent. Rep. F. R. SHATTUCK, Attorney-at-Law, 50 South Third street.

A VIENNA engineer has taken out a patent for a new smoke-abating process. By means of electricity he proposes to condense the solid part of the smoke as it arises from the coal, the carbon thus formed falling back into the furnace.

PHILADELPHIA, MONDAY, AUG. 6, 1888.

THE City of Liverpool, Eng., is to increase its water supply, the plans involve the removal of an entire village in order to obtain a suitable site for a reservoir which is to be four and a half miles long and over half a mile wide and eighty feet deep. Three lines of pipe each sixty-eight miles long will be required, $15,000,000 will be expended on the acqueduct alone.

THE American agents for the sale of Gilbertson's old method roofing plates Messrs. Merchant & Co., of this city seem to be having a peck of trouble. The firm owes and acknowledge that it owes $678.87. It is willing to pay, wants to pay, but cannot safely pay as there are several claimants. It seems that during last October Kidder, Peabody & Co., of Boston and Baring Brothers & Co., of London obtained a foreign attachment against E. S. Wheeler & Co., of New York, with Merchant & Co., as garnishees. The security was placed at $40,000. S. E. Merwyn assignee of E. S. Wheeler & Co., intervened and claimed the debt. In order to escape litigation Messrs. Merchant & Co., have filed a bill in equity in the Court of Common Pleas and ask for permission to pay the money into Court as they honestly owe it to Wheeler & Co., but desire to take no part in a legal fight for the spoils.

THE six months of the year 1888 according to Dun & Co., give us 5,189 business failures in the United States showing an increase of 277 failures over the same period of 1887. In liabilities for 1888 $68,114,159 are reported, an increase of $12,976,067 over the liabilities involved in the failures of the first half of 1887. We cannot recognise anything very alarming in the reputed increases shown by the above figures.

The whole of 1887 was a year of unprecedented building activity and it is only reasonable to suppose that a large part of the increase of failures in 1888 is the result of speculative building in 1887. The building boom of 1887 extended over the whole country and in many instances—Southern California in particular—prices for land reached such fancy figures that when the bottom fell out of that part of the boom, the twelve or thirteen millions of dollars shown by the above figures were a mere bagatelle in the settlement. We think this reasoning conclusive and we believe the country to be in as good condition as it was in 1887. To be sure business has suffered this year from political causes, and it would be more than folly to suppose that tariff agitation would not also inflict serious injury, but these questions settled and the latter on any decently reasonable basis we believe that prosperous times are ahead and that no man need hesitate to venture into legitimate enterprise.

WHAT the outcome of the water question is to be, no prophet or pretended prophet is able to disclose. That the people of this city are paying a heavy tribute to death and disease through the agency of impure drinking water drawn from both rivers there can be no question. Aggravated cases of intestinal and stomach trouble are not only plenty, but typhoid fever is entirely to prevalent too afford that sense of comfort and security that every resident has a right to enjoy. To present a remedy means an entire change of base or in other words purer and better water must be obtained. The cost may be great and considerable interest bearing debt may have to be assumed, but such a debt is of little account when the lives of innocent and helpless people are involved. It is certainly far better to agitate the question of purer drinking water now and settle upon some definite course of action and act promptly, than to prolong the settlement until public sentiment demands vigorous and immediate action. It is conclusively settled that there is no hope of improving our present system. Filtration would help to be sure, but sooner or later new water courses remote from thickly settled cities will have to be adopted, no matter how great the expense. The human body will thrive under coarse and even a stinted supply of food, but there is no escape from disease and death to persons compelled to drink water laden with typhoid germs, chlorine, dye stuff and the sewage from thousands of people.

If a better water system is needed, the means to obtain it should be considered at the earliest possible moment. It will take years to construct suitable works and the sooner Philadelphia is rid of its incubus of bad water, with its sequence of typhoid and similar diseases, the better it will be for all concerned.

COLLIER'S ONCE A WEEK is a handsomely and profusely illustrated paper of twenty pages, containing two serials, several complete stories, special articles on society matters, political articles by the best writers in both the leading parties, amusements, Wall street financial "bubbles," fashions, and departments devoted to the education and culture of young men and young women, and for the edification of the family. Not a line is permitted in its columns that is not absolutely pure. It is mailed to subscribers at 25 cents per month, payable to the collector, who will call at the subscriber's address, or $2.70 per year in advance. Publication office, No. 104 Attorney street, New York.

Shannon & Co's New Catalogue.

J. Jacob Shannon & Co's new catalogue of Builders' Hardware, which has just been issued under date of July 1888, is a work which must commend itself to every intelligent architect, builder and contractor who desires to keep pace with the spirit of the times, in a sense involving the best mechanical efforts of the brightest genius of the hardware manufacturing trade in its efforts to combine beauty and utility in the production of builders' hardware. If the architects and builders of the 18th century could step from their graves and scan the 292 pages of Shannon & Co's new catalogue they would be amazed at the range and diversity of what is now regarded as a full line. The interest in a catalogue presenting so much as does this one, arises from its power of conveying to the mind an idea of what the article is like, for the illustrations are so perfect and have been adjusted to such a scale that a perusal of the book is the next thing to handling the articles themselves. From another standpoint the work must prove invaluable to the buyers of building hardware; as it is suggestive in the broadest sense, besides giving much that you do not know as to new things, new methods and improvements. The book has been produced for gratuitous distribution and will certainly prove a valuable acquisition to both shop and office. We might add that numbers and prices are clearly given which in connection with the illustrations enables a builder on Greenland's icy mountains to order as intelligently as the builder next door to Shannon & Co's store, 1744 Market street.

Recent Decisions

IN RELATION TO MATTERS CONCERNING REAL ESTATE AND COMMERCIAL LAW.

Decided by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania.

MECHANICS LIENS.—A mechanics lien for material furnished by a sub-contractor cannot be filed when the only items charged as furnished within six months are soapstone hearths to supply the place of defective hearths of similar size previously furnished, and a small portable stove, which is in no sense any part of the building, but as much adapted for use in one place as in another. Association v. Harrison, April 16, 1888.

JUDGMENTS.—There on the payment of the proceeds of a sale of a debtor's real estate by the sheriff, into Court for distribution it appeared that a surety for the debtor had, to protect himself, paid a judgment against the debtor, which was a lien on the property sold, and had become the equitable owner of such judgment under an agreement between him and the debtor requiring the performance of mutual and interdependent conditions, one of which was that the debtor should pay a certain sum on a subsequent judgment lien on which said surety was also liable, and the debtor had failed to perform such condition, held, that such failure on the part of the debtor relieved the surety in equity from his satisfaction of the prior judgment and entitled such judgment to retain its priority as against a subsequent lien held by a third party, and to have applied on it, (at least to the extent of the said sum the debtor had agreed to pay) the money deposited in Court. McCormick v. Allen, May 14, 1888.

NOTES.—An endorsee of a promissory note cannot be deprived of the rights of a bona fide holder for value, by the mere fact that the note was an accommodation transferred to him for the purpose of avoiding that defense and for less than full value, if he gave value for the note and had no knowledge of its character or the purpose for which it was transferred. Forepaugh v. Baker, April 9, 1888.

VENDOR AND PURCHASER.—In an action by the vendor against the purchaser, for the purchase money of land, it is a good defense that the vendor agreed to convey a marketable title and has not done so.

This rule applies where the vendor obtains the land under a contract of exchange with a third person who thereby undertakes to make title directly to the purchaser. Freed v. Richey, May 21, 1888.

All above cases can be found in 12 Cent. Rep. F. R. SHATTUCK, Attorney-at-Law, 50 South Third street.

Mechanical News.

A newly-patented pavements is said to have been suggested by the surface of an elephant's tooth, which consist of intermingled layers of hard and soft material, so that the process of wearing always produces a series of ridges upon the surface. The system of paving is the idea of Mr. Ranyard, the English astronomer, and comprises the use of blocks having alternate hard and soft layers, such as Portland cement and a mixture of sand and cement, which are upon edge, so that the edge of these laminæ from a wearing surface. The blocks are made four inches high, and may be worn to less than an inch without becoming smooth, like granite blocks.

A NOVEL FIRE LADDER.

An invention is before the fire department which will make a big change in the system. It is an automatic ladder that may be made to climb from the ground to the roof of the tallest building in New York. John McLeod Murphy, the assistant foreman of Engine Company No. 7, the inventor, has already made several appliances now in the department. The ladder consists of two iron poles made to slide through a kind of platform or carriage. All the parts of the ladder, including the ropes by which it is operated, are of iron or steel. The entire weight of the machine is but 200 pounds, and may be managed by four men.

To operate the machine, the hooks are inserted into the windows above. The men attending to it need not leave the ground. By pulling on a few ropes the ladder will climb upward or downward and smash into windows, carrying away sashes if they bar its way. The hooks will mechanically fasten themselves inside, but can be detached at will from the ground.

In addition to this the machine will carry up a line of hose with the nozzle so fixed that it can be made to throw the water in any direction, either against the ceiling, the side or rear walls or the floor of the highest room in a building. A ladder is also carried up, so that there is at all times a means of communication with the ground.

The apparatus works somewhat as follows: The two hooks being inserted in a window, the carriage or platform is pulled up by ropes working in connection with the poles. The platform being raised close to the top of the poles, one of the hooks is withdrawn and the pole hauled up until the hook is opposite the window on the next floor.

By pulling on a rope a wheel at the top of the pole is made to revolve and the hook is sent with great force through the window, shutters and sashes, etc. The other pole is manipulated in the same way and the platform again drawn up. Descent is accomplished by reversing the operation.

Several prominent men, including the chief of the fire department of Montreal, have seen the model at work and pronounce it a success. Chief Gicquel thinks it will prove a valuable aid in fighting fires.

A public exhibition of the machine is to be given before the fire commissioners at an early day.—New York Telegram.

PHILADELPHIA, MONDAY, AUG. 13, 1888.

PITTSBURGERS claim that 300 new buildings will be erected in their city this year and the cost is estimated at $8,000,000, this is an average of $2,666.66 each.

THE stories told by the New York workwomen in their testimony given before the congressional Immigration Investigating Committee are sorrowful in the extreme. It is hardly possible to believe that such extortion and suffering could have been inflicted upon honest work people in America. The treatment these working women have received must create grave doubts as to the truthfulness of the much vaunted dignity which surrounds American labor. Political purposes may be served by frequent reference to the dignity of labor in this country, but those who desire to see these evils corrected which have been proven beyond a doubt to exist, prefer to meet the question, rid of its political bearings, in sober earnestness. At all events a disposition to make paupers of American work people and a decided preference for the labor of imported paupers exists right here among American manufacturers.

THE project to erect an Opera House at Camden, N. J., is about to be abandoned for the want of sufficient interest among the Camdenites to justify the undertaking. The Company to erect the building was organized by John H. Fort, Esq. About $11,000 having been subscribed but only about $300 of this amount has been paid in. No. 313 Market street was purchased as an entrance to the building which was also intended to cover Nos 311 and 315 Market street. The mortgage on the property purchased has been foreclosed and it is expected that Mr. Fort offered at one time to furnish the required $30,000 if the Board of Directors would enforce the collection of the money subscribed. He is the proprietor of the Evening Telegram of Camden, and is full of enterprise and feels greatly chagrined at this failure of his pet scheme to infuse a little energy and progress into that fossilized community.

HEREAFTER iron pipe must be used in connecting house pipes with street sewers, but unless the joints are screwed together there will be very little if any improvement over the terra cotta pipes. In a matter so important, little room should be left for bad work on the part of plumbers, calked joints are of no account unless the work is well done and the joint made gas proof. The trouble is some builders want work done for as near nothing as possible, and the plumber who gets the job must skin some part of the work or lose money. Detection of skinned work is next to impossible for it is generally out of sight. Death reaps a harvest among the unfortunate occupants, but who cares?, the operation was a paying one and that settles it.

A COMMISSION appointed by Governor Beaver, under an act providing for the location and erection of six Miners Hospitals in the Bituminous and Semi-Bituminous sections of Pennsylvania, is experiencing considerable difficulty from the fact that at the points where the hospitals should be located, the citizens are backward about chipping in to a fund for the purchase of the required site, while at other points liberal offers have been made and sites can be had for the asking. The Commission seems to be on a grubbing tour in the interest of humanity, as the State will erect the hospitals if some one will furnish the ground. What an extreme state of charitable exaltation our legislature must have enjoyed when they passed the bill. The great state of Pennsylvania with its wonderful mining interests and a commission of dignified gentlemen as its representatives hawking out hospitals to the highest bidder, is a chapter in the history of the Keystone State of which no man need feel proud.

IF His Honor the Mayor will spare the time to visit the terminal of the Laurel street sewer on the Delaware river and enjoy a few whiffs of the delectable aroma arising from the dead and decaying carcases of small animals, the emptyings from privy vaults, stables and other lasting evidences of our advanced state of civilization, he might possibly conclude that such a condition of affairs was not altogether in keeping with what the people of this city have a right to expect from a public health administration.

Last summer this journal devoted considerable space to the beastly condition of the slip wherein the Laurel street sewers empties its horrid stuff, but of course the death of a few hundred people more or less does not interest those whom it ought to most interest, and king typhoid has full sway.

Summary of Last Issue.

The number of permits reported in our issue of August 6th was 97, representing 302 improvements. The transfers of property numbered 261 amounting to $1,321,751.53, of which $1141,451.53 was the cash consideration and $180,300 the mortgage consideration; a further charge of $8193 is to be added for ground rents which on a six per cent basis amounts to $136,550. None of the auction houses held sales.

On Wednesday last, the city solicitor presented to the county controller an estimate of the money needed by the various departments for the year 1889. These estimates will be presented to councils at their first meeting in September,

The following editorial from one of our exchanges "The Architecture Era," of Brooklyn, voices our sentiments so exactly that we give it in its entirety. Every city in the Union should be interested in a subject so inimical to the health and prosperity of its inhabitants. To Philadelphia, in view of her impure drinking water, and the floating garbage at some of her wharves, the subject is particularly applicable at this time:

DR. LITTLE said, in addressing the W. N. Y. S. A. of Architects, that "Pericles had no such home as any modern statesman would have; such as Mr. Gladstone has. Sophocles had no such home as Mr. Tennyson has. Their public buildings were magnificent, but their homes were poor places. In our modern life our home is our glory and our public building have ceased to be our glory; and it seems to me that the architect of the future will have to remember that his glory will consist in the splendor and beauty and adaptation of the home that he makes."

This is emphatically an age of homes, and America is above all other countries a nation of homes. This is well, and is the reason of our success, the secret of our power. But he who looks beneath the surface may detect, if he will, an element of danger in this intense devotion to the home which threatens the future well being and prosperity of the country at large. The evil which thus menaces our peace is to be found in the selfishness of the individual who devotes all his energies, all his labors, all his wealth to the building, embellishment, and maintenance of his home to the utter exclusion of all interest in the public welfare. It is this lack of public spirit, this inability of the private citizen to sink his own personal aims and selfish ambitions in a generous desire and personal effort for the good of the community in which he lives, which prevents many a city and town from having the public improvements and advantages it might otherwise enjoy.

We have at least one such city in mind, where a few large hearted citizens have for years been laboring, thus far with indifferent success, to obtain for their city an ample supply of pure water. This is not a useless luxury, but an imperative need, for should a large conflagration break out almost anywhere within the corporation the supply of water would be found totally inadequate to subdue the flames; while as to quality of the water now in use it is scarcely fit for bathing purposes, and utterly unfit for drinking or culinary uses. Yet the people for whom this great boon is intended sit dumbly down in their pleasant homes and will not lift a finger, nor lay aside a single prejudice in favor of their own petty schemes, for the furtherance of this most worthy enterprise. These people prefer rather to grumble at the filthiness and insufficiency of the present supply.

A proper care for, and an interest in the general good, would soon result in the erection in every city and every large community, or group of villages a crematory for the disposal of garbage. This method offers the only true and satisfactory solution of the oft repeated problem, "What shall be done with the waste of our great cities?" Yet, although the fact has been fully demonstrated in London and other European cities, it is only here and there that the United States have adopted this admirable plan for the effectual consumption of their refuse. The great majority still go on sowing the seeds of epidemic diseases in their abominable and pestilential dumping grounds, and ere long nothing can prevent their reaping a large harvest in the shape of some frightful scourge which shall make desolate many hearts and homes.

How much better it would be to use, before too late, that "ounce of prevention" which is worth many pounds of "cure."

How to Estimate Brickwork.

Ordinary bricks are about eight inches in length, and with the mortar joints about half that in width, so that each brick on the flat will give a horizontal surface of about thirty-two square inches, or 4½ bricks will cover a square foot. As ordinarily laid there are nine courses to every twenty-four inches, or 4½ to the foot. Four and a half courses with 4½ bricks to the course gives 20¼ bricks to the cubic foot. Waste, cutting and closer joints will easily require an allowance of twenty-one bricks per cubic foot, which will be found a very convenient figure for estimating the number of bricks required for a wall of a given size and thickness, as it thus becomes unnecessary to find the cubic contents of the wall, but merely to multiply its face area or the product of its length and height in feet by seven fourths of its thickness in inches which, as the thickness is always some multiple of four inches, is a very simple process.—Sanitary Engineer.

PHILADELPHIA, MONDAY, AUG. 20, 1888.

ACCORDING to Cardinal Manning, out of the 4,000,000 of people in London, there are at least 2,000,000 who have never placed their feet in a house of christian worship.

THE Superintendent of the new Glass Works at Uniontown, Pa., says that natural gas gave as much heat in three minutes as coal would have given in three days, on this basis it is no wonder that our heavy manufacturing interests are hunting for sites in the gas regions.

A FAIRY story is going the rounds of the newspapers to the effect that a Pittsburg Architect is exhibiting plans for an office building to be erected at Minneapolis, Minn., twenty-eight stories or 350 feet high, 80 feet square and to contain 728 rooms.

THE American Architect is responsible for the statement that the old chamber of Commerce building, Chicago, is undergoing a very original and peculiar transformation. The building is three stories high, it is being raised by 3000 jackscrews, the foundation is to be replaced by another, capable of supporting seven additional stories, besides which the third floor which has heretofore been used for hall purposes is to be divided by horizontal floors into two additional stories, making of it when completed a twelve story building. Mr. Frederick Bauman is the architect in charge.

THE general usefulness of corporations such as the Master Builder's Exchange and the Real Estate Exchange of this city, can hardly be estimated by those not identified with these interests. Years ago when business was not a science but was regarded as a means of obtaining a living only, institutions of this nature were perhaps unnecessary, but in these days of great things and still greater possibilities when millions are as easily obtained for investment as the hundreds of fifty years ago, the collective mental power and influence of the best business men with advanced ideas of large communities are centralized, in these institutions to the great advantage of the whole country. The influence of these institutions can be extended throughout our entire system of government, for both municipal State and National legislation can be influenced by them for the benefit of all. There already exists a National Master Builder's Exchange and we trust ere long to be able to report that the preparatory steps have been taken for the formation of a National Real Estate Exchange and the reasons for such an institution must be apparent to every broad minded real estate man in the country.

AND now there is talk of a Builders Exchange at Washington, D. C., the necessity for such an institution at the National capital is self evident, its building interests are not only great but the magnificence of its buildings and the tendency towards even more magnificent structures places Washington in importance second to no city in the United States. It is the centre of attraction to the monied men of the country with political aspirations who when honored with preferment, almost immediately seek elegant homes for their families as a necessary adjunct to a proper social status, these men are willing to spend their money and do spend it liberally, hence the future possibilities for Washington cannot well be over estimated. The establishment of an exchange in Washington is not only a necessity from a business standpoint, but it is also necessary in harmonizing and regulating a business interest involving millions yearly wherein dissension and strife is as natural as the centre of gravity. We wish the Builder's Bulletin of that city the success it deserves in its efforts to force the question upon those who have proven to be already entirely too negligent of their own interests.

To any one interested in the educational matters of Philadelphia the present long drawn out action of the High School Committee affords food for much reflection.

After weeks spent in an endeavor to find a suitable person for the position of President of the High School, and when the public had reason to suppose some one had at last been found capable of assuming the duties of that position, everything is again at sixes and sevens, the last state being worse than the first, and the object of the committee no nearer fulfilment than when the matter was first agitated.

With proverbial modesty the three Philadelphians who have been tendered the position, have refused to serve, because "they feared trouble among the faculty." This in itself speaks volumes for the high moral and mental status of a body which tacitly professes to have the best interests and welfare of our public school at heart, but which does not hesitate, when the occasion serves, to let personal animosity, or professional jealousy, the name is immaterial, keep out a possibly worthy and successful man, who might be able to put his shoulder to the wheel and "lift the High School out of its present rut, to the place in the front rank of American schools which it once held."

The above admission having been made, the thought naturally suggests itself, who allowed the High School to retrograde to its present condition, and to get into a rut? Have not the taxpayers of this city a right to expect, to demand, that the money so freely given for schools should have been used to such a purpose, that getting into a rut was an impossibility? Whose fault is it that "after careful investigation" the shameful fact is discovered and admitted by the Chairman of the committee that none of the High School Professors "possess the progressive modern ideas and methods of education"? If such be the case, and it is hard to believe in such an existing state of affairs, the very best thing to be done, is to fill their places with men of culture and broad views, who will not stand in the way of needed and necessary progression in this age of the world.

There was no time lost some months since in discharging a number of teachers for alleged incompetency and lack of "progressive ideas," and a similar heroic method might be beneficial in the present case.

Ex-Governor Pattison's declaration at the recent Alumni banquet, to the effect that the High School had retrograded instead of keeping pace with the spirit of the times, was made the occasions for some hard criticism, but that gentleman evidently knew what he was about and spoke from a knowledge of the facts in the case.

That out of the million or more inhabitants of Philadelphia no one—"native here, and to the manner born"—can be found to fill the position acceptably, both to the faculty and to the people, is a telling blow against our system of public school education. Let us have a High School President, if possible a Philadelphian, but at all events let him be a man, and let us have a shaking up of all the dry bones in the faculty into new life and prosperity.

THE advance sheets of a work on the MINERAL RESOURCES OF THE UNITED STATES by David T. Day, Chief of Division of Mining Statistics and Technology have just reached us. The matter contained in the article has been carefully compiled and is peculiarly interesting and instructive, as it presents a complete summary of the production of all of the Minerals of which this country is so prolific. Not only has this been done but comparative statistics are submitted, giving the relative values of the years 1886-87 with much other important and valuable information. Only those minerals which are used directly in the building interests will be here reviewed.

The first and most important factor of all the minerals which is Iron, according to the Statistics for 1887, it is shown that domestic iron ore consumed amounted to nearly 1,300,000 long tons, which had a value at the mines of $33,900,000, being an increase of 1,300,000 tons over 1886, the value of which was $5,900,000. Of the imported iron consumed, there were 1,194,301 long tons, and the total iron ore consumed last year was about 124,494,301 long tons, or an increase of 1,454,868 tons over 1886. The number of tons of Pig Iron made was 6,417,148 long tons, having a value at the furnace of $121,925,800, this is an increase over 1886 of 733,816 tons in quantity, and $26,730,040 in value. Steel of all kinds produced 3,339,071 long tons, an increase of 776,569 tons over 1886. The value at the works being $103,811,000. The total spot value of all iron and steel in the first stage of manufacture excluding all duplications was $171,103,000, an increase of $28,603,000 as compared with 1886.

Lime-stone which enters largely in the manufacture of Pig Iron was consumed in 1887 to the amount of 5,377,000 long tons, having a value at the quarry of $3,226,200.

Leaving iron we find that the total production of copper was 184,670,524 pounds, of this amount 3,750,000 pounds were made from imported pyrites. The total value of copper production being valued at $21,052,440 at an average of 11.4 cts. per pound. An increase of about 14 per cent has been made in the estimated total consumption of copper in the United States.

The amount of lead produced was 160,700 short tons valued at $90 per short ton, its total valuation being $14,463,000. The production of white lead and the several oxides from pig lead increased to a total of about 75,000 short tons.

An increase has been made in zinc according to the producers returns of from 42,641 short tons in 1886 to 50,340 in 1887. The total valuation in 1887 being $4,782,300, the price having increased to 4 3/4 cent per pound.

We next turn our attention to mineral paints which includes ochre, metallic paints and small quantities of umber and sienna, the production amounted to 20,000 long tons which were sold at the mines for $310,000. The total product of Asbestos hardly exceeded 150 tons worth $4,500.

The statistics relating to building stone show a total value of $25,000,000. This marked increase shows that the statement for 1886 was too small. Brick has increased about thirteen per cent. while tile has decreased, owing to the drought in 1887 in Indiana and Ohio, prices were a trifle lower. The total value of brick and tile production being about 40,000,000. The production of lime was estimated at 46,750,000 bbls. at a value of 50 cents per bbl. Cement another structural material was produced to the amount of 6,692,744 barrels the value being 77 1/2 cents per barrel or as a value for the years product the handsome sum of $5,186,877 is shown.

The statistics show that the production of all kinds of commercial coal in 1887 was 123,965,255 short tons being an increase of 16,283,046 over 1886. The valuation of the 1887 product being $173,530,996, the increased value being $26,418,241. The total out put of the mines, including colliery consumption was: Pennsylvania Anthracite 37,578,747 long tons, the increase over 1886 being 2,725,670 long tons, all other coals 87,837,360 short tons, the increase being 14,129,403 tons which makes the total out put of all coals from mines in the United States, not including slack coal thrown on the dumps 129,925,557 short tons, the increase being 17,182,154 tons, increase as follows: Anthracite $84,552,181, increase $8,433,061, Bituminous $97,939,656, increase $19,458,600. The total value being $182,491,837, the increase being $27,891,661.

A very comprehensive table is given which includes the spot value of all of the metallic and non metallic products of the United States in 1887 a resume of which is below.

Natural Gas.

The total mileage of pipes in the United States cannot be far from 2500 miles, not including small pipes for individual use. One-fifth of this quantity of pipe is laid in the city of Pittsburgh. The gas wells of Pennsylvania produce from 1,500,000 to 15,000,000 cubic feet a day. High and low pressure wells are also found in Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Ohio and as far west as Kansas. The total consumption of gas for 1887, estimated by coal displacement, was equivalent to 10,000,000 tons of coal.

The value of this coal was calculated at about $15,500,000. In 1886 the displacement was placed at 6,500,000 tons, nearly all of which occurred in Pennsylvania about Pittsburgh. If the same ratio of increase in displacement could be given in 1887 as that of 1886 over 1885, the amount of coal displaced by natural gas in 1887 should be placed at 13,000,000 tons instead of 10,000,000 tons, as above, which is a reasonable estimate, as no official or authentic figures are at hand.—Mining Review.

Sum. C.—Summons in Case—A form of action invented to meet all civil cases, the form of which is not specially provided for.

Where there are no figures to indicate the amount of the judgment, the damages have not been assessed.

The first name in each line is that of the judgment debtor.

An Asterisk (*) denotes judgment confessed or bond and warrant conditioned.

The figures 1, 2, 3 and 4 immediately after the name of the plaintiff indicate the number of the Court. The letters D, M, J. and S. after the number of the Court indicate the Term, as D, December Term, M., March Term, J., June Term, and S., September Term.

OFFICE OF BOARD OF DIRECTORS
STREET AND SEWER DEPARTMENT.
S. W. Cor. Sixth and King Sts., (2d Floor.)

WILMINGTON, Del., July 20, 1888.

Sealed proposals will be received at this office until 8 o'clock Tuesday evening, August 21, 1888, for lighting the streets of the city of Wilmington, Del., by gas, gasoline and electricity, for the terms of one, three and five years, commencing Tuesday, January 1, 1889.
 Specifications may be obtained at the office of the Department.
 T. LESLIE CARPENTER, Secretary.

THE UNDERSIGNED BUILDING COMMITTEE, appointed by the Trustees of the M. E. Church conference, will receive sealed proposals at the office of Hon. Benjamin F. Martin, in Grifton until the 30th day of August next, at 2 o'clock P. M., for the following work and materials: For the erection and completion, from the foundation to final, of the Seminary building at Buckhannon, in Upshur county, W. Va., upon the site already selected, including all materials, fixtures, labor and workmanship necessary to build and finish the same, of the dimensions, character, quality, in all respects, in the manner and according to the plans and specifications prepared by Architect E. W. Wells, of the city of Wheeling, and adopted by the Trustees. Plans and specifications can be seen at the office of E. W. Wells, Wheeling, W. Va., or at Rev. L. H. Jordan's, Buchanan, W. Va. The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

 J. C. BARDELL
 Chairman Building Committee.

OFFICE OF THE SUPERVISING ARCHITECT, FORT RILEY, Kan. Sealed proposals in triplicate, subject to usual conditions, will be received at this office until 2 o'clock P. M., on Thursday, August 30, 1888, at which time and place they will be opened in presence of bidders, for construction of two double cavalry barracks and two latrines, two double sets officers' quarters, one set field officers' quarters, one mess hall, according to plans and specifications to be seen at this office. Blank proposals, instructions as to bidding, terms of contract, payment, etc., will be furnished on application. The Government reserves the right to reject any or all bids or parts thereof. Envelopes containing proposals should be marked "Proposals for Construction of Buildings," and addressed to GEO. E. FORD, Assistant Quartermaster, U. S. Army.

GENERAL INVITATION.

If you want a book, no matter when or where published, call at our store. We have without exception the largest collection of Old Books in America, all arranged in Departments, each department under the charge of an experienced person, who is always willing and ready to give any information in relation to our immense stock which our customers may desire. Any person having the time to spare is perfectly welcome to call and examine our stock of two or three hundred thousand volumes, without feeling under the slightest obligation to purchase.

WATSON'S ANNALS OF PHILADELPHIA.

3 Large Volumes for $5.00.

Every person who is interested in the history of Philadelphia should have a copy of The Annals of Philadelphia and Pennsylvania in the olden time, by John F. Watson, enlarged, with many revisions and additions by Willis P. Hazard. It is the only book that is an authority on the early history of our city. We have purchased the stereotype plates and copyright of this well known book; made a new edition, three volumes, octavo, containing over 1700 pages, and upwards of 70 illustrations of old Philadelphia Landmarks, which we sell at five dollars for the entire set of three volumes. It would be a desirable gift to any resident of Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, MONDAY, AUG. 27, 1888.

It is getting to be quite a common occurrence for a street to give way and swallow up the poor unfortunate man or beast who happens in the wake of this earthquake in miniature. It is very evident that the era of poor work and utter shiftlessness has not yet passed. Notwithstanding the fact that the Bureaus of Highways and Surveys have already spent this year considerable over a million dollars.

The taxpayer year after year puts his hand in his pocket and pays the highest price for work that would put a six months apprentice to shame.

It is not an impossible feat to build sewers, good sewers that are made for the purpose of carrying off water and not for the sole and only object of enriching the contractor.

But what is the use of kicking? The Gods of the departments either can't or won't alter it, so fellow citizens let us put this also among the archives in the Bureau of Blunders as we are only asked to pay next year the additional sum of seven hundred thousand dollars for witnessing the amusing performance of the spectacular and dramatic disappearance of our own and our neighbors property into yawning gulfs created by the breaking of sewers that were never intended to hold water.

The following clipping from the Westminster Review probably explains the cause of dyspepsia among professional men and workers: "There is a widespread superstition, cherished by the great majority of the people, that to sleep immediately after they have taken food is to endanger health, to favor the onset of apoplexy, etc.—a superstition based on the assumption that during sleep the brain is normally congested. There is, no doubt, such a thing as congestive sleep, but during normal sleep the brain is anæmic. When a person has taken a fairly abundant lunch or dinner the stomach demands a special influx of blood wherewith to accomplish its work of digestion; no organ can more easily comply with that demand than the brain, which, when in full activity, is suffused with a maximum amount of the vital fluid.

But a derivation of blood from the brain to the stomach can only take place, except in exceptionally full blooded and vigorous persons, on the condition that the cerebral functions be meanwhile partially or wholly suspended. Hence many people after taking dinner feel indisposed for mental action, and not a few long for sleep. The already partially anæmic brain would fain yield up to the stomach a still further supply of blood and yield itself up to refreshing sleep. Doing so it gains new strength; meanwhile digestion proceeds energetically and soon body and mind are again equipped to continue in full force the battle of life. But superstition the child of ignorance, intervenes, declares that sleep during digestion is dangerous, admonishes the would be sleepers to struggle against their perilous inclination, and, though telling them that after dinner they may sit awhile, assures them of the adage, "after supper walk a mile."

The millions of its victims continue, therefore, the strife to which it condemns them, and ignore the suggestions offered to them by the lower animals, who have always practiced the lessons of sound physiology by sleeping after feeding whenever they are allowed to do so. Hence the human brain and human stomach of such victims contend with each other during the digestive process; the brain, impelled by superstition, strives to work and demands blood to work with, while the stomach, stimulated by its contents, strives to carry on its marvelous chemistry, and demand an ample supply of blood for the purpose. The result of the struggle is that neither is able to do its work well; the brain is enfeebled by being denied its natural rest during the digestive process, and the healthy function of the stomach degenerates into dyspepsia.

THE BUILDER'S GAZETTE of Pittsburgh, Pa., says:—"Gilbertson's Old Method" Roofing Tin has been specified by the Architect of the new B. & O. Depot at the foot of Smithfield street. One thing certain, the coming generations are sure of a good roof from rain and storm while waiting for trains at the B. & O.

A Long Tunnel.

A contract has been entered into between the Board of Direction of the Valley of Mexico and Mr. J. Gladwin Jeeb, representing the London-Mexican prospecting and Finance Company, limited, for the execution of the work known as the Toxiquiac Tunnel. The work is to cost $2,350,000, covered by seven per cent. city bonds issued at 82½ and running for at least ten years, the ultimate period of liquidation being fixed at thirty years. A sinking fund of 1 per cent. per annum on the total issue is provided for. The limit fixed for the completion of the work is two and a half years, counting from the date of the formal transfer of the tunnel to the company, but practically three years are allowed, as it is stated that each day over three years employed by the company on the work shall cause a fine of $300 to be deducted from the amount due the company on the final liquidation. On the other hand, for each day less than two and a half years saved by the company, a premium of $300 shall be awarded them. It is distinctly stipulated that the money raised by the emission of the bonds shall be devoted exclusively to the tunnel. The total length of the tunnel is 9,520 feet, of which there is already completed a trifle less than one mile. There are to be 23 shafts of which five are already sunk. The tunnel will be brick lined throughout, with an inner cement coating, and the stipulations of the tunnel contract call for first-class work.—Perkaste News

THE office of the Philadelphia County Commissioners has been removed to the new City Hall building.

THE Record of Deeds for the month of August this year has been thus far the lightest of any corresponding month during the last five years.

SAN FRANCISCO, California, has increased property assessment amounting to $10,000,000 while Fresno County shows an increase of $21,500,000, the total increase in the State for 1888 being $175,000,000.

THE brick sidewalk is being superceded by artificial stone but not rapidly enough, the loose brick abomination should be placed under an embargo by City Councils forever. The property owner who considers brick good enough for pedestrians to walk on should be made to understand that Philadelphia has become a progressive city and that bricks for sidewalk purposes are even worse than cobble stones for street paving.

IRON recently gave an account of a newly invented process of hardening wood through which it was made to take many of the peculiarities of metal. The surface of wood through this process is made to take a very high polish and can be treated with a glass or porcelain burnisher and made equal in point of polish to burnished metal without being in the least affected by moisture. The wood is steeped in a bath of caustic alkali for two or three days together, according to its degree of permeability, at a temperature of between 165 and 197 degrees Fahrenheit. It is then placed in a second bath by hydrosulphate of calcium, to which a concentrated solution of sulphur is added after some twenty-four or thirty-six hours. The third bath is one of acetate of lead, at a temperature of from 95 to 120 degrees Fahrenheit, and in this latter the wood is allowed to remain from thirty to fifty hours. After being subjected to a thorough drying, it is in a condition for being polished with lead, tin or zinc, as may be desired, finishing the process with a burnisher.

THE New York Mailand Express in an article upon the Steel Pen Industry, states that 130,000,000 steel pens are worn out yearly by the citizens of the United States, nearly all of these being manufactured in this country. It further states that at present the importation of foreign pens is mainly confined to the high-priced articles. It was first doubted that steel pens could be made in this country, but it was soon learned that the requisite skilled labor could be obtained for high wages, and the success of the pioneers led one manufacturer after another into the business, until now the field is pretty well occupied. Most of the work on these little instruments is done with the aid of very fine machinery worked by women and girls. The steel used is imported, because it is believed that the quality is more uniform than the American steel. This uniformity of quality is necessary, because of the very delicate tempering required in the manufacture of the pens. That mysterious quality of steel which gives different colors is a quality that requires expert manipulation on the part of the workman who does the tempering. He must know the nature of the material with which he works, and with that knowledge he must exercise a celerity and skill that seize upon the proper instant to fasten the steel at a heat which insures the requisite quality.

"First the steel is rolled into large sheets. These are cut into strips about three inches wide. These strips are annealed, that is they are heated to a red heat, and permitted to cool gradually, so that the brittleness is all removed, and the steel is soft enough to be easily worked. Then the strips are again rolled to the required thickness. It is the quick eye for color and the quick hand that fastens it that constitute the skill to determine the temper of the steel. When the steel is heated for tempering it is bright. The first color that appears is straw color. This changes rapidly to a blue. The elasticity of the metal varies with the color, and is arrested at any point by instant plunging in cold water. The processes of slitting, polishing, pointing and finishing the pens are operations requiring dexterity, but by long practice the workman and workwomen become very expert. There have been few changes of late years, and the process of manufacture is much the same as it was twenty years ago, and the prices are rather uniform, ranging from twenty-five cents to $4 per gross, according to the quality of finish. The boxes sold generally contain a gross. The best now in the market are of American make. Writers who buy foreign pens at fancy prices find them far inferior to the American article. Persons who write continuously will wear out a good steel pen in two days."

Recent Decisions

IN RELATION TO MATTERS CONCERNING REAL ESTATE AND COMMERCIAL LAW.

Decided by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania

ASSIGNMENT FOR CREDITORS.—While it seems that, as a general rule, two and one-half per cent on real estate and five per cent on personal property are the proper commissions to be allowed assignees for creditors, on sales made by them, the rule is not inflexible; but each case must be governed by its own circumstances.

Where the assigned real estate sold by the assignees is encumbered by mortgages, the basis for their commissions is not to be limited to the sum realized by them over the encumbrances, but an allowance of one and one-half per cent on the amount of the encumbrances is proper in addition to commissions on the sum actually realized. Rents collected from real estate assigned for the benefit of creditors should be applied on liens upon the real estate, in preference to distribution among the general creditors. Dunlap v. Hilton, May 14, 1888.

COURTESY.—A deed of land to a daughter "and to her heirs and assigns exclusively of her said husband" does not deprive her husband of his right as tenant by the Courtesy.

He was excluded from the fee. The intention was to vest the fee in her alone.

The fee passed to her with all its incidents and Courtesy was one of those incidents. Rauk v. Rauk, April 30, 1888.

All above cases can be found in 12 Cent. Rep.

F. R. SHATTUCK, Attorney-at-Law,
50 South Third street.

Summary of Last Issue.

The number of permits reported in our issue of August 20th was 65, representing 175 improvements. The transfers of property numbered 197, amounting to $933,061.46 of which $639,216.64 was the cash consideration and $293,845 the mortgage consideration. The ground rents amounting to $21,077 which is accounted for from the fact that a number of lots were transferred at one time at a nominal figure and then resold with the same encumbrance. The auction houses did not hold sales.

Through New Jersey.

At Camden the corner stone of a new chapel to be erected by the Second Presbyterian Church congregation has been laid on Fourth street near Benson street.

Lot-Buyers.

Architects and others had better correspond with the following lot buyers, as many of them contemplate building.

Building Notes.

The mission of St. James Lutheran Church will possibly erect a chapel in a short time.

Taylor & Sons will build a store on the northwest corner of Pine street and Frankford avenue.

At Chestnut Hill a two story addition to the residence of Mr. William H. Johnstone on Main street below Gravers Lane is contemplated.

Mr. Hitch, who has charge of the Old Ladies' Home, on the State Road, Wisconsin, will shortly erect a house at that place.

Charles M. Walton, 2223 Fitzwater street, has the contract for the new University Library Building at Thirty-fourth and Spruce streets, before reported, work will go on at once.

An application will be made to the Governor of Pennsylvania for a charter for the incorporation of the Bridesburg Building Association. Also for the Logan Real Estate Company. Walter E. Brand, 514 Walnut street, is the Solicitor.

M. E. McDowell & Co, 603 Chestnut street, have sold their property to the United Security Life and Trust Company located at 1001 Chestnut street. The new building will be altered, no architect has been employed. The price paid for the property was not quite $250,000. The McDowell's will probably build at some other location. The value of the property has nearly doubled within five years.

In the matter of the new appraisers warehouse to be built in New York City, the Senate, on last Thursday agreed to a conference report and adjourned until to-day (Monday.) In the House the conference report was taken up and agreed to, and the Secretary was given discretion to purchase a site large enough to embrace a custom house building as well as the warehouse. The Secretary is authorized to pay for these sites, in case such a contingency arises, the sum of $2,000,000. The warehouse will cost $650,000.

A circular has been received from the National Association of Builders which states that in accordance with a resolution adopted at its first Convention, held at Chicago, in March, 1887, and also in connection with a conference of the American Institute of Architects and the Western Association of Architects, that a standard form of contract has been framed and copyrighted. It is especially desired that this form of agreement should be used by builders and owners. The subject is one worthy of attention from all architects and builders throughout the United States.

Miscellaneous.

At Castile, (P. O. town), Wyoming Co., N. Y. new water works will be built.

At Baltimore, Md., building permits have been granted for the following persons:

At Kingston, Ontario, a Dry Dock to cost half a million of dollars is to be erected.

At Elkton, Cecil Co., Md., the Union M. E. church is to be remodeled. George W. Jackson and Levi E. Patterson are the contractors. The interior is to be torn out and the entire church replastered, new seats will be added. Rev. T. A. H. O'Brien is the pastor.

At Ansonia (P. O. town) New Haven, Conn., a site 50x200 feet has been purchased by the Rev. Father Synott, at the corner of Cliff and Fourth street, on which a Catholic Church will be erected.

At Washington, D. C., building permits have been granted to Wm. F. Lewis for seven brick buildings on Boundary street to cost $10,500.

Also to E. Crowley for a brick dwelling 1417 Thirty-first, northwest, to cost $2,400.

At Sheffield (P. O. town) Colbert county, Ala., a block of stone buildings will be erected by Horace Ware.

At Zanesville, Ohio, a stand pipe to cost $40,000 is contemplated for the high pressure water works system.

At Phenix, Kent Co., Rhode Island, a con has been made for six and one quarter miles of new water pipe.

At Guilford, Howard Co., a new 40,000,000 gallon reservoir is to be built to improve the water supply of Baltimore, Jones & Thorne have the contract and have commenced work.

At New York city a new police station to cost $80,000 is to be erected on One-hundred-and-twenty-fifth street, near Tenth avenue.

At Bridgeport, Connecticut, Barum's greatest show on earth, will erect a brick animal shed 400x60 feet, also three buildings each 350x50 feet.

At New London, Connecticut, a new Theatre to be called the Casino and to cost about $75,000, is a scheme of which Mr. G. G. Haven is the head.

At Ashland, Boyd county, Ky., Frank B. Moore, wants proposals, up to September 1st, for the erection of a new Presbyterian Church building.

At Greenville, (P. O. town) Hunt county Texas, a company has been organized to build water works to cost $85,000.

At Little Rock, (P. O. town) Pulaski county, Ark., W. M. Rose, Secretary, can give information as to Hotel to cost $15,000, to be erected at Dardanelle, Zell county, same State.

At Hartford, Connecticut, a new Young Men's Christian Association will erect a new building to cost $125,000. Four architects have been invited to prepare competitive plans.

At Wichita (P. O. town) Sedgewick county, Kas., a new $20,000 Court house is to be erected. Proposals are wanted up to September 1st by the City Clerk.

At Natchez (P. O. town) Adams county, Mississippi, the Young Men's Christian Association will erect a new building 90x65 feet to cost about $25,000.

At Denver, Colorado, an observatory is to be erected; it will be connected with the University. H. B. Chamberlain furnishes the cash to pay for the cost of erection.

At Amesbury, Essex county, Mass., a new street car factory is to be erected. Robert Bleckie is largely interested and can give information.

At Conception (P. O. town) Nodaway county, Mo., a new Catholic Church, to cost $70,000 exclusive of the steeple, is to be erected. Proposals will be received until September 15th by the Building Committee.

The New York Real Estate Bulletin says that it is doubtful whether the Convent of the Sacred Heart will be rebuilt on the present site. The grounds are nearly half a mile long and comprise nine city blocks, which, if put upon the market, would bring a large sum. It is thought likely that the sisters will move into the country, where land is cheaper and build a larger and finer convent. Samuel J. Tilden's estate of Greystone is spoken of. Two desirable sites for the convent have already been offered on Staten Island. The head of the Order of the Sisters of the Sacred Heart in Paris has been telegraphed to for instructions.

THE supply of water for drinking purposes is becoming a serious question in all the thickly populated districts of this country. In many instances the character of the water used for drinking purposes is much worse than that of Philadelphia. It is foolish to trifle with a question of such vital importance, as the lives of a whole community may be jeopardized. It is certainly worse than folly to delay the remedy because of the cost or through the fear of contracting debt. Prompt and vigorous measures should be adopted, and other improvements should be postponed until the proper water supply is obtained. We believe the whole question should be subjected to National legislation, and that a National Board of Health should, when called upon, determine the question of danger and recommend compulsory measures to correct the evils. No matter through what source they may come, experience shows that local health boards cannot, or will not act. They are powerless when the question of changing or improving a large water system is presented.

Architect's Notes.

McKim, Mead & White, 57 Broadway, N. Y., have a four story brick school and chapel building for the Church of the Ascension. The cost will about $30,000.

E. F. Durang, 1200 Chestnut street, has completed the plans and is now receiving bids for the alteration of the property on Arch above Sixth street, now used as a picture frame factory.

George Plowman, 1017 Chestnut street, is now making the preliminary sketches for a pair of brick houses of highly ornamental design, to be built for Mr. Shortlidge of Media.

Romulo Vasquez, Holmesburg, Phila. has made a new set of drawings for a house for S. C. Pursell, ticket agent at Kensington sta., P. R. R. The new plans call for a house of original and pleasing design and will cost about $5000. Sum. C.—Summons in Case—A form of action invented to meet all civil cases, the form of which is not specially provided for.

Where there are no figures to indicate the amount of the judgment, the damages have not been assessed.

The first name in each line is that of the judgment debtor.

An Asterisk (*) denotes judgment confessed or bond and warrant conditioned.

The figures 1, 2, 3 and 4 immediately after the name of the plaintiff indicate the number of the Court. The letters D, M, J, and S, after the number of the Court indicate the Term, as D, December Term, M, March Term, J, June Term, and S, September Term.

THE WORLD'S SILVER PRODUCTION.

The world's silver production was $351,500,000 in 1877-81; $396,050,000 in 1881-85; $107,100,000 in 1885, and $110,606,000 in 1886. The average of 1877-81 was $87,200,000 per annum; that of 1881-85 was $99,000,000, and the average yield since is $107,000,000 to $110,000,000 per annum. The United States is turning out $53,000,000, Mexico $26,000,000, South America $15,500,000, and other countries $14,000,000.—Ballo. Real Estate Record.

An Obliging Judge.

We heard the other day of a man who had been brought up in a village debating society and had been lately elevated to the dignity of judge of a criminal court. The counsel for the defendant appeared before him with his client at the hour named for the trial, but the prosecuting attorney had not arrived. The defendant's counsel said he believed the hour fixed had passed and the judge said it had. "I move," said the counsel, "that the complaint be dismissed and the defendant discharged." "Is the motion seconded?" said the judge. "I second the motion," said the prisoner. "It is moved and seconded," said the judge, that the complaint be dismissed and the defendant discharged. So many as are in favor of that motion will say 'aye.' The defendant and his counsel voted 'aye.' The contrary minded 'no.' There was no response. "The 'ayes' have it—the motion is carried."—New Jersey Law Journal.

Familiarity With Big Things.

"It is a pity those windows had to be pieced," remarked a young woman as she passed a new building on Market street. The woman was old enough to remember when a pane of glass four feet square was considered a sign of wealth and enterprise, and her home is no doubt equipped with 8x10 panes; but still she felt sorry because the new show windows were made of two pieces of glass. The panes used in each window are 60x144 inches and 96x144 inches respectively and there are few larger in the country. And yet this woman failed to appreciate what a piece of glass eight by twelve feet meant. She had grown up during an era of large and wonderful things, and nothing, apparently, was sufficiently wonderful to surprise her. The poet has aptly written:

'Ah, how new views keep pace with new conditions,
And widen all the limits of desire.'"

PHILADELPHIA, MONDAY, SEPT. 3, 1888.

THE financial column of a daily paper is the last place to look for a sensible opinion on finances or for a statement of the conditions which underlie the financial, commercial or manufacturing interests of the country. The daily cat and dog contests in stock rooms and exchanges throw very little light on what is going on beneath the surface. The news and the facts and the tendencies which count, which control, which make or unmake are not furnished free gratis to the common herd. That is the treasured stock in trade of the brainy few who profit by the misjudgments and hindsight of the rank and file. The great controlling agencies in the country's business have their eyes fixed on far off operating causes.

The value of real estate, the amount of house building, the extent of real estate purchasing or speculation, next year depend mainly on other causes than those usually observed. Could it be known for instance that next year twelve thousand miles of railroad would be built or that this party would win the election and that one be defeated, could it be known to-day that the over reaching Trusts would be lassoed by well thrown Congressional Legislation, could the recuperative agencies that often suddenly swell the volume of trade to enormous proportions, be foreseen to-day what would be the result? There is no room for guesswork.

What are some of the two generally unobserved facts of the general business situation or reasons, good or bad. One fourth of the productive capacity of the country is idle. That is an accidental and temporary cause. The most significant tendency is the steady decline in prices of staple products. All the better for the consumer, it may be answered. Yes, we reasoned with a mighty IF. If the purchasing power of the declining values increases. In proportion to the decline, then the country is safe. Is this the case? This is the contention.

Look around a little. Take wheat, in eighteen years the average export price of wheat declined from \$1.14 to 87 cents per bushel, corn from 68 to 51 cents, cotton per pound from 14 $\frac{3}{4}$  to 10 cents. Silver from 70 cents per ounce to 42 cents. The production of gold throughout the world has declined in the same period from 127 million dollars a year to 94 million dollars. The yield of the United States has fallen off 51 per cent. Meanwhile the world's traffic has been increasing at the rate of from 6 to 12 per cent a year. The need of money to settle domestic and foreign balances has also been increasing.

Where is the argument or mora? It is here. The expanding volume of the bulk of commodities has to be handled with a constantly decreasing supply of money, metallic and paper.

What does that signify, it means declining values for commodities and an increase in the purchasing power of gold.

The cast iron prongs beneath the velvet glove of exchange are not felt at first, but they are there. The wheel that fastens their grip is slowly turning.

In other words the prosperity and general activity which has accompanied the steady expansion of the volume of money since 1878 has reached its limits and capital or rather the money lending interests are to have their "Innings." Their advantage will consist in getting a greater return in the future for their dollar than the borrower of it agreed or expected to pay.

It was this increase in the purchasing power of gold and artificial expansion of the volume of indebtedness among borrowers as compared to the amount of money borrowed, that made the depression of 1873-1878. It was the doubling of the volumes of money between 1878 and 1888 that made the phenomenal prosperity of that period possible.

We are now near the turning point. Everything points to a probable increase in the purchasing power of gold, more commodities, more of labors products will hereafter be given for a dollar and the lender of it will receive more than was intended or demanded when he loaned it.

To the business man over run with work these statements sound or may sound like meaningless abstractions. Every man applies the foot rule of his experience and may decide them to be false or if not false over wrought inferences.

A few facts at least are apparent, viz, that the volumes of money in circulation is not increasing, that bond purchasing is a vital necessity by the government; that the circulation of the national banks is disappearing, that as yet no acceptable substitute has been presented, that the volume of borrowed money on Western lands is increasing and that the ability to pay interest and principal is declining on account of the causes above named, that in short the borrowers who are the producers, are less able now and will be still less able in the future to meet the increasing debts of those whose money they have, increasing debts we say because the gold dollars of the future are increasing in value on account of their increasing scarcity to say nothing of the growing scarcity of paper dollars from the banking standpoint.

There are other dangers to be avoided in our national economy than over importations or unrestricted immigration or the possible invasion of hostile European powers. One of these is the maintenance of a monetary system that will secure to every man a dollars worth of products for his dollar and no more, and which will prevent the lender of a dollar through an appreciation of its purchasing power, to exact more from the borrower or user of it than its face value with stipulated interest.

THE Twenty-eight story building to be erected at Minneapolis, Minn., will certainly be a nineteenth century wonder when completed. It will be over eighty feet higher than the towers of the Brooklyn Bridge, and it is claimed that it will be safer than an ordinary six story stone building. It will be built of steel and iron, the supporting frame or skeleton is to be of laminated iron posts and girders braced diagonally in the same manner as lattice bridge girders, each story growing smaller in dimensions as the structure ascends. Outside of the frame or skeleton, walls of stone will be built which will rest on projecting shelves of iron concealed by the stone work. The tower, for it will be only an immense tower building after all, will be eighty feet square having a court yard in the centre which will be lighted through a glass dome or roof. It is intended for an office building. Its entire height will be 350 feet and it will contain 728 rooms, all of which will front on the sides of the building. There will be twelve elevators and two stairways. It is to be as nearly fire proof as human hands can make it, the doors and window frames only will be of wood.

REAL ESTATE dealers have commented favorably of late on the activity observable in suburban and to some extent on city real estate. A score or two, speaking loosely of large farms have changed hands during the past three or four months, the purpose of purchase being to secure building sites. The operators in this movement are mostly outside of real estate circles, being business men, manufacturers and financiers, who see opportunities for safe investment and early returns. The tendency is encouraging but it does not justify the assertion that real estate is advancing. In fact many of these purchases were made because the buyers considered the properties cheap. Much of this property has been for years practically unproductive and the owners doubtless have become wearied of the visits of the assessor and tax collector. One motive for selling arises from the conviction that within a comparatively short time more rapid transit facilities will bring within reach of buyers of land and builders of houses a greater abundance of territory from which to select. Rapid transit schemes which attracted a good deal of attention two or three years ago are soon to reappear backed by even more capital and supported by stronger and better organized local political influence to secure the necessary franchises. The establishment of more rapid transit facilities creates the anomaly of cheaper land and dearer land, cheaper, because much more is brought within reach of buyers and dearer, because worth so much more for the building uses to which it will be put. Hence it is that shrewd business men are putting their money into building tracts near the city. Their action will strengthen the demand for better transit facilities.

THERE has been a steady drop in all real estate matters since the first of August. The transfers of property have, with the exception of one week, been gradually on the decline until the last week in August showed a decrease in the amount of transfers from the first week of $804,520.78. The statistics of the Recorders office also show that last month was the lightest of any corresponding month during five years. The building permits have also had a tumble, the week ending August 4th gave 104 while the week ending August 25th only produced 76. The decrease in the number of permits issued last month compared with July is 32, while August showed an increase of improvements to the number of 121. This increase is partially due to the fact that 73 two story houses were erected during August more than July. The decrease in the amount of transfers in August from the preceding month was $1,208,453.64. In comparison with August of 1887, the same month of the present year looms far ahead. The total number of improvements for which permits were issued in August 1877 was 610, which does not include alterations, and but 425 two story houses were commenced, it must also be remembered that our computation this year is but for twenty-five days, while for last August a year the full thirty-one days were given. The outlook for next year is good and although it is rather early to predict with any certainty, yet we think that work will be plenty but hardly up to that of this or last season.

THERE is an education to be derived from the maintenance of our Building & Loan Associations which no other school affords. The mistakes of former years have been safely avoided of late. The decisions of courts have clearly defined the status of such Associations. Their managers develop keen business perception and qualifications and they lay or help to lay the basis of a system upon which can be built a stronger government and yet one wherein the individual citizen will feel and be even more secure in the possession of his individual rights

THE nail makers, shingle and lath manufacturers and plaining mill owners have been indulging in as close a cutting of prices as cost of manufacturing would allow. They have not been accorded any votes of thanks for their low prices and might have done just as much business had they not sought to draw trade at throat cutting prices.

THE MICROBES OF THE ALIMENTARY CANAL.

The importance of micro-organisms is daily assuming greater proportions. The part they play in the pathological processes of inflammation, and its consequences, suppuration and necrosis, have been already clearly pointed out. A fresh contribution has just appeared from the pen of M. Vignol, recording the results of experiments that have been for some time past carried on in the Laboratoire d'Histologie du College de France on the micro-organisms that are to be found in the alimentary canal (The Lancel). In the first place, M. Vignol made a careful investigation of the various forms of micro-organisms that are to be found in the mouth in health. Before commencing it, however, he naturally asked himself the question What is the normal or healthy state? and the reply was fraught with so many difficulties, and was so immediately dependent upon the period of life, the food and other conditions, that he found himself at last reduced to the examination of his own mouth and its secretions, after he had spent three months in the country. For the isolation and recognition of the different forms of microbes he obtained from the mouth M. Vignol adopted the usual methods of procedure with sterilized gelatine, gelose agar-agar, in both sterilized air and in hydrogen gas. The results of his experiments give the astonishing number of eighteen distinct microbes, apart from ferments and the spores of moulds, which are only accidentally or occasionally present. Among these eighteen microbes six proved to be already well known, namely, the staphylococcus pyogenes aureus and albus, the leptothrix buccalis, the bacterium termo, the bacillus subtilis, and the vibrio rugula. Of the others, though some might have been seen by Rasmussen, Miller and others, their descriptions were not sufficiently exact to enable them to be identified. Of the remaining twelve, only one, named the spirochete denticula, could not be artificially cultivated, and M. Vignol has commenced a fresh series of experiments with the hope of better success in this direction. The rest he distinguishes by italic letters, as bacillus a, bacillus b, and so on, giving their mode of growth and dimensions. M. Vignol has further endeavored to follow the action of the microbes on the food by inoculating milk and other fluids with pure cultures. By proceeding in this way he has found that the staphylococcus aureus and albus and the leptothrix buccalis (the very poisonous action of the former of which through the skin is now well known and was described by Professor Watson Cheyne in the lectures he has just given at the Royal College of Surgeons), while incapable of attacking or affecting the solution of albumen, fibrin, or gluten, and ineffective in converting potato-starch into sugar, yet when milk was inoculated with them coagulation took place, apparently from the development of various acids, among which lactic acid was the most conspicuous. On the contrary, the bacillus subtilis, the bacterium termo and the vibrio rugula, with the several bacilli M. Vignol has discovered, all, or almost all, render albumen transparent and dissolve albumen and fibrin, though they appear to have little action on gluten and starch. The microbes found in the mouth seem to be capable of resisting the action of the gastric, biliary and pancreatic juices, for several hours at least. The general conclusions at which M. Vignol arrives are that many microbes enter the economy with the food and are carried on by the saliva into the stomach. Here their activity may perhaps be temporarily lowered or arrested, while some may, perhaps, be destroyed, but the majority enter the small intestine and contribute by their action to render ingested substances soluble—that is to say, assimilable by the lacteals; their number, which rises to more than twenty millions per decigramme in the faces, shows the intestinal media are favorable to their growth, and renders it probable that the part they play in the process of digestion and the transformation of food is not inconsiderable—conclusions that are quite in accordance with the views of Pasteur.—Medical Record.

Recent Decisions

IN RELATION TO MATTERS CONCERNING REAL ESTATE AND COMMERCIAL LAW.

Decided by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania

NOTE.—In an action on a promissory note for $1200 against the maker, by one who had taken the note from the payee, Held, that proof that the plaintiff had given the payee for the note before maturity $50 in cash and had returned to the payee a due bill and certain notes made by such payee, was sufficient to constitute the plaintiff a purchaser for value of the note in suit. Trauch v. Hill, May 7th 1888.

JUDICIAL SALE.—Liens, the extent or amount of which cannot be rendered certain are not divested by a judicial sale.

It is competent however for the parties interested to agree that such a lien shall be discharged by the sale, and this although there be no formal or written agreement or mention of it in the conditions of sale.

It seems that an executor has the power to make such an agreement, but even if he has not, the only persons who could be injured thereby are the distributees of the estate, who remedy if they have any is against the executor. Millers Estate, March 5th 1888.

SALE.—Where the question is whether or not a sale of personal property was followed by such a change of possession, as rendered the sale valid as against creditors of the vendor, proof that after the sale, the vendor who was lessee of the premises on which the property was sold, surrendered his lease to the owner of the premises, and that thereupon the vendee made an arrangement with the owner of the premises by which the property continued to be kept there, is pertinent for the purpose of establishing the vendee's exclusive possession of the property. McAlevy v. McElroy, May 14th 1888.

TAX SALE.—Registration of real estate in Philadelphia purchased at Sheriff's Sale, does not, under the act of March 14th 1865 (P. L. 322) prevent a subsequent sale of the property without notice to the registered owner, for taxes which became a lien of record before the Sheriff's Sale.

The subsequent sale for taxes divests the title acquired at the Sheriff's sale. Huntz v. Shoemaker, April 23rd 1888.

EASEMENT.—Where a continuous and apparent easement or servitude is imposed by the owner, of one portion of his real estate for the benefit of another, a purchaser at private or judicial sale, in the absence of an express reservation or agreement on the subject takes the property subject to the easement or servitude. The mere fact that the purchaser of the dominant tenement was a bidder at the sale of the portion of the servient tenement covered by the right of way, is not evidence that he does not claim the right to use it. Zell v. Society, March 26 1888.

LANDLORD AND TENANT.—A tenant cannot repudiate his landlord's title, and afterwards set up the case, in order to protect himself from the consequences of his own act. In ejectment by a landlord against the tenant, after the tenants disclaimer of the landlord's title, it is no defense that the term has not expired as specified in the lease. Willard v. Earley, May 25, 1888.

All above cases can be found in 12 Cent. Rep.

F. R. SHATTUCK, Attorney-at-Law,
58 South Third street.

—At Jeannette, the new suburb of Grapeville, Westmoreland Co., the new Table ware glass works of H. Sellers McKee, before reported, are completed and are in active operation having started work on Tuesday last with six hundred men. About one year ago Mr. McKee purchased several large tracts of land between Grapeville and Penn Station, the land was rough and undeveloped and without inhabitants. About three months ago we reported in these columns that Mr. McKee and others would erect large glass works, to-day the works are an established fact, they consist of seventeen stone buildings each 460 feet long, which are to be devoted to the manufacture of Table ware and plate glass. When the works were started the land was laid out for streets and building lots, and the new town was named after Mr. McKee's wife. There are now two churches, a post office, several handsome brick buildings, a brick yard, a planing mill, besides a large number of houses for working men. There is a steady influx of persons looking for manufacturing sites, and now it is stated that large foundry buildings to employ 150 men are to be erected by eastern parties, and it is also stated that a Pittsburg white lead concern will remove its works to this place. The population now numbers about 1200 persons and it is calculated that when the plate glass part of the new works is in operation fully 1200 more people will be added to the population. Messrs. A. and D. H. Chambers of Pittsburg, are interested with Mr. McKee in the plate glass works. It is stated that by January 1st next, the population of this new town will be over 5000. The cost of the glass works will be about $600,000, and about $350,000 for buildings in the town making in all an investment of $950,000 which does not include either the planing mill or the brick works. There are forty-three new buildings in course of erection.

Building Notes.

Jacob Myers, 1315 Sansom street, has the contract for the alterations and additions to the Philadelphia Club, at the corner of Thirteenth and Walnut streets, work will be commenced at once.

THE Real Estate Investment company have issued a very handsome circular stating that they have been engaged in business over a year, and with such success that a Banking department has been opened. We wish hearty prosperity to their enterprise.

The bids opened on Thursday for building the addition to the Germantown Almshouse, before reported, are as follows: Thomas J. Carmen $19,650, Charles W. Rufe $20,672, Joseph L. Carpenter $20,100, John D. Caldwell $21,000, and A. M. Grea $22,050. The plans are now under the supervision of the Board of Charities and Correction.

The St. Josephs College has purchased a lot on the west side of Third street, North of Spruce street, for $10,000, subject to a mortgage of $6000. The St. Joseph's Orphan Asylum at Seventh and Spruce streets is undergoing extensive alterations. The property adjoining, 702 Spruce street, was purchased for $20,000. The building will now have a frontage of Seventy-five feet. Philip H. Fitzpatrick is the Chairman of the building committee.

Recent Decisions

IN RELATION TO MATTERS CONCERNING REAL ESTATE AND COMMERCIAL LAW.

Decided by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania

ADVERSE POSSESSION.—After notorious, exclusive and hostile possession of land for more than the statutory period, the statute of limitations conclusively establishes the right of the possessor and it becomes immaterial what kind of a title he claims under. Bonnell v. Bonnell, May 14 1888.

FRAUD.—Where it has been determined that a certain deed of land was obtained from the grantor by fraud, and that the grantee holds as trustee for the grantor, and the case is referred to a master to take an account between the parties and to allow the grantor among other things proper compensation for a portion of the land leased by the grantee, he may take into account and allow for, the royalty received by the grantee for the right to operate oil wells upon the land. Tolles v. Millsbaugh, May 23 1888.

DEVISE.—Where one of two devises in Common of land charged with the payment of legacies, he is entitled to be subrogated to the rights of the legatee as against the interest of the other devisee, to the extent the latter should have contributed to the payment.

These rights may be enforced against the land in the hands of a volunteer. Subrogation may be enforced whenever one, not a mere volunteer, discharges the debt of another. Miller v. Miller, April 16 1888.

INJUNCTION.—The dissolution of a preliminary injunction, in an action by the assignee of a defunct corporation to restrain the sale of land (conveyed to such corporation by its predecessor) under a mortgage given by its predecessor to third parties, which, it was claimed was in fraud of other creditors, was proper. Fisher v. Moser, May 7 1888.

LANDLORD AND TENANT.—Where a lease provides that if during the continuance thereof the demised premises shall be destroyed by fire not due to any negligent or unlawful act or omission of duty by the lessee, the lessee shall have the right to give notice to the lessor to rebuild and if the lessor shall not, within three months from such notice rebuild or commence rebuilding, "then the lessee may at his option terminate this lease, and shall no longer be responsible for rent thereunder," the lessee will be relieved from payment of rent if the lessor fails to rebuild on notice, after a fire which was not due to the negligence or wrongful act or omission of the lessee, even though the lessee never surrendered the lease. Trust Co. v. Purves, May 7 1888.

PARTITION.—A recognition given in partition proceedings in the Orphan's Court, to secure the payment of the whole of the valuation money to all the parties interested therein, is a continuing lien which requires no revival and remains until it is paid, subject to the presumption of payment after twenty years. A judgment obtained in the Common Pleas on one of the bonds secured by the recognition is not a higher but a lower security in grade than the recognition.

The recognition is not therefore merged in the judgment. Leibert's Appeal, April 9 1888.

LIMITED PARTNERSHIP.—In the organization of a limited partnership under the act of June 2, 1874, and its supplements, the statement should show where and in what amounts the subscriptions are to be paid, and the subscription list-book should thereafter show the payment or the failure to pay the instalments falling due after recording the statement.

Failure to comply with the terms of the act renders the members liable as general partners.

A subsequent purchaser of shares who pays the purchase money to the Treasurer, is thereby affected with notice that the capital has not been paid in, and is also liable as a general partner. Keiser & Co., Limited v. Stettler, April 2nd 1888.

JOHN N. GALLAGHER, Prop'r.

Before with permission to William M. Singerly,
Proprietor of Phila. "Record."

PHILADELPHIA, MONDAY, SEPT. 10, 1888

MEN, clever and otherwise, presume to criticise and would amend to suit themselves the long list of duties on imports to this country, but only a few, comparatively, have, by long and tedious work, been able to grapple intelligently with the problems offered them. While the difficulties do not seem so great if considered singly, still it has to be remembered that those who introduce "bills" have first to become familiar with many more things regarding every article or commodity that has been, is, or will possibly be imported, than most men know about their individual line of business, and the effect or non-effect duty or free entry would have on it.

To introduce a tariff bill that will please all is literally an impossibility, as there are many men and many minds, but the end is not this: it is to give the greatest benefit to the "country"—i. e. to the majority of the people.

How thankful those who are getting up a bill of this sort must be to any one who will help them by giving them honest facts. Help them by giving them truths and realities from a simple desire to benefit the people; with no thought of intruding themselves on the time and work of those engaged in such an enterprise for the sake of furthering their own selfish and oftentimes dishonest ends.

As it is with the makers of our tariffs, so it is with any whose affairs and business in life embrace more knowledge of the various arts and industries than they can naturally attain.

The Artist studies and practices his art; the Engineer his engineering, and each finds a life work and has all he can well attend to. An Architect has to embrace some part of both these in his work, besides countless other minor details of construction, and knowledge of material used. He also wishes to please his client, the one who trusts in him not only for the work done, but for the way it is done, and for what it is made of.

It is absolutely an impossibility for an architect to-day, in this age of progress and advance in all mechanics and manufactures, to keep himself thoroughly posted in the detail of the manufacture and the quality of the material of which he builds his houses and edifices. Help—honest help—to him is as much needed and as thankfully received as it is to any one who has to deal with a multitude of different classes and kinds of work, on any one of which he could almost spend his entire time.

This is said to be an age of scepticism, but while this may be too severe a word, we certainly live in a time when we are apt to criticise things we see or hear, and we do not readily accept what we are told for fear of being deceived. No man cares to be deceived. He loses confidence in himself, as well as in others, his amour propre is injured along with his faith.

It has recently been the custom of those having anything worthy of attention to be used in construction of houses and other buildings, to put the matter fairly and squarely before the only one to whom they can go—the Architect. In some few cases he has been known to object to this, not on account of any imagined interference with him, but because he deems a fraction of his time too valuable to be given for instruction in something or other, by those he imagines have private ends to gain and in whom he lacks confidence. Whether this lack of confidence is justified or not is a matter for individual consideration, but the representations of upright and honorable men can readily be distinguished from the misrepresentations of those who are unscrupulous and who always have inferior articles to offer in competition with other goods that are well known to all interested in good material and work.

If the Architects do not stand by those who have helped them and endeavored to bring about or have brought about better classes of material of different kinds used in or on our houses, they allow the results of honest work to be enjoyed (for a time) by the crowd who always follow in the wake of success, and defeat the very purpose and object held in view by those who are ready and willing—nay anxious—to have the superiority of their material or wares tested and proved.

If Architects do not encourage the best materials, and insist upon its being used, it may not find a place in their work, and while it is nevertheless a fact that the best goods will still continue to survive and be used by those Architects who appreciate them, those who do not may in the end find it may react to their own disadvantage as well as to the serious loss of the owner.

It is rather refreshing to see and hear so much written of a business boom. Business men read willingly all that is said upon this interesting point whether they believe what they read or not. It is not true that the wish is father to the thought. There are some evidences to justify the anticipation. Quite a number of railroads have begun to show increased earnings. Railroad managers are nearly all looking for a general improvement in traffic and in earnings. The volume of freight traffic is steadily increasing. The re-action from the extreme dullness of midsummer is now setting in. Manufacturers all over the United States restricted production to the utmost possible limits. The accumulation of stocks was carefully avoided. Undue competition was also avoided as much as the spirit of trade would allow. Distributors throughout the west and retailers everywhere bought only as many goods as they were confident they could sell. Industrial and commercial managers in all directions kept a sharp eye on business and avoided the making of contracts which it would be impossible to fill, and the effect of this care and foresight is that the business interests of the country find themselves upon a stronger foundation. Buyers are numerous, consumers everywhere have very little material on hand. Prices have gradually gone down till a further decline is generally regarded as impossible; not a few anticipate a rise. An advance in prices would certainly follow if a general movement was precipitated. It is this which is leading to the anticipations of a boom. What is their to prevent such a boom? The tens of thousands of retailers throughout the country, the thousands of large manufacturers of all kinds, all have very little stock in hand and if they were to place reasonable orders for next winter's requirements, such an upward tendency in prices would be created as has not happened for two years. There are some reasons however why such an upward tendency will not be manifested. In the first place the cool calculating business sense of the country is against it, second that the productive capacity of the country is so large that the result in a short time would be a reaction that would destroy the healthful influences now at work and which are gently bringing prices back to their legitimate level. The business interests of the country recognize that the extreme low prices cannot be permanently maintained. Large manufactures have been declining orders at the lowest level. On the other hand they will accept orders for current requirements at present figures. Herein they show their good sense and wisdom. They say substantially to their customers, while we are willing to furnish you with supplies at current prices, we prefer and are determined to profit by a hardening tendency which we feel certain will soon set in. There is another favorable feature, namely, the large wheat, corn and cotton crops. There is some uncertainty as to the volume of these crops particularly as to corn. But two weeks more we are told will decide whether to base our calculations upon exceptionally large crops. The speculators are watching the crops with the greatest interest. From their advices they think there will be large exportation. The money lenders are also looking anxiously. They think there will be room for large investment of capital throughout the country. Their loans for the past year have been exceptionally profitable. They find that there are offsetting advantages for decreased railroad building. Early last spring the country was told that there would be a great falling off of railroad construction, that on this account, as well as on account of the presidential election, business would drag. Compensating markets have been discovered. Throughout the west everything is improving. Iron, hardware, boots and shoes, textile goods, machinery and the bulk of manufactured products are in demand at better prices than prevailed as short a time as thirty days ago.

What does all this mean? It means two or three things. That the capacity of our country is larger than our wisecracks counted upon. Second, that there has been a wider expansion of markets in the West than had been counted upon. Third, that the earning power of the people has been large. There are some minor reasons to strengthen this position. Yet it would be incorrect to assert that we are having booming times. There is no occasion for such a statement. The only thing we are doing, and we are doing it, is that we are getting away from the extremely low prices of the past season and are entering upon a more active demand for all kinds of products from shops, fields and mines. The investments of foreign capital are helping us along. The ability and capability of the Interstate Commerce Commissioners and the legislation which they have executed is strengthening confidence among railroad managers, investors, builders and the general public. The difficulties surrounding the railroad situation are numerous and intricate, but they are not beyond the solution of wise and patient men and wise and honest legislation. Whatever difficulties have been thrown in the way of our railroad construction can all be shortly removed. Manufacturers have felt that the straits through which they have been passing have been necessary. Good and easy times would simply multiply competitors and make it possible for the fool to succeed where only wise men deserve success. The pressure which business men of all classes have been under, and the competition from which they have suffered and the difficulties which they have encountered have served a good end in crowding out the weak and in scaring away the unworthy. There is an aristocracy in trade and manufacturing and in transportation, and those reach prominence and prized positions, who are deserving of them, and they earn them in the struggle for success.

THE problem of quicktransit in Philadelphia has received perhaps less attention practically than in any other considerable city in the United States. On the other hand more schemes for rapid transit have been built upon paper than in any other. We are to-day no nearer the consummation of the wishes of the people than we were five or ten years ago. At least to surface appearances. The Filbert street road may come through because it has at its back or rather at its head the Pennsylvania Railroad Company. No other enterprise would even stand such a chance. It is a strange time certainly for the slow going street car managers to talk about restoring fares to six cents. Perhaps this is the best thing that could be done. The promoters of more rapid transit need something of this kind to create a public sentiment that will make the steady old city of Philadelphia break away from its bib and tucker methods. The street railway managers recognize that they have no serious difficulty in the way of restoring or advancing fares if they see fit. They have the power and the public cannot help themselves. They know that schemes for rapid transit will meet with determined opposition in councils, and railroad companies have to be consulted. Politicians high and low are ready to stand between the promoters of these roads and the people for a consideration. There seems to be no organization that properly and faithfully represents the interests of the people. If councils do not take hold of this problem as it should be, an organization of some sort or another will be made to represent the unexpressed and unrepresented sentiments of the great body of the people of this city. Such an expression is bound to come unless the councils do their duty. There is no use of harping upon the question, every side has been talked up and down. The advantages of more rapid transit, the disadvantages of existing methods, and the advantages which would accrue to the public out of rapid transit have been shown, also the invaluable growth of our suburban residences has been painted, in fact every side of the picture has been drawn and redrawn until there is nothing more to be said. The Traction Company holds the deal in hand. President Lafferty says that one company generally has to do what another one does, and if the Traction Company goes up to six cents he thinks he will follow. The public generally know very well that this advance is not a necessity as the dividends from present fares are sufficient to amply repay the stock holders.

TWENTY-TWO million dollars is the modest little sum now being used for the construction of eighty public buildings in different parts of the United States. At this rate of expenditure the surplus bugaboo will soon be a thing of the past.

THE fire loss in the United States and Canada, during the month of June reached the sum of $9,954,000, and this too in a summer month when the danger from fire is supposed to be at its minimum. At this rate, by a simple calculation, the yearly loss by fire in the United States and Canada will reach the enormous sum of $119,448,000.

The Real Estate Investment Company.

THE success of the Real Estate Investment Company, of this city, must be extremely flattering to the gentlemen connected with its management. Its new quarters, at 721 Walnut St., afford better facilities for the transaction of its business, besides which it enables the company to establish a banking department, which the restricted dimensions of the old office prevented.

The business of the company embraces, besides banking, every element of the real estate business, and a perusal of the names of the officers of the institution, is sufficient guarantee as to its reliability. They are all gentlemen of ripe experience, and we cheerfully commend the institution to all who desire to intrust their business to the care of competent and trustworthy men. We give the company's circular in full in order that our readers may thoroughly understand the new departure.

Elder for five two-story brick buildings, on the corner of Pennsylvania avenue and Girard street, and also six two-story brick buildings, on Girard street, same operation.

Some months since we reported that parties were negotiating for the Barnum's Hotel property in Baltimore, Md., the Baltimore Real Estate Record in referring to that property says:—"The proposition to purchase Barnum's Hotel property for the site of an exposition building is being discussed, and we understand interested parties are pushing the project energetically. We fail to see the adaptability of that location for such an enterprise, as our idea of the needs of Baltimore in this respect is a situation more remote from the interior of the city, where a larger area of ground can be found surrounded by broad avenues, accessible by all lines of street and steam railways, and where a building specially constructed for the purpose may be erected in accordance with modern ideas on the subject. The movement to erect an imposing structure on the Barnum's Hotel property is a commendable one, and should receive the hearty support of our business men; and we think for the purpose of stores, offices, &c., with a large hall for general meetings, if economically managed, it would prove a paying investment. Being in the heart of the city, and surrounded by its business wealth, it would, without doubt, for convenience of location, be rapidly tenanted. We hope to see the lot handsomely improved by a building of equal merit with the new Post Office, the City Hall, the Central Building, the Glenn Building, the Telephone Exchange, and other buildings of prominence in the vicinity. With the prospect of a grand building on the site of Barnum's Hotel property, now let the city buy the property on the north side of Fayette street, on St. Paul street, and Calvert street; widen Fayette street, and erect a handsome court house in the centre of the square, with beautiful grass plot approaches on all sides.

a two-story brick dwelling, 31.6 x 41.6 feet, on Merchant street. A. S. Thomas, a two-story frame building, 18 x 50 feet, on Deniston street. F. S. Camp, a two-story frame dwelling, 36 x 35 feet, on Marchand street. J. C. Worth, a two-story and attic brick dwelling, 28 x 31 10-12 feet, on Euclid avenue.—The School Directors of the Thirteenth ward, will erect a $10,000 school house on Summit street, T. D. Evans, room 38 Lewis building, architect. Contract let to House and Coulson.

Building Notes.

At Logan Station, on the Phila. and Reading Road, the property is to be cut up into building lots.

A new cottage will be erected this Fall at Atlantic City, on North Carolina avenue. Howard Swope, of Frankford, will probably do the work.

The Third Street Land Association have purchased for $41,000, a piece of land at Broad and London streets.

The building No. 48 South Fourth street, has been sold by Mr. George Eakins to the Providence Life & Trust Company for $50,000.

The Pleasant Hill Land Company, at Pierson's Station, P. R. R., have commenced grading the streets. The sale of lots at a premium, will be held some time in October.

Builder H. R. Shoch will erect a handsome residence on the property recently bought from the Earnest estate on the Sandy Hill Road, east of the Norristown Borough line, and near the Ridge turnpike.

The Board of District Surveyors on Monday last continued the work of renaming the streets in the district West of Broad street to the River Schuylkill. The final report will, in a short time, be submitted to Councils.

Plans and specifications may be seen at the Master Builders' Exchange, for the labor and materials required in the erection and completion of the United States Post-Office, etc., at Binghamton, N. J. Bids will be received until September 26th. Also for the extension of the United States Court House and Post-Office building at Jersey City, N. J. Bids received until September 15th.

At the meeting of Councils on last Thursday the most important ordinances introduced were To appropriate $100,000 to construct a bridge over the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad at the Thompson Street crossing, in the Twenty-fifth Ward; also to appropriate $10,000 for the purpose of repaving Diamond Street, West from Second Street, with a sheet asphaltum pavement. The usual quantity of ordinances providing for the construction of sewers, the grading and paving and the opening of new streets, with those for electric lights, gas and gasoline lamps, were referred to committees in the lower branch.

A Joint Committee consisting of the Grammar, Second Primary and Property Committees of the Board of Education met and passed a resolution requesting Councils to transfer $12,300 from the Eighteenth Section to the item for salaries of teachers—$7000 for the teachers and $5300 for the purchase of books. The $12,300 is a balance left over from an appropriation of $35,000 made to the Eighteenth Section for the purchase of a lot and erecting a school. The lot was bought, leaving the above balance, which is inadequate to erect a school. Numerous ordinances were introduced the most important of which were to authorize the Mutual Steam Heating Company to lay its conduits on certain streets; to appropriate $25,000 for the construction of a school house at the junction of Cemetery avenue and Greenway avenue, were introduced. An ordinance was introduced transferring $24,339 in the appropriations to the Board of Education to a new item for the fitting up the fourth story of the Girl's Normal School. A resolution has been transmitted asking for an appropriation of $10,000 for the erection of a garbage crematory.

A City Throttled by Fingers of Steel.

In its widest application it may be taken granted that the influence of railroads has been beneficial to country and city. Of course none but a madman or crank would deny this. But when applied to their methods of operation individual companies may be singled out where the lines run into large towns like the city of Camden, the advantages alluded to do not exist.
Such for instance is the system adopted by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company in the limits of its municipality, that the presence hereof of its rails and outlying sidings is a positive injury to the renters of property in the city throughout that portion below Bridge avenue and along that now disused thoroughfare. In other words, since the advent of the Pennsylvania Company not only has the eastern territory of South Jersey ceased to possess an autonomy of free government, and should more properly be called he "State of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company," but real estate has everywhere in this city begun to retrograde in worth. Upon the transfer of the franchises of the old Amboy Road to this gigantic corporation the shipment of the freight of the present lessees has been steadily diverted from the Philadelphia yards to the narrow enclosure of that little tract at the foot of Bridge avenue, and what has been the result?
Values in the suburbs of Philadelphia have steadily increased, while, by the gradual encroachment of side tracks for drilling of freight extensively from the very river front as far down as Clinton street, south, and out as far, if not farther than the top of Market and Federal streets, eastward. This entire part of the city has been usurped and is now becoming one vast drill yard of the "Pennsylvania Railroad Company!" What is the result? This unlawful use of a proper easement has rendered the dwelling houses within a half a dozen squares either way a perfect pandemonium of noise—making it impossible to obtain rest by night or by day. Houses are being emptied of their tenants; rents go down with the value of the property daily. Plain terms should be used here: The management of the system of handling the engines on both the freight and passenger trains is equally bad. In very well regulated railroad system elsewhere the howling of whistles has been dispensed with as an accessory to the movement of trains within city limits, but Camden now has its citizens shrieked or whistled to death in broad daylight and in the dead hour of the night by the miserable policy or rather incompetency of a coterie of little men who put together this lovely specimen of a worn-out instrument wherewith the citizens who reside here are made to suffer the agonies of death. We believe now that an era of change will come if these little men do not change voluntarily the recent decision of the Court of Chancery will bring one about. We shall speak again on this subject.—Camden Evening Telegram, Aug. 21st.

DEVOTED TO REAL ESTATE, BUILDING, ARCHITECTURAL AND INSURANCE INTERESTS.

[ENTERED AT THE PHILADELPHIA POST OFFICE AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.]

VOL. III.—No. 37.

PHILADELPHIA, MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 17, 1888.

PRICE 15 CENTS

ACCORDING to the Real Estate Bulletin, of New York, 2,195 building permits were issued in that city from January 1st to August 31st, of this year, representing an expenditure of $33,442,360. The Bulletin in commenting upon its tabulated statement says:

As will be seen August is the first month of the year which makes a favorable comparison with the same period of 1886 and 1887. It surpasses the record of last year by 40 buildings, and in the cost over $1,000,000.

Among the 290 new structures planned were 20 dwellings to cost $329,500, an average of nearly $16,500, and 128 flat and tenements upon the construction of which $2,341,000 will be expended, the average cost being $18,289.

In order that a comparison may be made with the building operations of this city a monthly table of which we have given in our columns, we give the Bulletin's table in full.

In Case of Fire.

Capt. Shaw, the well known chief of the London Fire brigade, in a magazine article on the protection of dwelling houses from fire, says: "There is a great deal of faulty construction in houses in consequence of architects being seldom employed. Cracked walls are almost sure to give way in case of fire. 'Party' walls should be carried at least three feet above the highest part of the roofs. All roofs should be provided with windows or openings by which the inmates of a house could escape in the event of the stairs becoming impassable. The best material for stairs is wrought iron and the worst, stone, since the latter yields to an amount of heat which does not affect ordinary respiration. Whenever a house has both wooden and stone stairs the inmates should, in case of fire, invariably make for the wooden stairs, as affording the only hope of escape."—Chicago Herald.

AMERICANS are fond of secret societies. In the United States there are over 200 fraternal, benevolent, social, insurance, political, religious, temperance and other secret orders. Following is the official membership of some of the more prominent American organizations: Free Masons $600,000; Odd Fellows 530,000; Knights of Laboa 500,000; Grand Army of the Republic 380,000; Knights of Pythias 210,000; Good Templars 200,962; Ancient Order of United Workman 191,878; Knights of Honor 124,956; The Royal Arcanum 80,000; Improved Order of Red Men 64,000; American Legion of Honor 61,654; Knights and Ladies of Honor 49,200; Sons of Veterans 47,000; Ancient Order of Foresters 38,529; Daughters of Rebekah 33,958; Knight of the Golden Eagle 30,000; Order of Chosen Friends 29,271; Independent Order of Buai Brith 24,496; Order of United Friends 20,000; Ancient Order of Druids 15,000; Knights of the Macabees 14,000; United Order of the Golden Cross 11,000; Benevolent Protective Order of Elks 6,500. The total number of Masons in the world is estimated at 4,000,000. The total number of Druids in the world is 67,000.—Iron Gazette.

FIRE-PROOF stables are not uncommon in Germany, and are very simply built. Timbers like railroad ties are placed from three and one-half to four feet apart, arched corrugated iron put between them, and filled in with a mixture of cinders and lime, making it deep enough to protect the timbers. The trap or door to reach the loft is made of sheet iron filled in with the same compound. This kind of fire-proofing is very cheap and very effective.—Real Estate Bulletin.

PHILADELPHIA'S FILTHY WATER.—We have at this office eight drachms of solid dirt, being the precipitation, after standing two hours, of a pint of water drawn yesterday from an ordinary house faucet. Chemical test showed the presence of alkaloids and albumen in considerable quantities. Microscopic examination revealed a mixture of clay and decomposing vegetable matter. Will anyone claim that such a nasty mess is fit to take into the human stomach, or will any sane person assume that it is even fit to wash in? Is it not a wonder that Philadelphia escapes an epidemic when its citizens are compelled to drink or use such an abominable fluid? There is a grave responsibility resting somewhere, especially when it is considered that a proper filtering apparatus, easily obtainable, applied at the reservoirs, would rid the water of its execrable sedimentary deposits.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

We like to hear a man refuse to take his home paper, and all the time sponge on his neighbor for the reading of it. We like to hear a man complain when asked to subscribe for his home paper that he takes more than he can now read, and then go to borrow his neighbor's or loaf around until he gathers all the news from it. We like to see a man run down his home paper as not worth taking, and now and then beg the editor for a favor in the editorial. We like to see a man run down his home paper, and then see a man bring to town, we like to see this; it looks economical, thrifty, progressive and cheery.—Exchange.

PHILADELPHIA, MONDAY, SEPT. 17, 1888

THE proposition to increase the rate of taxation from $1.85 to a much higher rate so that a much higher sum $23,000,000 can be raised for municipal purposes is one which ought to receive more than passing attention from builders, real estate dealers, manufacturers and business interest generally. The line which divides just from unjust taxation, bearable from unbearable taxation, profitable from unprofitable taxation has never been clearly drawn. There are certain advantages to be derived from city locations which enable manufacturers to endure higher taxation than is found necessary or possible in smaller places such as railroad facilities and the supposed greater competition resulting therefrom, banking facilities, telephone and telegraphic facilities, the advantages of daily and hourly contact with sellers and buyers and the advantage of a larger supply of labor whose competition often regulates wages more satisfactorily than can be done by simple agreement between employers and employed. Generally speaking therefore manufacturing is cheaper in the city than country. Buyers congregate there to see and compare and a healthy competition enables the best productions to command the best prices going.

But there is a limit. Capital has been driven out of some cities and towns by high taxes, by labor agitation, by unduly high real estate and by other causes. In Philadelphia wages are not a disturbing factor and real estate is not held at exorbitant rates, fuel is higher than it ought to be but other localities are in the same boat. Railroad discriminations, while still the occasion for just complaint are less injurious.

The vital question now is what harm if any will result from such a great increase in the tax rate as has been suggested. To the manufacturer and builder it is altogether a practical question. Money spent to furnish the city with well paved streets, electric lights, fine school houses and the like do not cheapen the cost of production or confer any advantage with reference to outside competitors. It simply handicaps them by increasing cost through increased taxation. At this time a shifting of manufacturing interests is going on, the objective point in all cases being to avoid on the one hand heavy burdens and on the other to secure advantages in the way of lower taxes, cheaper land, lower wages and cheaper or lessened transportation to markets. The change is going on more generally than supposed. Thousands of manufacturers are discussing the question and figuring up to themselves how far they can go or how long they can suffer the load of local taxation.

To increase the tax load in Philadelphia four or five million dollars is no small matter. It involves a good many possibilities not pleasing to contemplate. No doubt the money is needed but can the manufacturing and building interests afford it. Will their business suffer. Will outside competitors be able to undersell us. Will capital button up its pocket and go somewhere else. No, shouts back a hundred voices. Look at Spreckle's. That is no answer. Spreckle's supplies come from foreign countries, and he needs importing facilities.

Take a single example of a $50,000 plant on which present taxes are for convenience let us say $1000. Under the proposed increase let us say they would be $1500, an increase of $500 or 50 per cent. The output of this plant is say $200,000. Here is an increased tax of 1 per cent. on plant and one-half of 1 per cent. on the product. The increased tax necessitates an increased capitalization of $10,000. Will the business pay at such an increase? The proposed additional load of taxation would necessitate an increased valuation of $80,000,000 in this city. Can the manufactured output be made to pay at that increased valuation? The estimated annual increase of property is placed at $30,000,000 only, and at one stride the industries are obliged to pay taxes on a basis of an increased valuation of $80,000,000 which has not taken place.

The result is simply this, that we are placed at a disadvantage as compared to outside competitors. The additional millions must come out of smaller margins which that competition causes. Of course the teeth of the municipal machine will not draw blood at once but they are there. It takes a very little difference to bring business here or send it away. Manufacturers and business men who are fixed here cannot pick up and go away. Labor will not willingly follow them. It loves its associations and city enjoyments.

The practical business man understands the meaning of the threatened dangers. The advance of say $1.00 per hundred on the assessed value of his property can be paid but the end is not here. The landlord seeks to recoup himself in higher rents, the employer in lower wages, the business man in better margins, and all this in face of smaller opportunities, since the higher cost of production necessitated by higher taxes tends to drive business out of the city.

The multiplication of railroad and banking facilities in smaller cities and towns, the equalization of freight rates, the increasing inducements of country life and other causes, are gradually operating to attract manufacturing from city to country and thereby to fix a limit beyond which taxes in a manufacturing city cannot well go. The danger signals are already raised and it would be well for the city fathers to observe them.

THE semi-dormant condition of things among the architects during the summer months promises to be followed by considerable fall activity. Many of our architects are again very busy, rumors are rife that several new schemes are to assume definite shape shortly, a new market house mentioned in these columns several months ago and a new hotel are among the latest. The market house it is intimated will be erected by the Twelfth street and Farmers Market Company and it is supposed that the new building will be located in the vicinity of Twelfth and Filbert streets, at least, this was the neighborhood at one time decided on, since which time however, the Reading has purchased property at Tenth and Fairmount avenue on which it is said a handsome market building will be erected by that company; as to the hotel, it is certain that a syndicate has been formed to erect it, all interested are extremely close mouthed, neither will any of them yield to the most persistent pumping.

THE Stratford, the new name to be given to the old St. George Hotel on Broad street is thoroughly English, and is certainly no improvement on the old name, Boldt's determination to select a name "thoroughly American" seems to have been but a temporary hallucination. A good solid American name is not good enough for our fellow citizens with English manners, it should have been named The American.

SIXTY-EIGHT more new buildings were erected and commenced during the month of August this year in Pittsburg than during the same month last year.

THE people of New York are so accustomed to journalistic howls at municipal extravagance that they are getting used to it. The fact is New York is run more economically than either London or Paris, with some 2,300,000 inhabitants according to a statement recently made the latter city will require for the year 1889 about $64,000,000 for expenses or about $27 per head of its population, while the expenses of New York have lately been about $20 per head.

WE are so accustomed in New York to journalistic howls at our municipal extravagance, that it is really refreshing to read the estimate of Parisian receipts and expenses for the year 1889 which appears in another column. With some 2,300,000 inhabitants, the needed sum for the year's expenses is put at $64,000,000, or about $27 a head. New York's expenses have been of late about $20 for each inhabitant. What are our public servants thinking of? Have their right hands lost their cunning?

FIVE additional breaks in the city sewers were reported Monday morning, as the result of the storm on Sunday. Considering the season of the year, the storm was no more severe than is to be expected, and the sewers, if worth much, should have been able to bear the additional strain put upon them. One of these breaks occurred in the large sewer on Twenty-fourth street at a point which the workmen had just finished repairing. If this state of affairs is to continue, no man can go to bed with the assurance that he will not be undermined and washed out before morning by the breaking of some of our immense sewers.

THE rapid development of manufacturing interests in the South has created a wonderful demand for small houses for working men's families, at Atlanta and Rome Georgia, the demand is so great that builders and capitalists are almost daily asked through the columns of the local press to turn their attention to the erection of small houses. At Atlanta it is even claimed that families are compelled to leave the city for the want of suitable houses to live in, a better class of houses is not only demanded but the Northern men who have located there can see no reason why gas, water and a bath tub should be regarded as luxuries suitable for the rich only. It is very evident from these few facts that Northern thrift is making itself felt even in Georgia, in fact it is expressing itself in all of the manufacturing towns throughout the whole south and southwest, a great many people are investing in homes and a great many more will do so just as soon as the builders and capitalists of the South realize that working men nowadays require something better than the present stock in hand can supply. The sooner Southern builders catch on to the Philadelphia idea of workingmen's houses the more money they will make in their business of building houses to live in, besides which workingmen of a much higher mental and moral standard can be induced to locate there.

Recent Decisions

IN RELATION TO MATTERS CONCERNING REAL ESTATE AND COMMERCIAL LAW.

Decided by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania

SALE.—Where property taken in execution is claimed by a third person by reason of a previous bill of sale given to him by the execution debtor, and a feigned issue is awarded to try title, if it appears that the property remained in possession of the seller without a pretense of actual delivery, the Court may direct a verdict against claimant, Betz v. Trautz, May 7th 1888.

TAX SALE.—A tax sale deed, executed by a County Treasurer to the County Commissioners is not rendered invalid by the fact that it was acknowledged by the County Treasurer after his term of office had expired.

The affixing of the official Seal is not requisite to the validity of a deed executed by County Commissioners of lands which had been conveyed to them for unpaid tax. Herron v. Murphy, May 7th 1888.

CITY CLAIMS.—It is not the rule that a property owner is obliged to pay only for the cost of water pipe passing his premises.

The expense of the pipe is met by a general charge or tax of a certain amount per foot, without regard to the size or character of the pipe. It is no defence to a claim for water pipe, that the pipe used was old, second-hand and bad, since the costs of repair or substitution would fall not on the property owner but on the city. Swain v. City of Philadelphia, March 27th 1888.

CONTRACT OF SALE.—Where certain lots were sold by A. to B. by real estate brokers, the consideration to be paid in instalments, and the same lots were afterwards sold by B. to C. by the same brokers the consideration for this sale also to be paid in instalments, in an action by A. against B'. executrix to recover the unpaid balance of the consideration, payments made by C. to the brokers of B. who were also A's. brokers, cannot be treated as payments on account of the balance due A. in absence of an express direction to the brokers by B., so to apply them. The money paid by C. to B's. brokers, was B's money, and liable to be attached for his debt, until by some act of his, or of his brokers with his consent, it was actually turned over to A. Cavanaugh v. Beuhler, April 23rd 1888.

LANDLORD AND TENANT.—A leased to B certain premises "for the term of one year, with the privilege of three years from the first day of April 1885" that being the date at which the lease began to run. B remained in possession of the premises for two years, up to April 1st 1887, and regularly paid his rent to that time. Three months before the expiration of the second year of the tenancy he gave A. notice of his intention to remove from the premises on April 1st 1887. A. brought suit to recover the rent for the months of April and May 1887.

Held that the "privilege of three years," meant a right to remain from year to year not exceeding three years, that therefore A. could elect to determine his tenancy at the expiration of the second year, and having done so, and given due notice to the lessor, was not liable for the rent sued for. Gillon v. Tutley, February 2nd 1888.

TAX TITLES.—Articles of agreement having been entered into in 1887, for the sale of real estate, "the title to be good and marketable," it appeared upon examination that the last deed of the premises on record bore date 1819. In 1876 a sale for taxes took place in which one Newbold was named as defendant, being the owner, or reputed owner. The assessment of the taxes was regular; a sufficient description of the premises was given in the proceedings, and the sale was regular in every respect.

A Sheriff's deed was executed to the immediate predecessor in the title of the vendor. There was no evidence that Newbold had any interest in the property save the fact that it was assessed in his name at the tax office.

Held that the tax title thus acquired was marketable, and the vendee was bound to take it, Reeves v. Alter, January 18th 1888.

WATER COURSES.—The owner of a mill dam across an unnavigable stream has a qualified interest in the water of the same, but none in the ice formed thereon, this is the property of the riparian owner, and he has the sole right to take it; with the qualification however, that he shall not take such quantity as will appreciably diminish the head of the water at the dam. Seasle v. Gardner, March 13th 1888.

All above cases can be found in 12 Cent. Rep.

F. R. SHATTUCK, Attorney-at-Law,

58 South Third street.

Building Notes.

There is a possibility of a Gatling Gun factory being built in this city.

J. M. Peter's will erect two houses at Frankford on Leiper street.

Contractor Thomas J. Carman broke ground on Saturday last for the extension, to the Germantown Almshouse.

William Prospect of Chester, Pa., has been awarded the contract for Richard Wetherill's mansion at that place.

The corner stone of Christ Church (Lutheran) was laid on Sunday afternoon, this church will be heated by steam and have electric lights.

The Glencairn farm in Wallace township, Chester Co., has been purchased by Mr. John Wanamaker, and it is rumored that he intends erecting some kind of a hospital building.

Joseph McNatt, Charles Stern, and another Frankford man, have purchased eighteen lots on Clementine and Adeline streets, near Frankford Road, for $4,800. Houses will be erected by the purchasers.

Herman Lewis will build a handsome residence on Twenty-third street and Hartwell avenue, Chestnut Hill; also at Twenty-third street and Willow Grove avenue, same place, George Borough will erect a Queen Ann cottage. Plans for both having been prepared.

Negotiations, which have been pending for some time, for a piece of ground at Twenty-seventh and Twenty-eighth streets and Lehigh avenue, have just been consummated. The purchaser was John H. Duffin, who will build seventy-one two-story houses there. The size of the lot is 351 x 212 feet.

James N. Stevenson & Sons, 123 South Fifth street, have commenced an operation in the Twenty-eighth Ward, which will number about one hundred two-story houses. The lot on which the buildings are to be erected is 200 feet on Diamond street, and 510 feet on Twenty-ninth street. Only thirty-one of the houses will be started at present.

The property at Eight and Wolf streets recently obtained by exchange by Councils is to be used for the purpose of erecting a school house on it. The Survey Committee of Councils has decided to make a favorable report on the ordinance appropriating $4,000 to pay one half the cost of building a bridge over Cobb's Creek, on the line of Lansdowne avenue.

The Growing Need for Skilled Workers.

The proposed opening of a trades school by the Master Builders' Exchange of Philadelphia is a matter of marked public interest and importance. There is no doubt that the collapse of the apprenticeship system and the changed conditions of labor have lessened the number of those who might otherwise have selected a mechanical trade as a means of livelihood, whilst the desire for education, coupled with the longing for distinction in some one of the learned professions, has been largely responsible for much of the overcrowding in such professions and for the belief that manual labor, even if it should be of a skilled character, does not impart sufficient social dignity.

Of late, however, a change has come over the educational spirit of the country. It has begun to be recognized that the exigencies of modern life do not admit, in the majority of cases, of long years of classical training, and that, therefore, our public schools should be less bookish and more objective, that all the faculties should be trained, and the ear, the eye and the hand exercised so that they may be more efficient instruments of the mind. One common argument which is used against what for a better term has been called technical education is that the great discoveries in science and the great applications in industry have been made by men of genius who never had such an education. But it takes a century to produce a genius; and while it is true that Watt, and Faraday, and Stephenson, and Cartwright, and Wheatstone, and Davy—men who have been at the root of great revolutions in industry and science—had neither a mechanical nor a scientific education, yet it is equally true that the men who practically carry on the great industries of nations are those who have mastered every detail of the workshop or the laboratory, and whose intelligence has been trained in direct relation to their respective occupations.

Since the main object of technical education is to give an intelligent knowledge of the sciences and arts which lie at the basis of the useful industries, it may readily be seen of how much use it can be to those whose lives are not devoted directly to the learned sciences, one of the most distinguished lawyers in a large city in this country was the engineer to whose skill has been due the construction of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, and it can well be understood how fitted he is to grapple with cases in the conduct of which is involved a knowledge of mechanics and of the laws of weight, of force and propulsion. There is no country in the world where the spirit of invention is more widely at work than our own. Disputed questions as to the priority or infringement of patents are constantly coming before the Courts. They can be settled simply by the rules of evidence, or by the principles laid down in Coke or Blackstone, and the Judge or the lawyer who is able to grasp them technically possesses a great advantage over the professional man whose acquaintance with the subject is only second-hand or theoretical.

Another of the objects of technical education is to teach the student to understand what he sees, not to teach him to produce what he has not seen. Even in the most thoroughly technical schools actual industrial work has become part of the training. It is not enough for a designer to understand the principles of art. What is needed of him also is that he shall be acquainted with the principles involved in the manufacture of materials, so that he may be able to see the adaptabilities of the material to the character of his design. The division of labor caused by the developments of applied science has had a tendency to limit a workman's knowledge of the particular industry in which he may be engaged. The boy or girl who puts the wheels of watches into a case may be skillful at that work, and yet know but little or nothing of the nature of a watch or the conditions of its movements. The same holds good in many other branches of industry, and technical education proposes to give the workman a better understanding of his work, to cultivate the intelligence, and to make him an originator instead of a mere imitator. Trained intelligence which can convert the natural products of the earth into forms of utility and beauty is the great and growing factor of production. The army of hewers of wood and drawers of water is already sufficiently large. Let us supplement it with a trained army which will increase the producing force of the country and develop its natural skill and intelligence.—Phila. Record.

PHILADELPHIA, MONDAY, SEPT. 24, 1888

THE Twenty-second annual convention of the American Institute of Architects will be held at Buffalo, October 17th. One measure to be considered will be a consolidation of Architectural Associations.

IN New York there seems to be a class of people who follow the trade of incendiarism. The insurance people call them "incendiarists" and they propose to get up a list of them and refuse to insure the buildings in which they find lodgment as well as surrounding building, or to cancel existing contracts.

THE business interests of the country feel less concern just now over future trade probabilities than for some months. The reasons for more confidence are assured, larger wheat, corn and cotton crops, a good export trade, better prices, greater control by legislation over railroads, rock bottom prices, exhausted stocks among producers, a high earning power among the people, an abundance of circulating medium and an enlarging consumptive capacity.

THE imbecility of councils in wrestling with the question of the Aramingo canal nuisance is justly exciting the indignation of the residents in its vicinity. It is hardly possible to imagine a worse municipal government than that which will passively permit the existence of a nuisance of the magnitude and fever breeding tendencies of this one, without so much as an effort to afford even temporary relief. It is no wonder that the people are growing indignant at the apathy and seeming indifference of our law makers and law-breakers, patience may soon cease to be a virtue and those whose duty it is to act may sooner than they expect learn a lesson in city government at least forcibly if not courteously.

THE personal responsibility of builders is now being taken into account in the awarding of contracts. In some localities heretofore, and even now, the value of services of highly reputable men is lessened by the bids of irresponsible and to some extent, unprincipled bidders who have all to gain and nothing to lose by wild cat bids for work. It has frequently occurred that the best skill has felt obliged to bid far below the actual value of work, in order to keep it from going to one of the many irresponsible bidders who are always prowling about. Competition is one thing and personal responsibility to properly and efficiently do the work competed for is another. Really good work is sometimes rendered impossible and often unremunerative simply because "competition" so called has compelled good men to bid at poor builder's prices.

SINCE the great increase in railroad construction in the Southern states the supply of hardwoods have been increasing, and just now a downward tendency in prices is promised. To effect this and to preserve remunerative rates, southern lumber associations have been formed which will restrict production if necessary to prevent an oversupply. Architects and builders have of late had their attention directed to many of these fine Southern woods and their use is becoming more general, not only because of their cheapness but because of the excellent effect produced in construction. There is also an increasing use of California woods, of Cuban and Honduras mahogany, but the limit of such special woods is well defined. Under the increasing supply and lowering prices of Southern hardwoods a greatly expanded demand is predicted by dealers and architects.

THERE is a growing cohesiveness among builders in all sections of the country and the same spirit of fraternity is manifest among the architects and the Architectural Associations. Practical considerations are drawing these interests into greater harmony. Rules and standards and conditions which are good for builders in one city are good for builders in another. A need of frequent interchanges of views is felt. Advantages are to be derived from a comparison of experiences. An evolution in methods is going on and it can be encouraged in no better way than by each casting his lot of experience into the common pot. Never before was there such a fraternal feeling between architects as now, nor so high a regard for the ethics of the profession. This mutual confidence is valuable in that it drives out petty feelings and practices and jealousies that only obstruct the proper development of the highest interests of the profession.

INTERVIEWS with the leading builders on building probabilities in Philadelphia and vicinity for 1889, shows that there is a general belief that work will be as plenty as this year or last. It would be a difficult matter to assign reasons why a falling off in building should be expected. Advices from many sources show that there has been no cessation in demand for houses to rent and buy. Two story dwellings have as usual gone of first and of the several hundred now in the hands of plasterers and plumbers, nearly all are spoken for. Rents are kept up well. Several extensive purchases of land have been made for next years operations. Bank officers say the building enterprise of Philadelphia rests on sure foundations, that no better investments could be made. Building and Loan Associations generally find ready sale for their money. The exceptions are not sufficiently numerous to merit unfavorable comment. Unless general trade conditions should be radically disturbed during the intervening period, building enterprise will be unchanged early next spring and will repeat its record of 1888, to say the least.

AN engineer and a financier seem to be wanted to get at the bottom facts in regard to the Reading elevated scheme, an engineer to tell the public the engineering facts and features and a financier to tell us what sort of a bargain should be made to conserve our best interests. Years ago a railroad company had but to intimate a wish to Councils and it was granted. The present stubborn position of Councils stands in strange contrast with old time obsequiousness. Philadelphia needs and wants the advantages which the Reading scheme if carried out, can give. There is no doubt a latent feeling of antagonism among Philadelphians against this company for its arbitrary management of its coal business in which consumers here are forced to pay more for fuel than consumers at more remote points, but opposition of the sort that has been shown in the long pending negotiations for terminal facilities will not help matters. Above all full indemnity should be legally provided in order that damages suffered by citizens from the prosecution of this admittedly wise and necessary scheme should be ascertained by judicial inquiry and promptly liquidated or guaranteed before the franchise is granted.

THE National Association of Builders has agreed upon a form of uniform contract which will serve as a standard for calculations and contracts by architects and builders and owners. The aim is to protect all interests as equitably as possibly. One fruitful subject of dispute has been the value of alterations or omissions made in plans. The new form provides that if the valuation made by the architect is unsatisfactory to the contractor, he may proceed with the work of alteration upon the written order of the architect, and the valuation of the work added or omitted, shall be referred to three arbitrators who shall be selected as follows:

One by each of the parties to the agreement and one by the two thus chosen, and the decisions of any two of whom shall be final and binding, and each of the parties to the dispute shall pay one-half of the expense of such reference.

Strikes, fire and storm interferences are provided for by the allowance of additional time, provided the contractors make claim in writing for allowance, and the architect shall certify what additional time shall be allowed. The contractor will be released from the payment of damage for that added time. An appeal is also open to three arbitrators from the decision of the architect.

at the office of the Supervising Architect, Treasury Department, Washington, D. C., until 2 o'clock P. M. on the 9th day of October, 1888, for the labor and materials required in the erection of the basement area walls, first floor beams, etc., of the U. S. Court-house, Post-office, etc., at Los Angeles, Cal., in accordance with the specifications and drawings, copies of which may be seen at this office;
the office of the Superintendent; the Builders' Exchange, at Milwaukee, Wis., Oakland, Cal., and San Francisco, Cal.; the Builders' and Traders' Exchange at Chicago, Ill., Denver, Col., Kansas City, Mo., and Louisville, Ky. Each bid must be accompanied by a certified check for $200.
The Supervising Architect will furnish copies of the specification and drawings at $2.00 a set, upon receipt of that sum in Post-office Money Order, drawn to the order of the Treasurer of the United States. Only a limited number of sets are for sale.

George Cathel, of Wilmington, Del., lot on north side of Poplar st, same place.

John P. Allmond, Esq., of Wilmington, Del., lot on French street, same place.

Miscellaneous.

At Hartford, Conn., a new building is to be erected by the Y. M. C. A. The plans for the new building are probably competitive as it is said that several architects are now at work on them.

At Sabines, Mexico, New York and Pittsburgh capitalists are interested in a company of English and Mexican monied men who purpose erecting a $3,000,000 rail mill and furnace at that place.

At Kansas City, Mo., ornamental brick and terra cotta works will be established to utilize the clay which has recently been discovered there and which is said to be the best in the world.

At Round Lake, N. Y. the wife of Bishop Newman of the Methodist Episcopal Church, has bought the Burnham House and will have it converted into a home for returned missionaries.

At Montreal, Canada, $80,000 has been paid for a site on which to erect the Royal Victoria Hospital. This sum was paid by Sir George Stephen and Sir Donald A. Smith, who have also given $1,000,000 towards the building.

At Washington, D. C., the Baltimore & Potomac Railroad Company has taken out a permit to erect a freight house at the corner of Virginia avenue and Sixth street. The material will be brick, the cost about $12,000. The District Commissioners have purchased a lot on Brightwood avenue near Brightwood, for a school site, the lot, which adjoins Emory Chapel, cost $670. The records at the Building Inspectors office show that fewer buildings have been erected in the District during the past fiscal year than during the one previous, but the average cost of dwelling shows an increase of nearly sixty per cent. The number of buildings erected last year was 1,789, costing $5,814,795, against 2,452 erected during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1887, which cost $6,041,975. The average cost of dwellings last year was $2,727. The conferees on the sundry civil bill have at last come to an agreement concerning a plan for the erection of the National Library building. The plan now is, that the building shall be constructed on the site now owned by the government, and the old material on hand is to be used as far as possible. The plans will be prepared under the direction of Col. Casey, chief of engineers, to the Secretary of War, and the cost must not exceed $4,000,000. By this arrangement the old plan and the old contracts are wiped out together with the library commission and Architect Smithmeyer "who without pay from Congress for fourteen years has competed with the world in preparing a plan for National Library building which should be worthy of the grandeur of his adopted country."

Architects' Notes.

J. Bachmeyer, 274 Main street, Hartford, Conn., has made plans for an $8000 residence to be erected at New Britain, Conn.

Addison Hutton, 400 Chestnut street, is receiving estimates on an alteration for Edward T. Steele, 1334 Walnut street.

Fred. G. Thorn has removed his offices from the north west corner of Fifth and Chestnut streets to 1345 Arch street.

The house to be erected at Leipsville by George McComms, reported last week, should have been given as being in the charge of Brown & Day.

E. F. Durang, 1200 Chestnut street has finished the plans and started the erection of a brick wing to the House of the Good Shepherd, located on Pine near Fortieth street. The building is three stories high with a mansard roof. The dimensions are 86½ x 43 feet.

Briean & Godwin, 1413 Filbert street have just let the contract for two stone and frame houses to be built at Oak Lane, for Owen Osborne. The dwellings are three stories high 36 x 54 feet, John Owens is the contractor.

Angus S. Wade, 20 South Broad street, has the drawings on hand for eleven three story brick dwellings with all the modern conveniences, for I. E. Bliem. They will be located at Broad and York streets. Cost of the operation $45,000.

T. Frank Miller, 615 Walnut street, has commenced an operation of eleven three story dwelling houses. They will be located on the west side of Fourth and the east side of Leithgow streets. The dimensions are 14 feet front by 28 feet deep, a portion will be 38 feet 8 inches in depth.

Smith & Pritchett, 1430 South Penn Square, have completed the plans and specifications for a green house and conservatory for William C. Downing, Wallingford Delaware County Pa. The dimensions are 60 x 190 feet. This house is to be complete with all the latest improvements and contractors are now estimating.

The George Plowman Company who were the contractors for the new Grand Opera House have sued John F. Betz for $101,148.73 for work and materials furnished. The allegation is that Betz will not make a final settlement although the building was turned over to him in an acceptable condition last Spring.

Geissinger & Hales, north east corner of Fifth and Chestnut streets, is receiving bids on the erection of an iron stack and culling down the brick stack in the factory of Stimson Brothers & Kurlbaum at Fairhill and Huntingdon streets. Also for the placing of two tubular boilers in John Scanlan's building at the south east corner of Third and Huntingdon streets.

Summary of Last Issue.

The number of permits reported in our issue of September 24th was 73, representing 163 improvements. The transfers of property numbered 197, amounting to $1,304,398.98 of which $345,038.98 was the cash consideration and $459,360, the mortgage consideration, a further charge of $7163 is to be added for ground rents. The sales at auction amounted to $33,270 with an encumbrance of $15,487.10. M. Thomas & Sons and James A. Freeman holding sales.

Refers with permission to William M. Singerly,
Proprietor of Phila. "Record."

PHILADELPHIA, MONDAY, OCT. 1, 1888.

In every large city in this country except our own, an approximate idea of the cost of buildings for which permits are granted can be obtained at the time the permit is issued. No proper estimate of the value of our building operations can be had except by lengthy and tedious compilation and laborious calculations based on standard tables of the cost per cubic foot of the area of the building erected which is entirely different in different classes of buildings, of course the labor involved in a proposition embracing so much as does the building operations of Philadelphia, is too great to justify its being done as we would like to present it, monthly. Our tabulated statement which was presented in the columns of this Journal at the close of the building season of 1887, required weeks of careful compilation based upon figures kindly given us by a number of the leading architects of this city, specially skilled in the construction and consequently thoroughly conversant with the cost of erection of the different classes of dwellings mills, factories, warehouses, churches &c, therein presented, and even then exceptions were taken and efforts were made to depreciate our good work by a daily journal of this city that never held a good opinion of anything that was not conceived in its shop. We do not write apologetically nor have we reason to do so for our work of November of last year was honest work, representing more knowledge of the true cost of buildings than ever emanated from the aforesaid journal since it was first established. The fact is our building law governing the granting of building permits is entirely too old to be useful. It is far from being up to the spirit of the times and should be amended or repealed and a suitable law substituted just as soon as it is possible to have it done. Our building inspectors cheerfully impart such information as they can give, they are honest capable men who fully appreciate the necessity of explicit information as to cost, the name of the owner, the name of the architect together with the name of the builder or contractor in cases where the contract has been let at the time the permit is granted, but under the present law the few questions that are asked the applicants are considered impertinent notwithstanding the fact that the law, as poor as it is, requires an answer before a permit is granted. In this connection we present a clipping taken from the columns of the Northwestern Real Estate & Financial Register, it is interesting if for no other reason than that the table contains the estimated cost of the buildings represented by the permits issued in every city that is given except our own Philadelphia.

Following is a report of the building inspectors of the cities given below for the month of August, special to THE REGISTER:

|                        | Permits, | Est. Cost,  |
|------------------------|----------|-------------|
| New York . . . . .     | 292      | $4,192,442 |
| Philadelphia . . . . . | 1,200    |             |
| Chicago . . . . .      | 330      | 1,700,000   |
| St. Louis . . . . .    | 159      | 525,930     |
| Omaha . . . . .        |          | 559,342     |
| Cincinnati . . . . .   |          | 252,772     |
| Kansas City . . . . .  | 149      | 1,107,714   |
| St. Paul . . . . .     | 364      | 1,010,003   |
| Minneapolis . . . . .  | 382      | 574,947     |

To the average reader such tables may be of little or no interest whatever, but to the brainy man of the building trade they are of almost infinite value, to him they are a nations pulse, beat and throbbing with unmistakable meaning, from which inspiration for greater effort is drawn, or warnings of threatened danger necessitating sharp and decisive action or a careful husbanding of resources and perhaps sudden and decided change of plans altogether. We are frequently in receipt of letters from other cities and from men who evidently have a high appreciation of just such tables asking for information of this nature, which we cannot give simply because it cannot be obtained except in the method we have stated. While we are willing to delve and dig in the interest we represent, yet we cannot see a single just reason why such important information as the estimated cost of a proposed building should not be given as a matter of record at the time the permit is granted. As it is we can only wait and hope that time will bring us a better building law.

THERE has been a slight drop in window glass and factories are all running full time.

In some parts of the West, especially where the winters are severe, builders and owners are taking to bricking in their frame houses for the sake of greater warmth, endurance and greater freedom from fire from exterior causes. The building is sided up with matched stuff, then a brick face wall, four inches thick is laid, tied on by spikes every sixth course.

SELECT Councilman Jones will find it no easy matter to bring his scheme to a focus to determine the feasibility of lighting the city with electricity. Our 755 lights of about 1200 candle power which should be of 2000 candle power now cost $129,000 per year. It is asserted by electric light people, that for $300,000 a fully equipped plant can be erected, which could supply 2500 to 3000 lights at an annual expense of not more than $90,000. Mr. Graham has a scheme hatching looking to the establishment of a $400,000 plant. Cities to the east and west of us are far ahead of us in reference to electric lights. The patch-work policy which has been followed for years is costly and unsatisfactory and the sooner the city can take the matter in hand the better it will be for all concerned.

MANY an architect is imposed upon by those who employ him, or is robbed of proper compensation. To sue is to lose. Litigation is expensive, dangerous and disagreeable, both in and out of the witness box. Then frequently architects have to assume far greater responsibilities than they are paid or agree to assume, and if anything goes wrong they are made to suffer. What architects need is some sort of organization wherein they can mutually co-operate for their best protection. In such an organization or league, an executive committee of its ablest members should have control. Able counsel, men who stand high in the esteem of the Judges, should be employed to take all cases of members into court and secure them fair play. Such a course would save many losses and prevent injustice to architects. Such a move is now being made in Illinois.

PARISIAN architects are very much opposed to the great 1,000-foot tower M. Eiffel is now building for the coming exposition. They say that it dwarfs by its proportions the height of the other buildings, that it is neither beautiful nor useful, and that it will benefit nobody but M. Eiffel himself and those associated in his enterprise.—Exch.

ARCHITECTS, builders and others interested in building operations where considerable copper is used have been watching the movements of the Paris Copper Syndicate which controls practically the copper product of the world. The latest indications are, that the load is a heavy one, but not an insupportable one. The syndicate entered upon this speculation, after very careful calculations. An increasing demand is counted upon. The Syndicate now holds 100,000 tons, an increase of 35,000 tons in eight months. Since January 1st, they have sold 20,000 tons at a profit of $35 per t.n. The production of ten American mines increased from 31,426 tons in the first eight months of last year to 34,155 tons in the first eight months of this year. A new agreement has just been entered into to take effect at the expiration of the existing three year's contract with copper producers the world over, but in this new deal the syndicate has been compelled to assume much heavier obligations than before. Consumers derive some little encouragement from this fact. So far the use of copper has not been curtailed among architects and builders.

THE stupid report now going the rounds to the effect that the Real Estate Exchange of this city will in the future abolish its auction sales of real estate is all rot. The fact is a new order of things has been instituted, a number of the directors whose time was too valuable to devote a trifle of it to the business of the Exchange have been succeeded by gentlemen who will. A broader and no doubt a more profitable range of business has been introduced. Under the new regime sales of personal property on the premises of the owner are invited. The public are at liberty to attend the sales of the Exchange and bid for property without the aid of a member. It is the intention of the directors to popularize the rooms of the Exchange as much as possible and to that end the public are invited and it should be known that much valuable information can be gained by property owners and those in quest, of property through intercourse with its members, besides which its maps, atlases, &c., of city and suburban properties are accessible at all times.

If the railroad builders do one half of the railroad work next year which they have projected during the past twelve months, there will be no more complaints of fullness or low prices. Even in the northwest where railroad building is supposed to be badly overdone, a great deal of new work, some 1500 miles is to be undertaken next year. This means more shop, mill and house building. The Michigan lumber manufacturers who have been looking into next years possibilities are assured that the prospects for railroad building in the west and northwest are bright, and that they can enter upon a busy winter's work. Makers of almost all kinds of machinery have a busy season in sight. Locomotive and car builders are filling up with orders steadily. Rail makers expect to have three months business in hand January first. Ship builders predict that 1889 will be the busiest year they have had for twenty years. Not all of these anticipations may be realized, but the trade and industrial conditions are favorable and unless unobserved evils should overtake us the coming season will be an improvement on the present.

THE suggestion has been made more than once that in constructing city dwellings the bedrooms be placed in the rear of the house and the sitting room and the library where there is one, in a forward part of the house. Who will risk the innovation. The idea is not such a bad one, it is even a good one, our Philadelphia method of living in the back part of our houses conveys the idea to strangers that the average citizen retires to his bed immediately after supper. And this alone contributes largely to the impression—honestly earned or otherwise—that our city is but an overgrown village. The custom of isolating the sitting room is a bad one, the privacy of the family circle is of course too sacred to be subjected to either exposure or publicity, yet certain changes could be made which would convey the idea that our houses were inhabited and that our citizens were wide awake enough at all seasonable hours. Well lighted homes compared to our present dark and gloomy house fronts of almost interminable length would add a cheerfulness to our streets and in a measure counteract the impression that we all go to bed at dark without in the least exposing the home circle to the gaze and criticisms of outsiders.

THE Commissioners appointed by Governor Beaver for the location and erection of three miners hospitals in the bituminous and semi-bituminous coal regions of Pennsylvania have finally accepted sites at Connellsville, Fayette Co., Phillipsburg, Centre Co., and Mercer, Mercer Co. The commission consists, as before reported, of Col. J. M. Reid, of Connellsville, J. J. Spearman, of Sharon, James P. Coburn, of Aaronsburg, Daniel Cameron of Wellsboro, H. D. Tate, of Bedford and H. S. French, of Pittsburg. It now remains for Governor Beaver to approve of the action of the Commission although it is intimated that weighty reasons are to be submitted to the Governor to influence his disapproval of Mercer, as it is claimed that the town is remotely situated from the coal and manufacturing centres and that its railroad facilities are very limited. The deeds for the sites will be secured after the Governor's approval has been obtained, when an architect will be engaged to prepare plans &c. The plans must then be approved by the State Board of Charities when approved, proposals for the erection of the buildings will be advertised, Superintendents of construction work will be appointed by the Commission. After the completion of the Hospitals by the Commissions they will then be turned over to a board of managers consisting of nine members for each hospital who will be appointed by the Governor from the counties embraced in the district wherein the hospital is located. Work will in all probability be delayed until next Spring as considerable red-tape in the way of passing upon reports &c., is necessary.

At the meeting of Select Council held on Thursday last, the following communications were presented and referred to the proper committees.

From the Mayor, inclosing a letter from the Director of Public Works, asking for the passage of an ordinance authorizing a contract for filling in on the line of the eastern connection of the Snyder sewer to the Delaware river.

Also, from the Board of Education, recommending the sale of the city lot at the northwest corner of Eleventh and Moore streets, on the ground that it is no longer of use for school purposes.

A resolution by Mr. Ardis, requesting the Board of Education to furnish Councils with a list of property in each ward under their control and not required for school purposes, was agreed to.

Also the following ordinances by Mr. Rose, appropriating $60,000 for a school house at Seventh and Church streets.

By Mr. Ardis, to authorize the sale of the vacant city lot at Eleventh and Moore streets.

The following bills from Common Council were taken up and concurred in:

To grant permission to the John Hancock Ice Company to build a frame ice house on a lot at Sedgley avenue and Dauphin street.

To revise the lines and grades of Smick, Ritchie, Parker and Frank streets in the Twenty-first and Twenty-second Wards.

To authorize the construction of sewers on Buttonwood, Belgrade, Cumberland, Coral, Diamond, Dorritt, Eighteenth, Forty-fourth, Forty-sixth, George, Hancock, Haverford, Huntingdon, Marlborough, Phillip, Tenth, Thiga, Twentieth, Tyson, Westmoreland, Wellington and York streets, and Lehigh, Susquehanna and Fairmount avenues; and on Cumberland, Fox, Orianna, Pearl, Reed, Twenty-second, Tulip, Twenty-first and Wharton streets.

THE total number of permits issued by the city clerk of Camden, N. J., for the present year ending September 27th, was 440, against 456 for the previous year. The number issued for September ending on the same date was 57, which was ten more than the same month of last year computed to the 28th of the month. While the number of permits issued for September 1887-88 are nearly the same, yet the number of operations for which permits were issued during the past month far exceeds the operations during September of 1887 by fifty, as shown in the following table:

|                         | 1887 | 1888 |

| 3-sty dwellings, brick, | 0    | 13   |

THE tendency to put in larger windows and of plate glass in the smaller houses is one of which architects would do well to encourage.

THE winter output of brick in and about Philadelphia will be about thirty-three per cent. larger than last winter. The demand for fancy shapes and sizes has greatly increased.

NAILS have been drifting from $1.70 to $2.00 per keg according to make. Western makers are trying to organize a pool to restrict production and advance prices. The wire nail factories are all full of orders but cut nails are in excess of demand.

THERE is room for inventive talent in finding out some cheap and ready means for rendering lumber fire-proof before it is used in construction. The after processes are too slow and costly, creosoted timber has frequently stood severe tests.

COUNCILMEN know that the $1.85 rate is insufficient to meet the urgent expenses of the city for the ensuing year. Mr. Graham admits $2.20 is more too much. Mr. Kenton would make it $2.00. The Councilmen may evade the issue for a year or two but a higher tax rate is inevitable whether we like it or not or whether it is damaging to manufacturing interests or not.

THE builders who are seeking winter work report prospects favorable for considerable inside work. A great many dwellings on Arch, Race, Vine, Walnut and on some streets farther south will be transformed into business places. The improvements will in many instances extend back to the streets on the rear and up to the full height of the front building. Structural iron makers have been picking up a good many orders for such sort of work.

"COQUETTISH" as applied to Architecture aptly expresses some of the crude work of amateurs occasionally met with. To a certain extent this coquettish tendency which subordinates somewhat the useful to the ornamental will find a welcome. With thousands of people, appearances are everything, that is, outside appearances. There is a limit, however, beyond which this tendency cannot extend. Plain, substantial, economic work in architecture is wanted. The eccentric and the novel ideas which sometimes crop out never have a long run.

Properties Subjected to Liens.

List of properties subject to lien for removal of nuisances by the Board of Health which will be returned to the City Solicitor at the expiration of four months from date:

—At Spring City, Chester Co., Milton Letshaw will erect four three-story brick houses on New street. Excavations commenced.—Abraham Mowrey of this place will erect a double brick house on Yost avenue. Samuel Snyder of that place has the contract.

—At Royersford, Montgomery Co., L. L. Usner, a clerk in the office of the American Wood Paper Company at Valley Forge, will erect a double brick house on Summer street, he has given the contract to John L. Penny-packer.

—At Clifton Heights, Delaware Co., at the last regular meeting of Councils, the Burgess was authorized to receive estimates for grading and telfording the roadway of Clifton and Springfield avenue to Providence road and Springfield avenue from Clifton avenue to Church lane.

—At General Wayne, Delaware Co., George P. Fallon, has bought three acres of ground from the Wayne estate, located at Runnymede avenue, on which he expects to erect a residence for himself, and it is understood that he will build at least three more houses on the same tract.

—At Kutztown, Berks Co., the new shoe factory, before reported, to be erected will be two and one-half stories 50 x 100 feet, it will be built of brick and will employ forty men. Dr. Trexler, Charles Miller, Lewis A. Stine and William Stimmel are the parties who will build it.

—At West Chester, Chester Co., the question of a new town hall is again agitated, with some $22,000 surplus in the county treasury, it is thought that the present is a good time to erect one.

—At Bellefonte, Centre Co., the Lutheran congregation will erect a new church building on a site corner of Linn and Alleghany streets. The Pennsylvania R. R. Co., has appropriated $20,000 for a new depot building at this place. The location had not been secured at time of writing.

—At Chester, Delaware Co., D. H. McCray the builder, has broken ground at the corner of North and Seventh streets for a row of two-story brick houses. C. D. Miller has also broken ground for three two-story brick dwellings at Seventh and Potter streets.

—At Pottstown, Montgomery Co., Joel Seiple will erect a new house to replace the old one now being demolished on King street. There is much talk about erecting a market house to supply a long felt want both on the part of the citizens of the town and the farmers of the surrounding country.

—At Altoona, Blair Co., the contract for the erection of the Wopsonnock hotel, before reported, has been let to Contractor Frank McClain. The new building will be 80 x 90 feet, three stories high and will have accommodations for 100 guests. It is to be ready for the next season.

—At Ridley Park, Delaware Co., ground has been broken by J. R. Shurley, for two houses on 3rd street, East of Morton avenue, they are for Henry Wilson, chemist, at the Eddystone Print works. J. R. Shively has started a subscription list for a building association; over 450 shares have been subscribed for already.

—At Reading, Bucks Co., the corner stone of the new church to be erected by the congregation of St. Mary's Catholic church will be laid on October 14th inst.—Permits have been granted to W. A. Boas for a four-story brick building on Cherry street. Also, to William A. Witman & Bro., for a one story building on Tenth st.

O'Malley is a member of the board and can give information.—The Welsh Baptist Church on Main avenue is to have a new and ornamental front. It is to be of pressed brick with Cleveland stone trimmings. It is to have two steeples, each 130 feet front. Colligan Brothers have the contract for the stone and brick work and Morgan & Plympton for the wood work.

—At Erie, Erie Co., Pa., the Board of Education has not yet let the contracts for the new Central High school, but will be ready to advertise for bids in a short time. The plans have been prepared by Mr. Dean, architect, at Erie, in accordance with the ideas of Mr. J. J. Hogan chairman of the building committee. The building will be 263 x 128 feet, two stories high, save about 80 feet front which will be in the form of a tower 150 feet high. The material will be brick with stone base and stone trimmings. The roof will be of slate with galvanized trimmings. The Smead, Wills & Co., Rutan System of heating and ventilating has been adopted. When completed the building will contain twenty-four school rooms, and on the third floor, the central part will contain a hall 120x80 feet with stage and dressing rooms. This hall, it is estimated will seat one thousand people. Work on the new Germania hotel has begun.—The Y. M. C. A. are to erect a gymnasium building to cost not less than $20,000. A building committee of six is to be appointed. The new building will be a large one, the basement will be half story high and will contain gymnasium and bath rooms. The second story will be devoted to hall purposes and will be provided with seating capacity for 1200 people.

Building Notes.

Sales at the Real Estate Exchange will be resumed to-day.

Atherton Blight has transferred to James Strong for $73,000, seven acres of land located on the north side of York street and Twenty-first street,

The Ranford Land & Improvement Company, Charles H. Mellon Secretary, intends building a bridge across New River, plans are solicited for the same.

The Pennsylvania Globe Gas Light Company has purchased from W. L. Elkins a property at Fiftieth street and Lancaster avenue. The consideration was $12,000.

Clarence H. Clark, of this city, will erect a handsome summer residence on Appledores, Island, Isles of Shoals, New Hampshire. The plans have already been drawn.

Queen & Company have left their old quarters, 924 Chestnut street, on account of extensive alterations now in progress, and can be found at 927 Chestnut street, where they are prepared to serve architects and the public generally, until the improvements at 924 are completed.

The properties 406-408 Market street, have been purchased by the Bell Telephone Company, upon which a handsome building will be erected. Possession will be had on January 1st, 1889. The new structure will be 35 1-6 feet front by 117 feet deep, four stories high, of brick with trimmings of terra cotta.

The Perth Amboy Terra Cotta Company, represented in this city by J. C. A. Lewis, has moved from its former office at 139 South Ninth street, and will occupy hereafter, rooms on the tenth floor of the Drexel Building, Fifth and Chestnut streets. This company has the contract for supplying the terra cotta work on the new Marks building at Eighth and Arch streets.

Burr, Dodge & Company, 125 North Fifth street, have just purchased a piece of ground through D. E. Dallam, on the north side of Nicetown Lane, west of the Reading railroad. The consideration will not be stated. The firm above named intend to erect a large factory on the site and as far as can be ascertained no plans have been furnished or an architect engaged. It will pay architects to give this matter immediate attention.

The new theatre which is talked about in theatrical circles is yet in an embryonic state. Some persons predict that it is the old Brotherton story revived and that he will be at the head of it, and others contend that Nixon & Zimmerman will build. There has also been some talk of Fleishman of the Walnut erecting a handsome play house, but as he has secured a five years lease on his present place he will no doubt make alterations there.

In Memory of the Architect.

On either side of the entrance to the law library in the New Allegheny County Court House, the County Commissioners have had inscribed in granite on the left of the main entrance "In memory of Henry Hobson Richardson, 1838, architect 1886," and on the right, "Genius and training made him master in his profession. Although he died in the prime of life he left to his country many monuments of art, foremost among them, this temple of justice." It will be remembered that Mr. Richardson after he made the plans and specifications and made arrangements to carry them into execution, died at his home in Massachusetts very suddenly. The work was prosecuted by his successors, and to-day stands for untold years the monument, greatest of his age. It is fitting indeed and the whole county accord in the action of Commissioners in this wise commemoration.—Pittsburgh Builder's Gazette.

PROPOSALS.

SEALED PROPOSALS WILL BE RECEIVED at the office of the Supervising Architect, Treasury Department, Washington, D. C., until 2 o'clock P. M. on the 9th day of October, 1888, for the labor and materials required in the erection of the basement area walls, first floor beams, etc., of the U. S. Court-house, Post-office, etc., at Los Angeles, Cal., in accordance with the specifications and drawings, copies of which may be seen at this office; the office of the Superintendent; the Builders' Exchanges at Milwaukee, Wis., Oakland, Cal., and San Francisco, Cal.; the Builders' and Traders' Exchange at Chicago, Ill., Denver, Col., Kansas City, Mo., and Louisville, Ky. Each bid must be accompanied by a certified check for $200. The Supervising Architect will furnish copies of the specification and drawings at $2.00 a set, upon receipt of that sum in Post-office Money Order, drawn to the order of the Treasurer of the United States. Only a limited number of sets are for sale.

AN IMPORTANT SALE OF ### REAL ESTATE AT AUCTION.

Messrs. Davis & Harvey, the popular real estate auctioneers, 1212 Chestnut street, will offer on the 15th instant a number of business properties and stores and dwellings belonging to the estate of Charles Gouldy, deceased. The sale will be peremptory, and is particularly important to investors, as it includes the valuable warehouse property at the S. W. corner of Front and Vine streets, and very desirable stores and dwellings in the Seventh Ward, and a number of small dwelling houses in the 26th Ward. Particulars can be found in their advertisement, in another column of this journal.

Summary of Last Issue.

The number of permits reported in our issue of October 1st was 82 representing 221 improvements. The transfers of property numbered 272 amounting to $1,206,481.17, of which $934,920.50 was the cash consideration and $271,560.67 the mortgage consideration. The ground rents amounted to $7807. The sales at auction amounted to $54,785 with no incumbrances, Thomas & Sons and Ellis & Shaw only holding sales.

PHILADELPHIA, MONDAY, OCT. 8, 1888.

THE volume of building done last month when compared with September of 1877, is less than fifty per cent. greater, as the figures will show. In September of last year the operations numbered 570, not including alterations and additions; while, for September of 1888, there were 867 operations, not including the same. The number of two-story houses built last month exceeds September of 1877 by 262, and the three story houses show only a difference of one in favor of this year. There has been no decrease in the operations in September of this year, as compared with August.

SOME Foreign and American Architectural Journals are unjust to the architects in asserting that much of their work is a bungling hit or miss style. In no age of the world has as rapid progress been made as during the last ten or twenty years in the realm of architecture. Of course high ideas of art and architecture has to take a back seat for the economies and utilities of the age. Sentimental architecture has a poor showing. Architects are employed to obtain the greatest result out of a given capital, a given quantity of material and a given space of ground.

THE local lumber trade is as active as usual at this season. Large supplies from the south and west are coming forward constantly. Prices rule firm especially for well seasoned stuff. Flooring is in good demand. Builders have been large and steady buyers all the season. Large supplies of yellow and white pine are arriving from southern ports. Retailers are stocking up for the winter, and wholesalers are contracting for sufficient supplies to keep them safe well into the winter. Cedar, Cypress and pine from the south are meeting with favor here. White pine arrivals continue large in view of the possibility of the advance in freight rates. Planing mills in the west have been accumulating stocks of sash, doors and blinds.

Will a rise of prices and values follow the election? Wheat, corn and cotton are strong. Trade combinations have production in many directions under control. Our markets are expanding through natural causes. Productive capacity has been checked for a year, stocks are consequently light. These are a few of the salient features of the situation. Anthracite coal and most kinds of iron and steel have advanced. Building material for the most part is steady and unchanged. Hardware is quiet. Manufacturers as a rule are too anxious to secure business for the winter to put up prices except where an advance cannot be avoided. Productive capacity is even now, far beyond present consumptive requirements. For these reasons it would appear safe to say there will be no rise in values after election.

But there is another phase to the inquiry and it would be well for business men to keep it in mind. Railroad building may suddenly revive on a large scale. The large crops of cereals and cotton, the increasing traffic, the upward tendency in prices, all point to the possibility of an enlarged demand. The energies of the people have been restrained. The enterprise of the nation is impatient. New schemes are straining to escape from the prudent hands that control them. Scores and hundreds of enterprises await most impatiently the word "go." There is money ready as well. Business men feel that a general expansion of trade is not far off. Good crops and better prices make farmers feel joyous. Jobbers in Eastern cities await the termination of the unsettling political campaign which without sound reason deters investments and purchasers that good judgment otherwise sanctions.

PHILADELPHIA, MONDAY, OCTOBER 15, 1888.

PRICE 15 CENTS

Summary of Last Issue.

The number of permits reported in our issue of October 8th was 87 representing 206 improvements. The transfers of property numbered 333, amounting to $1,311,540.05, of which $1,015,220.30 was the cash consideration and $296,319.75 the mortgage consideration. The ground rents amounted to $6,681. The auction sales aggregated $96,855, with an encumbrance of $5,545.

Exchange Notes.

On October 10th a special meeting of the Master Builders Exchange was held to consider the following resolution, together with other business:

"At a conference meeting of the Board of Directors and the committee on Seventh street property, held on October 2d, it was, Resolved, FIRST, That we recommend to the corporation that the rear building be taken down and rebuilt from four to six stories high, in a suitable manner for a meeting room and offices, and that plans be obtained for the same."

The matter was referred to a committee who were instructed to procure plans and estimates for the addition. Some of the members are in favor of erecting a new building with a large number of offices, so as to concentrate their business.

The interest on the Bonds of the Exchange are now due and payable at the Real Estate Title & Trust Company, at Tenth and Chestnut streets.—Joseph H. Collins of the firm of Joseph H. Collins & Sons, died October 10th.—Applications have been received for membership from the following firms: Joseph F. Kerbaugh and A. R. McHenry.

Adamant.

The new cheap and only substitute for common wall paper is a cement or artificial stone, placed in this market by the enterprising firm of Culver, Allen & Co., 212 South Tenth street, where estimates and samples may be obtained. This new production possesses the properties of adhesive solidity and durability, specially among its many claims of superiority. It is as hard as marble and will last without even cracking as long as the building stands.

The small proportion of water used in the mixing of this plaster does not evaporate or permeate the wood work by reason of its use in crystallizing the material.

Painters give it preference on account of its smooth surface and fast color. In a sanitary point of view it has no equal, much less superior, as it absorbs neither gases nor germs of disease and is proof against dampness. It needs only to be tried to be appreciated, as already shown by its fast growing demand. Among the many contracts filled by this firm may be mentioned the Scranton Insane Asylum, Dickinson Seminary, Williamsport, Paxinos Inn, Easton Pa., and St. Meinrods Abbey and College, Indiana.

Through Delaware.

At Milford, Kent Co., Wm. A. Deputy has bought a tract of land in the eastern suburbs of South Milford, and will erect a residence.

At Hudson, Middlesex Co., Mass., the Rubber Webbing Manufacturing Co. will erect a brick building 36 x 50 ft., two-stories high.

At Hopedale, Worcester Co., Mass., the Draper Machine Shops will add a brick extension to their works, 110 x 50 ft., three-stories high.

At Syracuse, N. Y., Moore & Lynch will erect a $200,000 theatre from plans prepared by J. B. McElfatrick & Son, No. 23 E. Fourteenth street, New York city.

At Triadelphia, Ohio Co., West Virginia, a two-story brick school building, to cost $5,400 has been let to J. A. Holliday & son, of Wheeling, W. Va.

At Norwich, Chenango Co., N. Y., Thomas O'Connor will erect a store and hotel building of brick and stone, three-stories high, 65 x 95 ft. M. H. Hubbard, of Utica, is the architect.

At Syracuse, Onondaga Co., N. Y., a new theatre to cost $200,000 is to be erected from plans made by J. B. McElfatrick & Son, 23 E. 14th street, New York city, Moore & Lynch, owners.

At Rehoboth City, Sussex Co., negotiations are in progress between Captain Lewis Tredenick, owner of the tract at Rehoboth Beach, lying between the Bright House and the Douglass House, and Brainerd Worner, a real estate broker of Washington, D. C., for the sale of this tract, on which will be erected buildings suitable for a gunning resort.

At Wilmington, the committees of Finance and Law have reported favorably on the petition of the water committee for authority to issue $4,500 in bonds for the improvement of the Water Department; plans have been prepared by E. L. Rice for a new residence and drug store for Dr. J. C. Fahey. The building will be three stories high, of red brick with red mortar, and the size of building 20 x 75 feet.

At Wilmington, the need of a moderate sized music hall is much felt, and some of the citizens are casting about for a suitable site. The rink at Eleventh and Washington streets, also the one at Eleventh and Madison, and the Second Baptist church building, Fourth and Madison streets have been suggested, but the feeling is that a more suitable site than any of these can be found at a slight increase of cost. George W. Stone and N. R. Benson, Jr., are among those who favor the project.

Recent Decisions.

IN RELATION TO MATTERS CONCERNING REAL ESTATE AND COMMERCIAL LAW.

Decided by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania.

COLLATERAL INHERITANCE TAX.—Where a deed to the grantor's sister is not delivered until after the grantor's death, the real estate conveyed is subject to the collateral inheritance tax. Davenport's Appeal, May 21, 1888.

COVENANT.—Where a contract to do stipulated work is part of the consideration for the purchase of land, the right to pay in this manner is regarded as a privilege which is lost by failure to perform according to the terms of the contract, and in that event a liability arises to pay in money.

Upon a conveyance in consideration of a sum of money and a covenant by the grantee to erect a house on the land within a year, and make certain improvements on the property of the grantor, and the non-performance of the covenant followed more than a year afterwards by the death of the grantee, the grantor is entitled to damages for the breach.

The measure of the damages for the failure to make the improvements is the cost of having the work done by competent workmen, including cost of superintendence, with interest from the date of breach. McDaniel's Appeal, Feb. 6th, 1888.

HUSBAND AND WIFE.—Where a married woman purchases land, paying for it partly with cash from her separate estate and partly with notes which are afterwards collected by executors, levied from time to time upon her property, the fact that her insolvent husband lives with her on the land and farms it as her agent does not render it subject to execution and sale at the suit of her husband's creditors.

The earnings of the farm belong to the wife. Tate v. Carney, May 21, 1888.

LANDLORD AND TENANT.—After the death of the tenant named in a written lease, the lessor instituted, before a justice of the peace, a summary proceeding under the landlord and tenant act of 1853, to recover possession of the premises against the administratrix of the deceased tenant, who was also his widow.

On the trial of the case on appeal, the defendant was permitted to introduce evidence tending to show that she was not in possession as administratrix or as widow of the deceased tenant or under his lease, but was in possession in her own right under a third party, who had a bona fide claim of title (although not an actual valid and unimpeachable title) to the premises. A judgment in favor of the defendant, based upon such evidence, was affirmed on appeal to the Supreme Court. Defenderer v. Caffrey, May 14, 1888.

All above cases but the last can be found in 13 Cent. Rep. The last case is in 12 Cent. Reports. F. R. SHATTUCK, Attorney-at-Law, 58 S. Third st.

PHILADELPHIA, MONDAY, OCT. 15, 1888

By a typographical error in our issue of October 8th, in the editorial comparing September of this year with that of the year previous, was made to read 1877 instead of 1887.

If the way railroad companies are giving out car building orders is any sign of better times, there are some prospects for them.

♦♦♦♦♦
THERE is scarcely any grounds for the statement occasionally made in real estate circles that there will be a general advance in real estate next spring.

♦♦♦♦♦
MANUFACTURERS of brickmaking machinery East and West, are quite busy on orders for this winter's delivery. Tool manufacturers, especially for the building trades, are busy and sales are large. Hardware dealers are carrying large stocks.

THOSE who keep a close watch on the labor movement in the United States, need not be told that the next general movement will be for a reduction of the hours of labor where they are now ten hours to nine hours. The effort will be made on a grander scale than ever before attempted, probably about Apl. 1st, 1890.

THERE is going to be a jolly fight over the location of the Miners' Hospitals. Great opposition has already presented itself as to Mercer, Mercer county. New Castle has already appointed a committee to protest to Governor Beaver against its confirmation, and now Senator George W. Hood, of Indiana, Indiana Co., has filed an application with Governor Beaver for an opportunity to be heard in opposition to the locations selected by the commission.

Architects' Notes.

T. P. Lonsdale, 427 Walnut street, wishes estimates for a complete steam heating plant for the Methodist Hospital.

John J. Deery will receive bids until Wednesday the 17th inst., for the alteration and addition to Immanuel Church at Twenty-third and Sumner streets.

A. J. Boyden, 411 Walnut street, is getting out plans for ten houses at Haverford College Station, of brick, stone, plaster and shingle of modern style.

Angus S. Wade, 20 South Broad street, has a two and a half story brick and frame house for R. Manley Miller, to be located at Lansdowne. The cost will be about $4000, no contracts have been let.

Benjamin Linfoot has been awarded the plans for the hospital at Hazleton, before reported, the contracts for the foundation only have been let, those for the superstructure will be awarded in the Spring. The building will cost about $60,000.

W. S. Fraser, Penn avenue and Seventh street, Pittsburg, Pa., is the architect for eight tin roof, stone and brick stores, to be 30x120 feet, and to be erected on Fifth avenue, Pittsburg, to cost $39,000. C. A. Balph has the contract.

J. P. Bailey 53 and 55 Ninth street, Pittsburg, Pa., is the architect of the M. E. Church to be erected on South Main street, that place, it is to be built of stone, slate roof, will be 80x127 feet and will cost $29,000, Frazier Bros., contractors.

T. R. Williamson, 136 South Fourth street, commenced recently on a local stone house two story and rooms in the roof. This house is to be built in good substantial style and is 49x70 feet. Mr. Williamson has several contracts under way but not sufficiently advanced to speak of.

Newton H. Culver, 901 Walnut street, has made the plans for a house for R. Rowley Baker, to be erected at Bradford Hills. The construction is to be frame in Colonial style. Also two houses at Wayne for George Fallon, one house is frame, 35x40 feet, the other is half stone and frame, 44x50 feet.—W. Bigler Miller will build a stone and frame stable at Devon.

Hazlehurst & Huckel, 410 Walnut street, have completed the drawings for a large stone house to be located on the corner of School Lane and Township Lane, Germantown, on the old Ketterlinus place. The building will be 45x65 feet. The contract will be awarded to-day. The Market house at Kensington avenue and Cumberland street is under way.

Shepley, Rutan & Coolidge, Boston, Mass., are the architects for the Masonic Hall, before reported, to be erected on Fifth avenue, Pittsburg, Pa., for which a building permit was issued on the 1st inst. Mr. Coolidge is the resident architect at Pittsburg. The building is to be fire proof and is to cost $130,000. C. A. Balph has the contract.

J. C. Worthington, 1305 Arch street, is now working on the plans for a three story stone country house which will be built in the Spring. The building will be long and low and cost

$8,000. The lighting apparatus has not yet been decided upon. Hot water will be used in heating. Mr. Worthington is also making the alterations to Henry Gautschi's store, 1030 Chestnut street.

Albert W. Dilks, 1001 Chestnut street, is now working on the drawings for a three story frame house for Dr. Thomas G. Morton, which is to be located at Strafford. It is to be used as a summer residence and will be furnished with open grates, electric lights together with other modern conveniences. No contracts have been let. Mr. Dilks is also about to build twelve brick semi-detached houses at Media for F. M. & H. Brooke.

T. Frank Miller, 615 Walnut street, has a house at Bryn Mahr on Montgomery avenue, for W. P. Goff. It will be of stone and the dimensions are 45x60 feet. No contracts have been let as the work is being done by the day. Also a town hall and post office building at Folsom, the construction of which will be of stone and frame. There will be provision made for a store, society rooms and lecture room beside the post office. No contracts have been let. D. C. Murtha, who will build at Twenty-second and Tioga streets, no contracts have been let excepting for the carpenter work.

I. H. Hobbs & Son, 520 Walnut street has prepared the drawings for fifteen small workmen's cottages at Heidelberg, Pa., in the vicinity of Wilkesbarre, and expects to build as many more next Spring, also a large cigar factory. These houses will be built on contract particulars can be had of H. E. Klein of this city.—Mr. Burns of this city has completed the plans for a cathedral building at Sioux Falls, Dakota, the building will be started shortly and the contracts have not yet been given out, it will have 500 sittings and will be built of local Jasper and pipe stone, and will have a tower 114 feet high with nave and chancel. There is also a chapter house, bishop's office and Sunday school attached, it is to be heated with steam, and all modern improvements will be introduced. Information can be had from Cross & Richards at Sioux Falls, who will be superintendent of the work.

Building & Real Estate Notes.

The Real Estate Title Trust and Insurance Company made searches on the property located at the northwest corner of Sixth and Walnut streets. They returned the searches to S. Kingston McKay, the conveyancer, they showing a mortgage of $5000, and as the property in question was known to be clear, investigations were at once instituted when the discovery was made that a fraudulent mortgage had been given. It had been recorded in the Recorder of Deed's office and was dated July 9, 1870, given by Zopher C. Roberts of Montgomery Co., Pa., to Joseph Neil of Pennsylvania, on a lot of ground and improvements located on the north side of Walnut street, 42 feet west of Sixth street, having a frontage on Walnut street of 32 feet and extending 120 feet northward and bounded on the west by Swanwick street, the description being an impossibility. Mr. McKay will institute proceedings in Court to have the bogus mortgage annulled the holder will make no defense. The swindler who perpetrated this outrage cannot be found.

A SUPERIOR SUBSTITUTE FOR COMMON PLASTER.

233 AND 235 NORTH 23d STREET, PHILADELPHIA, PA.

BUILDERS' EXCHANGE. PITTSBURG, PA.

ADAMANT is a cement or artificial stone, capable of resisting all ordinary casualties so disastrous to common Plaster.

ADAMANT adheres firmly to lath, brick, stone or iron, lasting as long as the building without even cracking.

ADAMANT is lighter than lime-plaster; it does not shrink, and is impermeable to noxious gases or disease germs.

ADAMANT is valuable for setting tiles and slabs because of its remarkable adhesive properties.

ADAMANT is cooler in summer and warmer in winter.

ADAMANT excludes all dampness.

ADAMANT is fire-proof.

ADAMANT saves time and expense, as carpenters can follow plasterers in twelve hours and need not move out while the plastering is going on.

ADAMANT is preferred by painters on account of its smooth surface, and not possessing any ingredient to damage the color, as in lime-mortar.

Proprietor of Phila. "Record."

PHILADELPHIA, MONDAY, OCT. 22, 1888

For the convenience of members of the Master Builders' Exchange, we have secured Box No. 6 at that place, where any communications for publication may be left.

LARGE sales of land in outlying localities continue to be made. Many recent purchases have been made in the northern sections of the city where land is still offered at what are regarded as reasonable prices. Real estate authorities whose expert opinions have been paid for, favor purchases of carefully selected land for future building sites in this section.

TWO years ago THE REAL ESTATE RECORD called attention to the fact that old properties in the business centre of the city on small streets could be probably purchased and built upon. This year the suggestion has been acted upon. A score or more of fine structures have been erected on such places, between Vine and Pine and Front and Broad. The sites were purchased at a low figure, and the old rookeries were torn down. There are still abundant opportunities left, and no doubt they will be seized.

WHEN the Northeastern elevated railroad scheme becomes an accomplished fact, it will have prepared the way for one or two other well formulated schemes for furnishing the people with needed additional rapid transit facilities. That rapid transit will be general in this city within five years, but few can doubt. The establishment of such facilities draws into the real estate market the many square miles of suburban property whose owners, many of them, have grown old in waiting for the swelling tide of population.

It is hard to understand why the materials which enter into the manufacture of window glass, most of which are imported, should not be placed on the free list. Window glass is of such general use that its cost should be as greatly reduced as possible. Free trade in raw building material could injure no one, and would reduce the cost of construction to the extent of the duty on the raw material used.

THE benefits of trade organizations are not always apparent on the surface, nor do they always early follow the act and fact of organization. It seldom happens that mere numerical strength brings advantages in commercial organizations. Time must elapse before benefits appear, and in the meantime members dropout or become indifferent and denounce business association as unprofitable, simply because their profits and their business sales have not increased. Trade organizations have another object and aim. The most permanent advantages are realized in and on the individual member. He is schooled and disciplined and broadened. He develops a feeling of liberality, and a comprehensiveness of intellect that is not always found among those who stand out from all organizations. Mere verbal or written rules and agreements go for little. Obedience to written rules do not bring or confer the advantages arrived at in organization no more than church going and acceptance of articles of faith constitute a true christian, if the comparison be allowable. There is too little patience, too much anxiety and haste to realize impossible results out of trade association. Instances could be cited right at home where interest in trade and business associations have subsided almost to the verge of disorganization, of course the rule of practical life is to measure the value of any act or cause by the results it brings. Judged by this standard some of our exchanges might as well never have been started. Judged by a higher, and at the same time very practical standard, these associations are deserving of support and recognition, not for the dollars or additional business they may bring, but for the educational and disciplinary influences they are calculated to exert when properly managed.

Summary of Last Issue.

The number of permits reported on our issue of October 15th was 74 representing 224 improvements. The transfers of property numbered 277, amounting to $1,506,236.66 of which $1,281,453.33, was the cash consideration and $224,783.33 the mortgage consideration. The ground rents amounted to $4807. The auction sales aggregated $71,075 with an incumbrance of $66.

Recent Decisions.

IN RELATION TO MATTERS CONCERNING REAL ESTATE AND COMMERCIAL LAW.

Decided by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania.

MORTGAGE.—One E., purchased and took a deed of a tract of land, in his own name; but on behalf of himself and two others, B. and H.—each being entitled to a one-third interest. E.—executed a purchase money mortgage on the land and thereafter paid off one-third of the mortgage debt, with his own money and received from the mortgagee, a release of an undivided one-third of the land. Thereafter the mortgagee sued out a scire facias on the mortgage, for the balance of the mortgage debt unpaid, expressly excepting the undivided one-third of the land which had been released to E.—and having obtained judgment, the undivided two-thirds were sold under levaiir facias. The purchaser at such sale, subsequently received from B. and H., deeds of the interest remaining in them. Held, that the release to E.—operated as a release of his individual one-third interest in the mortgaged land, and not as a release of one-third of each of the interests of the three tenants in common of the mortgaged land; that such interest was not affected by the sale under levaiir facias, but that such sale deprived B. and H.—of their entire interests in the land, the remaining undivided two-thirds, that consequently their subsequent deeds in fact conveyed no tangible interest and that the purchaser under the levaiir facias, acquired only a two-thirds interest in the land, leaving E.—the owner of the other one-third. Bank v Early, May 25, 1888.

Where the vendor of land who has entered into a contract for the sale thereof which provides for the payment of the purchase money in instalments, after receipt of a part of the purchase money assigns his interest in the land and in the unpaid purchase money, not as an absolute conveyance, but as a pledge or collateral security for a debt less than the unpaid purchase money, there is left in the vendor a resulting interest in the land, which interest can be subjected to the lien of a judgment and can be reached, as against a tenant, by scire facias to revive judgment. Kinports v Boynton, May 7, 1888.

F. R. SHATTUCK, Attorney-at-Law,
58 S. Third st.

Council Proceedings.

In the upper branch of Councils an ordinance was passed directing the Mayor to offer at public sale the lots of ground at Thirty third and South streets from Locust on the North and to the Schuylkill River, the sale to be subject to confirmation by Councils.

Among the more important ordinances from the lower Chamber, which were concurred in, was that providing for the widening of Walnut street between the two rivers equally on both sides from the old centre line to sixty feet. It provides that after the confirmation and establishment of such lines it shall be unlawful for any owner or builder to build, rebuild or alter the front of any building now erected without making it recede so as to conform to the line of sixty feet.

In Common Councils a number of ordinances were introduced among them was one by Mr. Weaver, to repave English street, between Buckley and Powell, Fifth Ward; by Mr. Hartman, for electric lights at Twenty-fourth and Locust and Quince, above Spruce; by Mr. Weidener, for electric lights at Front and Berks and Lehigh avenue and American street; by Mr. Martin, to authorize the Cumberland Methodist Episcopal Church to construct a frame building on Frankford avenue; by Mr. Ewell, for sewers in Newmarket street, between Poplar and Laurel, and on Otterstreet; between Germantown avenue and Hanrock street; by Mr. Klein, to repave with Belgian blocks Brown street, from Ninth to Broad; to repave with Belgian blocks East York street, from Tulip street to Trenton avenue; by Mr. Moore, to authorize the laying of a new and improved pavement on Thirty-ninth street, from Woodland avenue to Market street, and on Thirty-seventh, from Walnut to Chestnut; by Mr. Hartman, for a bridge over the Reading Railroad in the Twenty-fifth Ward.

These ordinances were passed: Transferring $12,300 from Gas Loan No. 9 to the Board of Education to pay for books and for salaries of additional teachers; appropriating $5635 to Public Works, Public Safety and District Attorney; appropriating $1800 to the purchase of a lot for a new school house on Fifteenth street, below Tioga, for grading in Mifflin, Eleventh, Thirteenth, Thirty-third, Seventeenth, Clearfield, Morris, Hamilton, Nineteenth, Adams, School, Upsal, Thirty-sixth, Philadelphia, Ontario, Twenty-second and Twenty-fifth streets and Mermind, Nedro, Champlort, Manayunk and Sedgely avenues.

Architects' Notes.

Amos J. Boyden, 411 Walnut street, is now receiving bids for the station and engine house to be erected in Manayunk.

Architect J. A. Wood, 153 Broadway, N. Y., has on exhibition plans for a seven story building to be erected by the Real Estate Association of Montgomery, Alabama, at that place, proposals will be received for the erection of this building until November 5th next.

T. P. Chandler, southeast corner of Fourth and Chestnut streets, has drawn the plans for the alterations and additions to be made to the ferry house at Kaighn's Point, Camden, several new offices, waiting rooms, etc., will be built. The work is to be finished by February 15, 1889.

Geissinger & Hales, northeast corner of Fifth and Chestnut streets, will erect four brick factory buildings, two stories high, with the following dimensions, 176x58, 41x125, 35x45 and 191x46 feet. They will be located on Glenwood avenue east of Fifth street.

Romulo Vasquez, Holmesburg, has the drawings under way for two story and a half brick houses after the Flemish order. The designs are original and entirely different from anything yet produced in that neighborhood. All the latest conveniences will be introduced. George T. Mills of that place is the owner.

Bickel & Brennan, 91 and 93 Fifth ave., Pittsburgh, Pa., are the architects for the St. Leo First Catholic Church at Woods Run, the new church is to be of brick with stone trimmings and slate roof, Rev. P. Kauffman is the pastor. Also architects for the Chataqua Lake Ice Company's new building, before reported, it is to be 100x125 feet and four stories high. The same firm have under way a building for the Fourteenth ward Police Patrol, to be located at the corner of Forbes and Boquet streets, Pittsburgh.

Frank R. Watson, 518 Walnut street, is now taking bids for the St. Stephen's Parochial School, before reported. These contracts are to be sub let.—F. Sum. C.—Summons in Case—A form of action invented to meet all civil cases, the form of which is not specially provided for.

Where there are no figures to indicate the amount of the judgt., the damages have not been assessed. The first name in each line is that of the judgment debtor.

An Asterisk (*) denotes judgment confessed or bond and warrant conditioned.

The figures 1, 2, 3 and 4 immediately after the name of the plaintiff indicate the number of the Court. The letters D, M. J. and S, after the number of the Court indicate the Term, as D., December, Term, M., March Term, J., June Term, and S., September Term.

Summary of Last Issue.

The number of permits reported in our issue of October 22nd was 80, representing 235 improvements. The transfers of property numbered 305, amounting to $1,097,723.89 of which $843,258.98 was the cash consideration, and $254,465 the mortgage consideration. The ground rents amounted to $14,235. The sales at public auction aggregated $165,540, with an incumbance of $12,193.

Recent Decisions.

IN RELATION TO MATTERS CONCERNING REAL ESTATE AND COMMERCIAL LAW.

Decided by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania.

VENDOR AND PURCHASER.—The interest which remains in the vendor of land under an unexecuted contract of sale, can be subjected to the lien of a judgment so long as the contract is unexecuted and to the extent that it may be unexecuted.

MECHANICS' LIEN.—Lumber furnished for the erection of the boiler house, filter house, barrel house, tank house, pump house, tool house, etc., of an Oil Refinery, is a proper subject for a mechanics' lien. Parol evidence is admissible to show the credit on which materials were furnished for the erection of a building. It was contended that the structures were not buildings, being without doors and windows, and were nothing but sheds; but the Court held, that if the structures were sufficiently substantial for the purpose for which they were erected, they were buildings within the meaning of the Act of Assembly. Short v Miller, May 21, 1888.

ADVERSE POSSESSION.—A purchaser of land under a judicial sale holds adversely, and, where there is no allegation of fraud or force, is not estopped from defending his title by any means which tends to defeat the claim, even of a purchaser. At a subsequent judicial sale of a title superior to his own. Such purchasers at different sales are strangers and adverse claimants to the same property under conflicting titles, and the doctrine of estoppel is not applicable to them.

Any one holding by such adverse possession can convey a good title to chattels severed from the land, and his bailee is not liable in damages to the lawful owner of the land. Transit Co. v Weston, April 30, 1888.

CONSEQUENTIAL DAMAGES.—A mortgagee out of possession has no standing to bring an action against a railroad company for consequential damages to the property against which he holds the mortgage, after the mortgagee has had a bona fide settlement with the company for all damages; especially is this so in a case where the mortgagee has made no attempt to collect his debt and it appears that the balance due on the mortgage is abundantly secured by the property in its condition after the construction of the railroad. Knoll v Railroad April 25, 1888.

MORTGAGE.—Where a mortgage is recorded, and several judgments entered against the mortgagor on the same day, a subsequent sale discharges the mortgage, as it is not "prior to all other liens, except other mortgages, ground rents, and purchase money due the Commonwealth."

And this is the case even where the amount due upon the mortgage is impossible of computation, Richey's Appeal, April 26, 1888.

PHILADELPHIA, MONDAY, OCT. 22, 1888

For the convenience of members of the Master Builders' Exchange, we have secured Box No. 6 at that place, where any communications for publication may be left.

If Wiedener and Elkins ever get a hold on Heaven it's an open question if a revised edition of Paradise Lost will not be needed to explain subsequent consequences.

If some of the election boodles which has been taken to New York could have remained at home and been expended in city improvements it would have helped greatly in relieving the people of this city of the solution of that enigmatical problem of better water and better street pavements, individual patriotism seldom runs in that direction however.

WHILE many of the improvements in our city may be termed magnificent, we think some of the huge structures are not as well located as they might be. Some of our public squares, such as Independence, Washington, and others should not be overlooked, by the capitalists who wishes his fine building to be seen to the best advantage. A lofty and magnificent structure demands some distance to secure a good vista. Our capitalists and architects should give this suggestion their earnest attention.

THE problem of a cheap and serviceable road way is still unsettled. The various processes of street pavement in use possess defects, greater or smaller, but sufficient to prevent the adoption of any one of them. Fire brick answers well but is too costly. So of asphaltum. So of ground granite or other material. Manufactured material of any kind, is at present cost, beyond the possibility of general use. Who can hit upon the proper material and method of using it.

THERE has been more brick sidewalk relaid this fall than usual. Some how Philadelphia property owners hang to the traditional brick for sidewalk purposes with a tenacity remarkable for its stupidity if for nothing else. Councils should take this matter in hand, and by an ordinance prohibit the use of bricks for this purpose. It is about time this town discarded its village clothes and adopted new methods and new material for pavement purposes. Competition has placed patent stone pavements at about the same price as brick with a great difference in favor of the latter as to the safety and comfort of the pedestrian and the appearance of the premises.

ARE we in danger of over doing office building? Not yet. Nearly every office has been rented in the Drexel building. Only a few are left in the Real Estate Title and Security building. In several smaller office buildings all but a few of comparatively undesirable offices have been taken. Quarters in some of the new buildings have been spoken for six months in advance. None of the companies erecting these structures entertain any apprehension as to the quick disposal of all their rooms. The older buildings do not seem to have suffered. New tenants are found for vacated offices. It is probable that a downward tendency in office rents may be shown in time in the older buildings, but thus far the demand for new as well as old quarters seems to be equal to the supply.

THE put call and system established at the Real Estate Exchange has been in operation just one week, and during that time it has showed evidences of great success. At a meeting held some time ago, the question of introducing such a system was talked about, and at the suggestion of the president the matter was placed in the hands of a committee for thirty days in order to see just what was needed. At the expiration of the thirty days a report will be made and properly disposed of by the Exchange.

The first fruits born to this off-shoot of a vigorous plant came in the shape of at least half a dozen sales that would not have been made, otherwise, as no one would have known that such properties were for sale. By a wise provision, it is necessary for either an owner or representative to be present when the "offer" is made known, and as the hours for selling in this manner, are fixed and regular, from eleven until twelve o'clock each day, those who wish to purchase or sell are brought together and sales completed.

A printed list is furnished daily of all "offers" and "wants"; also the sales that have been made. The attendance has been on the increase daily, and much interest is expressed by all of the members of the Exchange.

A STUDY of real estate transfers from month to month reveals the encouraging fact that considerable business is done in behalf of parties contemplating manufactory buildings and house buildings. Instructions are now held by a number of agents and operators to secure, when possible, and under the most favorable circumstances, plots of ground for small lots up to five and ten acre tracts. The manufacturing interests of Philadelphia herewith intend to expand and buyers of real estate are evidently convinced that prices will not go backward.

NOTWITHSTANDING the recent fire which destroyed the works of the Adamant Plaster Co., at Syracuse, N. Y., the company is equal to the emergency. All orders are filled as promptly as heretofore, and the business of the company has not been interrupted in the least. In our reference to Adamant in our last issue, we inadvertently called it a substitute for common wall paper. It should have read common wall plaster, etc.

THE city of New York spends on its schools about $5,000,000 a year. Philadelphia spends less than $2,000,000, Boston more than Philadelphia, but still less than $2,000,000, and Baltimore three-quarters of a million. The cost of each child's teaching in a year in New York is about $31, in Boston $26, in Baltimore about $18, in Philadelphia about $17.—Exch.

THE water supply of various European capitals affords some interesting facts, not the least notable of which is that Rome heads the list with her 204,000,000 litres of pure water—a litre being a little more than one and three-fourth pints—every twenty-four hours, and, as her population is 345,036, every inhabitant can thus dispose of nearly 600 litres per day. London comes next, for every one of whose population 4,000,000 there are 300 litres daily. Paris takes the third place, her population amounting to 2,240,124, and each inhabitant having for alimentary purposes 58 litres per day, and her secondary uses 167, or a total of 227. Berlin has 1,302,283 inhabitants, for each of whom there are 140 litres daily.

Architects' Notes.

Wilson Brothers, Drexel Building, have finished plans for a house for Mr. Kennedy, to be located at Bradford Hills.

Architects are invited by A. A. Denny, Seattle (P. O. Town), King Co., Washington Territory, to prepare competitive plans for a $200,000 Hotel to contain 250 rooms.

Paul Brandner, 532 Walnut Street, is now working on drawings for a business block of brick houses, to be located at the south-east corner of South Carolina and Atlantic avenues, Atlantic City, N. J. There will be three stores and a hall, Adams Express Company occupying the corner store, contracts are to be sub let. George F. Currier, President of the 2d National Bank, this City is the owner.

M. B. Bean, of Lansdale, Montgomery Co., Pa., sends the following: Plans just finished for a new residence for Lewis Keller, at Bedminsterville, Pa. The material will be brick, slate roof, slate mantels, open stairway, and will be heated with steam. The work will be done by the day. House to be built next spring; no contracts let. Also plans completed for a Young Women's Christian Association building at Ambler, Pa. This building will be built of stone to the second-story, the other stories frame, and will contain reading-room, game-room, library and store on first-floor, kitchen and laundry in basement, large hall for entertainments on second-floor, with office rooms, bed-rooms and toilet rooms on third-floor. Sanitary plumbing and warm air furnace will be used. Open fire-places in reading and game rooms and in library. Specifications will be out in a week; also sketches for three different cottages at Penlynn, Pa., for Harry G. Keasby, to be erected next spring. Also residence for M. Scheliger, D.D., at Fort Washington, Pa.; material will be frame with slate roof, warm-air furnace and open grates, improved plumbing and other conveniences. Will cost about $3,000; to be built in the spring, plans will be ready in three weeks. Also have furnished E. M. Daniels, the builder, plans for three brick houses at Norristown, Pa. They will have all modern improvements. These houses will be sold and others built. Also house at Schwenkville, Pa., for Mr. Albert Brumer. Will be heated by steam. Also plans for stable for John Ruth.

Through Delaware.

At Wilmington, the loss from the burning of the Academy of Music is estimated at about $15,000 to $20,000. No plans have been made yet towards rebuilding.—George G. Lobdell will shortly begin the erection of a handsome residence from plans prepared by E. L. Rice Jr., of same place. The walls of the house will be of red brick laid in dark mortar, above the second story the work will be frame, covered with sheathing paper and sheathed with boards inside and out, the outside being covered with retent metallic shingles. The hot water system of heating will probably be used. The beauty of the building will be further enhanced by a number of cathedral glass windows.—The Cold Spring Ice Co., is tearing down two of its ice houses, which will be rebuilt at once.—Ground has been broken for the new Sunday School rooms of the Olivet Presbyterian Church, J. M. Collins & Bro. have the contract for the building, and Joseph W. Pyle for the brick work.—The warehouses of C. W. Kennedy & Co., 719 Market street will be enlarged, work on the extension will begin at once.—Plans have been made by Lewis R. Springer for converting the old Wesleyan College, recently purchased by Samuel Johnson of Philadelphia, into a first class Hotel. The contracts have not been awarded.

Through New Jersey.

At Bridgeton, Cumberland Co., a new City Hall will be erected.

At Berlin, Camden Co., Wm. Conger has begun work on the new School House at Chesilhurst.

At Ocean Beach, Monmouth Co., a cottage will be erected by Wm. Thegan of 423 North Fourth street, Camden.

At Pennsgrove, Salem Co., a lot has been bought by Miss Lillie Pierce, on which she will erect a double residence.

At Alloway, Salem Co., John W. Dunham will use steam power in his new meat packing building.

At Long Branch, Phil. Daly the well known sportsman, and a number of prominent turfmen have filed a deed for a race track one mile nearer Long Branch than the Monmouth track.

At Newark, the firm now engaged at this place in the manufacture of paper peach baskets are looking for a site at Chestertown, Kent Co., Md., on which to erect a factory.

At Pedricktown, Salem Co., the German Baptist Society will erect a new church. The ground has been purchased from Mr. George Pedrick who can give information.

At Jersey City the corner stone for the new St. Vincent Academy building has been laid.—At this place the corner stone of the new St. Ann's Roman Catholic Church has been laid.

At Camden, Reuben Cole has begun the erection of a three story extension to the oil cloth factory of R. H. & B. C. Reeves.—City Solicitor Morgan is to draw an ordinance for the establishment of a park, the land to be paid for by the issuance of $200,000 of bonds.

At Jersey City, L. H. Broome, 47 Montgomery street, has completed plans for a four story Galvanized iron front, flat and stores for Jacob Ringle at a cost of $25,000; also plans for a four story brick and iron front store for Mrs. Lena Mayer of 64 Newark ave to cost $11,000; also house for Dr. Jas. Wilkinson to cost $11,000.—Plans are being drawn in competition for Geo. R. McKenzie, President of the Singer Sewing Machine Company for a five-story brick and stone flat to cost $75,000.

At Atlantic City, Frank A. Souders has the contract to raise and to add another story under the Children's Seashore Home, also to add a three-story building 25 x 30 ft; also a store-room on Missouri avenue, for John French, of Hammonont, Atlantic Co. James Urian is erecting a cottage on Massachusetts avenue. George Allen, Jr., is making improvements on his Maryland avenue cottages. A movement is under way to boom the upper end of the town, and the probability is that a handsome sun parlor will be erected at the end of Massachusetts or Connecticut avenues. At a meeting of the City Council on October 25, on motion of Mr. Frambes, the Committee of Public Improvements, was instructed to advertise the following:

Proposals: Bids will be received at the meeting of City Council, at Atlantic City, Monday, November 5th, 1888, at 7.30 o'clock, for the building of addition to the United States Engine House, also for the building of a store shed for the scrapers, watering carts and like property of the city to be built adjoining addition to the United States Engine House.

The bidder must state the price for each building separate. City Council reserve the right to reject any or all bids. Plans may be seen at City Clerks office.

Sum. C.—Summons in Case.—A form of action invented to meet all civil cases, the form of which is not specially provided for.

Where there are no figures to indicate the amount of the judgment, the damages have not been assessed.

The first name in each line is that of the judgment debtor.

An Asterisk (*) denotes judgment confessed or bond and warrant conditioned.

The figures 1, 2, 3 and 4 immediately after the name of the plaintiff indicate the number of the Court. The letters D, M, J. and S, after the number of the Court indicate the Term, as D., December Term, M., March Term, J., June Term, and S., September Term.

ENTERED OCTOBER 20, 1888.

—MANUFACTURERS OF—

ADAMANT WALL PLASTER

A SUPERIOR SUBSTITUTE FOR COMMON PLASTER

233 AND 235 NORTH 23d STREET, PHILADELPHIA, PA.

BUILDERS' EXCHANGE, PITTSBURG, PA.

ADAMANT is a cement or artificial stone, capable of resisting all ordinary casualties so disastrous to common Plaster.

ADAMANT adheres firmly to lath, brick, stone or iron, lasting as long as the building without even cracking.

ADAMANT is lighter than lime-plaster; it does not shrink, and is impermeable to noxious gases or disease germs.

ADAMANT is valuable for setting tiles and slabs because of its remarkable adhesive properties.

ADAMANT is cooler in summer and warmer in winter.

ADAMANT excludes all dampness.

ADAMANT is fire-proof.

ADAMANT saves time and expense, as carpenters can follow plasterers in twelve hours and need not move out while the plastering is going on.

ADAMANT is preferred by painters on account of its smooth surface, and not possessing any ingredient to damage the color, as in lime-mortar.

PHILADELPHIA, MONDAY, NOV. 5, 1888

For the convenience of members of the Master Builders' Exchange, we have secured Box No. 6 at that place, where any communications for publication may be left.

It is not in the least creditable to our municipal government that there is no practical method of obtaining authentic and reliable information concerning the cost of the thousands of new buildings that are yearly erected in this city, and which in course of time are made to yield a revenue thereto. This much cannot be said of any other large city in the United States outside of Pennsylvania; in every case the law requires that the estimated cost of the operation must be given under oath at the time the permit is granted, this information, together with the name of the owner, the architect, if there be one; and the name of the builder if the contract has been let must be specifically stated. Such a law is necessary in this State, for under the present law such an important matter as statistics representing the internal growth of the great Keystone State becomes a question of guessing only, notwithstanding, the tireless efforts of the statistician aided by the opinions and counsel of architects and builders of large experience. It is simply impossible for a person unacquainted with the work to fully comprehend the labor involved and the difficulties to be surmounted before even our own meagre tables can be submitted. Complaints are constantly made to us by the business men of this city, of the serious deficiency of information arising out of our incomplete laws under which building permits are granted, and comparisons are made with New York, Chicago, and even small western cities not in the least favorable to Philadelphia.

WHY could not the members of the Grand Army of the Republic in Philadelphia and of the State of Pennsylvania put their heads together and erect in this city a grand G. A. R. Headquarters? True the old soldiers will in a few years be in their long homes, but such a structure would do more to commemorate their lives and services than white marble piles on distant battle fields.

The Traction Company seems to perpetrate its petty five cent swindle with impunity. It is about time the question was tried in the courts. If a peanut vendor ventured to try it on, he would soon find some minion of the law at his elbow. The carrying of passengers is one thing, but the robbing of passengers it cannot carry through its inefficiency is another. It seems that our Bullitt Bill Mayor and our Director of Public Safety ought to be cognizant of the fact that the Traction Company is not carrying out its contract with the people.

BUILDERS in the interior of the State report that the past season has been fully up to the season of 1887. Small factories and shops have been built all over the State on lines of road near sources of fuel supply. Saw and planing mills, machine shops, boiler and engine shops, tool works, and a multitude of small manufacturing establishments have been erected out of the earnings of small manufacturers who have accumulated the most of their wealth since 1880. Country builders think that there will be considerable of this kind of work next year.

The petition to councils, from the residents of West Philadelphia, asking that the almshouse ground be used at some future time as a park, is a good one and deserves consideration. While we have one of the largest and the finest parks in the world, there is a want even it does not meet, its distance from many points making it unavailable to many who have neither the time nor the money to go such a distance for the sake of breathing room.

THE new building of granite and brick with oak furniture and trimmings, into which J. M. Erickson & Co. the West Phila. Real Estate Brokers have lately moved is an ornamental addition to the architecture of the business offices of the 27th Ward, and a standing monument to indomitable perseverance, strict integrity and well merited success. Starting alone in 1880, Mr. Erickson found business increased so as to necessitate aid in its proper management, and uniting with Mr. J. A. Kniest in 1888 formed the partnership which ranks second to none in that vicinity in their particular line.

Recent Decisions.

IN RELATION TO MATTERS CONCERNING REAL ESTATE AND COMMERCIAL LAW.

Decided by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania.

COMMISSION BROKERS.—Where a merchant takes an assignment from a manufacturer of his goods, which are in the hands of his commission broker upon which the broker has made advances, the merchant takes the goods subject to the lien of the broker for such advances and commissions, but does not assume the debt to the broker.

An order from such assignee to the broker not to sell the goods at a less price than that stated in a memorandum furnished by him, is no assumption of the assignor's debt, nor does it abridge the broker's right.

He could have determined the matter at any time by notifying the assignee of the goods to pay the advances and take the goods, or, on his refusal so to do, that they would sell them in discharge of the lien. Watson v. Beatty, March 27, 1888.

INSURANCE.—In an action upon a policy of fire insurance, if there is evidence that the Secretary of the insurance company received informal proofs of loss from the insured and afterwards by personal examination obtained the information which perfectly formal proofs of loss would have given and by his conduct led the insured to believe that fuller proofs would not be required, in consequence of which they failed to furnish such proofs, it is not error to leave the jury to determine the question as to whether or not the company had waived a strict compliance with the conditions of the policy as to proofs of loss. Susquehanna Mutual Fire Ins. Co., of Harrisburg v. Hallock, April 13, 1888.

PARTNERSHIPS.—When a limited partnership is formed consisting of two general partners and one special partner, and the special partner dies, the surviving general partners may execute a valid assignment of all the firm's assets for the benefit of creditors. The administrators of the special partner have nothing to do with the assignment, and their joinder in it or assent to it is not required or requisite to its validity. Banks v. Ribber, Jan. 27, 1888.

HUSBAND AND WIFE.—An agreement under seal entered into between husband and wife for their mutual separation, and for the division of land between them, is not contrary to the policy of the law, and where such agreement is consummated it will be sustained. The husband or his administrator has no legal claim to property which has passed into the actual possession of the wife living apart from her husband in pursuance of such agreement. Agnews Appeal, Jan. 9, 1888.

VALUABLE FACTS AND STATISTICS FOR ARCHITECTS AND BUILDERS.

The appended summary of building operations for the ten months ending October 31st, 1888, exhibit in compact form the extent of building operations this year in comparison with the building statistics for the corresponding months of 1887.

The statement shows that 5,589 two-story dwellings were erected, or begun, against 4,569 for same time last year, indicating an increase of 1,020. The banner Ward in two-story house construction is the Twenty-eighth, which shows a record of 1,655 as against 873 for same time last year. The banner Ward last year for two-story houses was the Twenty-fifth. Its figures were 1,076 against 887 this year. The Twenty-sixth Ward follows this year with 706 two-story dwellings as against 612 last year. The Twenty-fourth follows with 390 this year as against 252 last year. Twenty-seventh Ward, 251 against 166. Twenty-ninth, 271 against 434 last year. Twenty-first Ward, 144 against 80. Fifteenth Ward, 169 against 46 last year, and the First Ward 270 against 204 last year.

Permits were taken out during the months of April, May and June for 3,234 two and three-story dwellings. During the next three months the number of permits issued fell to 2,536 two and three-story dwellings, and in October permits were taken out for only 619 two and three-story dwellings. April was the busiest month of the year, as indicated by the permits when 1,191 two and three-story dwellings were begun. During May permits for 1,074 two and three-story dwellings were issued.

No two-story houses were erected in the 5th, 6th, 9th, 10th, 11th or 13th Wards. The 30th Ward increased its two-story dwelling list from 12 last year to 80 this year.

Up to October 31st, permits were taken out for the construction of 1365 three-story houses against 1629 three-story houses for same time last year, showing a deficit of 264. The 28th Ward led with 426 against 440 last year. The 24th Ward comes next with 172 against 132 last year. During April, May and June, 692 three-story houses were started, and during the third quarter of the year, the number was 358. The greatest number taken out in any one month was April, when the figures were 248. The smallest number was 7, in January.

The increase of 1020 two-story dwellings against last years' operations, and the decrease of 264 in three-story dwellings as against last year, bears out the statements of builders and investors made all along, that the demand for smaller houses was steadily increasing.

The 28th Ward shows a record of 2081 two and three-story dwellings this year against 1313 up to the same date last year, increasing the number 768 in that Ward alone. The 24th Ward's record of two and three-story dwellings is 562 against 384 for the same period last year.

The estimated value of three-story buildings this year is $5,142,500, and of two-story houses $11,178,000. Last years' valuation of two-story houses was placed at $2,500 each, but this was considered by some authorities an over-estimate, and this years' estimate is based on $2,000 for each two-story dwelling. The total cost of 6954 two and three-story houses this year is estimated at $16,320,000. The cost of 6198 two and three-story houses last year was $17,938,500. This discrepancy in cost is partly accounted for by the fact that there were more two-story houses built this year than last, and fewer three-story houses. The difference in the outlay is $1,618,000 less this year than last. The investments in offices and banks run upwards of $1,000,000 behind last year, but the actual outlay this year is greater, as much of the work projected last year was done this year.

From January 1st to October 31st, 43 weeks, 10,383 conveyances were recorded, representing a value of $51,980,388.73, against which mortgages were recorded amounting to $9,993,097.33. The further incumbrance of ground rents amounted to $382,356. So far as the records show, 81 per cent. of the value of the real estate transferred was paid for in cash, and 19 per cent. remained under mortgage. The average weekly transfers amounted to $1,268,000 bearing a weekly average mortgage amounting to $243,734.

The value of the accompanying ground rents was $382,356. These figures show that about $7,647,120 worth of real estate was subjected to ground rents, basing the estimate on 5 per cent. interest.

Of the total property conveyed, the per cent. subject to ground rents is 14.6 per cent. The annual interest on mortgage indebtedness and ground rents at 5 per cent. on the total amount of property conveyed amounts to $882,310.85.

The sales of real estate at auction for year to October 13th amounted to $3,350,305.51, on which the incumbrances amounted to $800,010.52. The total transactions including sales at auction amounted to $55,330,694.24. Total interest charges, including ground rents amount to $907,310.85 per annum.

Summary of the first ten months of 1888:

|                                 |                 |

| Auction sales.....              | 3,350,305.51    |

$55,330,694.24

On which there was a mortgage indebtedness of $9,993,097.33. The interest on the mortgage indebtedness amounts to $499,654.85. The ground rents amounted to $382,356. The incumbrance on the property sold at auction amounted to $500,010.52.

From a perusal of opinion of Architects and others, elsewhere published in this issue, it is apparent that confidence is general in a continuation of active building operations during the coming winter and next season. Considerable inside work is already mapped out for the winter months and a large quantity of house, shop, factory and mill business is in serious contemplation. The general trade, in industrial and financial conditions of the country are conducive to the projection of new work, and new investments and unless unusual causes should supervene there will be fully as much local construction work undertaken next spring as was entered upon last spring. Good crops, lower rates of interest, abundant loanable funds, a well employed condition of labor, an increasing consumptive capacity throughout the country, all point to healthful conditions and pleasing prospects for the capital, labor and enterprise of the country.

The following classification shows the total number of new buildings erected during the first ten months of 1888 with the estimated cost of the same excluding the value of the land.

We present the views of a number of prominent architects, builders and real estate men as to the outlook for 1889. Many of others whom we interviewed declined to express an opinion until after election, consequently our reports of opinions necessarily omits many familiar names prominent in the real estate and building interests of this city.

The following Statement by Months, ending with the last Saturday of each Month, shows the number of Two and Three-Story Dwelling Houses erected from January 1st to October 31st, inclusive for 1888, in each of the Thirty-one Wards.

Decrease in the number of Three-Story Dwelling Houses compared with 1887..... 264

NOTE.—For convenience sake, all of the months in the above table except October, represent the weeks of each month ending on the last Saturday, the remaining days of the month being carried over to the following month. October is represented in its entirety.

George W. Hancock, President of the Real Estate Exchange, has carefully gone over the building statistics furnished by the REAL ESTATE RECORD, and from his knowledge thus obtained, and from personal observation makes the statement that the building of houses in this city is not being overdone, and that generally speaking, the houses erected have been disposed of at an advantage to the builder, and that there is at the present time thirty per cent. less houses undisposed of or not bringing an income, than there was, this time last year.

Joseph Savidge, Conveyancer: "There is no indication of a depreciation in real estate. Neither is there any increase, and the market is in a very healthy condition. All of the new houses in the Northwestern part of the city are being sold, and the demand for houses is excellent.

Benjamin Linfoot, Architect, has plenty of work on hand, and enough to keep him busy next year, but his opinion of the general state of building for next season is that it will be dull. Mill men have told him that this present season was very dull with them, the woodworkers around Williamsport are gradually absorbing the trade.

Zook & Chase, Real Estate, think that business will be better next year than it has been during the past season. They say they have several large operations on hand which will be consummated later on, and that the outlook is better at present than it was this time last year. This is an opinion founded on their own business, as it is too early to say what the tendencies for the coming year may be.

T. Frank Miller, Architect, bases his opinion as the prospects for the coming year from what capitalists and investors have told him. He thinks that business, as far as he is concerned, will be brisk. He has considerable work on hand.

T. Roney Williamson, Architect, says that this is not their busy season. He has much work in view, most of it being decided upon in a general way, but not in detail, and expects that next season will be a good one.

Albert W. Dilkes, Architect, has much new work on hand, and thinks that next year will be better than this, which has been a good season, but not up to the year before.

Atkinson & Myhlertz, Stone Merchants, have plenty of work on hand, but have not made any contracts for next year, and cannot therefore tell anything about next year's business, although they are looking forward to a prosperous year. Mr. Myhlertz says the tendency in building is towards large, fine structures, and the disposition is growing for the various branches of trade to localize.

David S. Gendell, Architect, gives his opinion that he will have his usual run of work for next year, and the majority of it will be large. As to the general business of the city he cannot say, as he has not watched the markets this summer on account of illness.

James H. Windrem, Architect, thinks that there will be a falling off in the business for next year. He cited an incident to prove this. A meeting was held by the directors of a company who were contemplating building. After talking it over they decided not to do so as there were already too many office buildings which were not paying their owners more than one or two per cent. He has several large operations on hand.

S. Kingston McKay, Conveyancer. The prospects for next year are bright. Properties are changing hands with a view to building. There is no danger of the real estate interest collapsing, as the market is in a very healthy condition.

Edwin F. Bertollette, Architect, says that his prospects for the coming year are brighter than they have ever been. He has a great deal of work on hand, scattered all over the state.

Addison Hutton, Architect, has no reason to suppose that there will be any decrease in the amount of building next year. His prospects are as good as ever they have been, and from what he has observed, all of the architects are in a like situation.

John M. Sharp, Builder, gives his opinion of the real estate market that it is in a very healthy condition, as is trade in general. There is no over-production in houses and all that he has built are sold, and not one has been returned to him. He intends to build a large number next year. His association with monied men leads him to the above conclusion, and as long as general trade is good and money easy, he can see no cause for alarm, and should there be a drop in real estate, it would not last longer than a few months, as the market would adjust itself. The question was put, "Why is the cry of a bad season raised by some?" The answer was, "That to complain was chronic with many men, if it was not one thing it was another. The natural increase of population takes about seven thousand houses a year. Of course if building goes on at the present rate there will some time be an over-production, but when this comes it also will adjust itself, as builders will stop erecting houses."

D. E. Dallam, Conveyancer. "There will be more building done next year than this, I believe. I base my opinion upon what my clients say, and also upon the manner in which those interested in building operations talk."

J. E. & A. L. Pennock, Builders. "From the way people talk, and from the general condition of the money market, we are looking for a good year. For a year or so matters all over the country have been simmering; there has been no sudden drop, it has been gradual. Nothing is inflated."

Paul Brandner, Architect, states that the outlook for next year's work is better than it was this spring. Several of his clients intend to erect store buildings on Chestnut street.

Thomas B. Prosser, of the Real Estate Trust Company. "At present the real estate market is quiet but steady, and I see no reason for any decline. Next year's business will be about the same as this."

Joseph D. Austin, Architect for the Philadelphia Board of Education, thinks that a number of new school houses will be built next year, possibly more than this. It, of course, depends upon the action of councils.

Joseph R. McElroy, says he rents a great many two-story houses, and his experience is that there is never enough to meet the demand, and has not been for several years. He has applications daily for houses which he cannot supply. In the city proper many more two and three-story houses are needed, notwithstanding the thousands that have been erected this year. Mr. McElroy thinks, however, that builders of large houses must move very carefully, or they will pay the penalty of their temerity. There is a great demand for homes in desirable neighborhoods, in the old city, that is, houses renting from $50 to $70 per month, and he says it is a wonder that capitalists do not turn their attention to old rookeries, which if replaced with desirable houses, would prove profitable investments.

Wm. S. Kimball, Real Estate, had more notices for determination of leases in June than ever before, but during September and October business became quite active and so continues. There is a feeling in the 24th and 25th Wards that the supply is exceeding the demand, that is for houses costing over $5,000. The preference for location decidedly points to the suburbs easy of access by the steam railroads.

John S. Stevens, President of the Master Builders' Exchange, is unable to express his opinion of next year's business until after the Presidential election. He also says that a feeling of uncertainty exists among the members of the Exchange, and that the most of them have not decided upon any definite plans for 1889.

S. P. Campbell, Treasurer of the Equitable Brick Works, says that they have made about ten million bricks this year, and are about to close up for the season. They are looking for a fair trade in the spring, and have now one or two large contracts on hand.

W. K. Hawkins, Architect, of 18 S. Broad street, does not think the outlook good for extensive building in Philadelphia next year, but in suburban work the prospect is much more favorable. He has laid out quite a number of new towns in which building operations will be commenced in the spring. The past year has been a phenomenal one in building for an off year, as Presidential years usually are, he therefore thinks that the bulk of building operations will be suburban. He has in view for spring two large operations, one of which will cover $300,000, the other about $100,000, the latter is confined to this state. He thinks that the Trust Companies have been taxed to their utmost, and he reasons as a consequence that unless their present investments are paying handsomely, there will be much less money to loan next year.

F. R. Watson, Architect, 518 Walnut street, states that from present indications business will be right good during the coming year, and he does not think that building operations have been overdone.

Newton H. Culver, Architect, Ninth and Walnut streets, reports having more work on hand and in prospect than he had a year ago, and a far better class of work. One encouraging sign is that there is less cheap work going up, and people are buying better houses, having found out that the cheap contract work does not pay.

Thomas Bennett, Builder, rear of 914 Walnut street, reports that he has not done quite as much building this year as he did last, but he considers the prospects for next year good, and he anticipates a very active year in building operations. His jobbing trade this year has been very brisk, far ahead of last year.

Rush & Fox, Real Estate Agents, 1004 Walnut street-state that the year's business with them has been far more satisfactory than the previous year. There has been a vast amount of alterations going on this year, such as new fronts, etc., and more will go on next year. They do not think there will be any diminution in building operations during the coming year. They do not think there has been too many houses built, as all the new houses are taken, and as far as they can see, rents hold up well, and in many cases have been increased.

Smith & Pritchett, Architects, 1430 S. Penn Square, think the outlook for the coming year fully as good as the outlook was for the present year, and in fact with them individually, rather better.

Clayton Stokes, Conveyancer, 1429 Market street, reports a right cool year's business. Rents have held up well, and properties west of the public buildings are renting and selling better than ever before, and he sees no reason why next year should not be fully as prosperous as the present one.

Briean & Godwin, Architects, 1413 Filbert street, have gone far ahead of their expectations this year, and have a large amount of work ahead for next year. In their line of business, which is principally in manufacturing interests, they look for a great advance if election goes right, then many new factories will be erected next year. They have the plans of eight residences of which are higher order on their boards which are to be commenced as soon as the spring opens. These are to cost from $15,000 upwards. The bulk of the building will, they think, be suburban.

Brown & Day, Architects, 1305 Arch street, report having plenty of work ahead to keep them going all winter, but cannot speak with any certainty as regards the coming year, as it is too early in the season.

J. C. Worthington, 1305 Arch street, considers that the coming year will be fully equal if not better than the present year, and this is also the opinion of many builders with whom he has conversed. He thinks that a great many operations for the coming year will be suburban.

Edward J. Paxson, Real Estate Agent, 1305 Arch street, is of the opinion that the new operations are depressing the value of the old buildings. Good securities are scarce, and that is the reason so much money has been invested in building operations. He considers that the suburban business has been a little overdone, but the builders do not seem to have any difficulty in selling their operations, as so little cash is required.

J. Myers, Builder, does not think that building will be so active for the coming year as it has been this year, and his prospects are not as bright as they were a year ago. He considers the prospects for suburban building anything but good, and claims that there has been less building going on on the main line of the P. R. this year than there has been for the past five years. He thinks there is plenty of room for large buildings for office purposes. The only large building to be started is the Union Commercial, on Walnut street.

Council Proceedings.

At a meeting of Council held on Thursday last an ordinance was passed authorizing the purchase of certain lots of ground situated on the southwest side of Sprague street, Twenty-second ward, and appropriating $2,602 to the Board of Education to pay for the same, also an ordinance authorizing the Director of Public Works to contract for the completion and extension of the iron bridge over the Central Division of the Philadelphia, Wilmington & Baltimore Railroad at Chester avenue, the cost not to exceed $1,800.

THE FOLLOWING TABLE shows the building operations in the respective Wards for the five weeks ending in October of this year, for which permits have been granted. WEEKS ENDING 6th, 13th, 20th, and 27th.

Women and Real Estate.

Girls and women are very valuable office helps to the real estate business. It is a wonder to me that more of them are not employed by the agents," remarked a veteran who had grown gray in the management of other people's property. "It is only lately," he continued, "that I could persuade myself to give a lady a place in my office, and I am free to confess that it was not my originality that led me to it, but the test is none the less satisfactory.

"A few years ago there was not a lady employed in any of the St. Louis offices. Now there are several of them, and the fitness displayed by those who have been given a trial, in taking hold of the business, will, I think, lead to the employment of a great many others before long. I was not the first agent by long odds, to give the ladies a chance, I am sorry to say, and I presume if it had not been for the efficient and brilliant services rendered by a young woman in the office of one of my brother agents, I would have been plodding along as usual without ever having given one of her sex an opportunity to earn a living in the real estate business. Since the experiment I made has turned out so well, quite a number of ladies have been employed in the business."

"Have any of them been discharged?"

"No. As to that I can't say; but I know of but one who has been given a trial who does not retain her position to-day, and it is my opinion that she found a place where her services as a stenographer or typewriter commanded more money."

"Are all the women engaged in the business shorthand type-writers?"

"No. I think not. There is one I have in mind who is neither, but she is, nevertheless, a valuable assistant."

"What does she do?"

"She takes her employer's dictation in answer to correspondents in long-hand notes, then writes them out in a splendid, plain, print like fashion, draws leases and deeds to property and quickclaims with remarkable accuracy. Another lady that I know of is thoroughly experienced at the stenograph and equally good in manipulating the keys of a type-writer. I don't believe she has her equal in the real estate business. She is identified with one of the leading offices, attends to all its correspondence, is familiar with every piece of property the office has charge of, and when a sale is made it is the custom of her employer to introduce the purchaser to the young woman who then prepares the final papers, notes, deeds, etc., to the transaction. Her attention to the essential details is remarkable."

"Do the other women in the business make their services so valuable?"

"I hardly think so. I mention her particular case as an example of what women are capable of doing in the real estate business. Others that I know of who are engaged at it have not had so much experience as the model I refer to, but I have no doubt that they, with proper training, will become quite as excellent in the discharge of their duties as she is."

"What salaries do these ladies get?"

"Well, as to that I can't exactly say, but I know of one of them whose pay is not far from $75 a month."

"Is she married?"

"No; I don't know of a married lady in the business, and what is more those who are engaged at it are young and handsome—but I tell you it would take a smart fellow to catch either of them for a wife."—Northwestern Real Estate and Financial Register.
